NEW SNOW FOR THE NEW YEAR

Holiday skiers at South Lake Tahoe happily greeted a Wednesday night storm that deposited from five to seven inches of fresh powder snow on the slopes, bringing very good to excellent ski conditions. Cold temperatures are forecast for the rest of the week to keep the new snowpack at its best. Though it's fun on the slopes, getting there is not quite so jolly. See another picture, page 15)

Democrats Eye Conference On Bomb Protest Strategy

Two Republicans Among Critics Of Renewed Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-two House Democrats urged today that a special party strategy conference be called to organize opposition in the new Congress to President Nixon's bombing raids against North Vietnam.

In addition, two Republican senators declared their opposition to the heavy bombings and one of them, Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said the President "appears to have left his senses."

The House members wrote Speaker Carl Albert and Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss to endorse a campaign opposing the bombing.

They asked Strauss to call a special meeting of the Democratic National Committee to discuss the Vietnam developments. And they suggested to Albert that the Democratic caucus at the outset of the new Congress adopt a resolution calling for "an immediate halt to the bombing of Vietnam and the prompt signing of a peace agreement."

Their letter said: "We believe this is a crucial moment for the leadership of the Democratic Party and for the Congress. As the majority party in Congress, we must respond swiftly and decisively to the rising demand that our government halt the bombing and get back to the peace table."

Saxbe said in Springfield, Ohio, that the renewed bombing is subjecting the United States to "world ridicule."

"I think it's time this country said 'enough' to the President and this one-man vendetta," he declared. "Only two or three weeks ago we were talking about spending millions and billions in rehabilitating the North and now we're bombing it back to the Stone Age.

"I have followed President Nixon through all his convolutions and specious arguments, but he appears to have left his senses on this. I can't go along with him on this."

Saxbe said the renewed bombing would lead to, "the complete destruction of North Vietnam, the loss of hundreds of American lives, the loss of numerous planes and probably some type of truce but no final solution."

Nixon, Saxbe said, is "holding the United States up to world ridicule."

Saxbe, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he had not been contacted by the administration on the renewed bombing and "I understand that none of the other committee members have been contacted either."

Saxbe said he would support end-the-war legislation that may be introduced when Congress reconvenes next week.

Resumption of the bombing "appears like pettishness", Saxbe said, because of a failure to negotiate a satisfactory peace agreement with North Vietnam.

"The only thing I can consider is that he (Nixon) is determined to make them say uncle," said Saxbe. "I thought we passed this milestone of complete destruction in 1965 or 1966 and herewe are committing everything we have again.

"I can't put a reasonable explanation on it and he (Nixon) is making no attempt to.

"If I read it right the people want to know what's going on over there. What are our objectives, how we will achieve them, and what this has got to do with our getting out."

Saxbe, a former Ohio attorney general who maintains a farm at the nearby hamlet of Mechanichsburg, went to Washington four years ago opposed to the war. However, after his first two years in office he became a staunch supporter of Nixon's handling of it.

Sen. Clifford P. Case Jr., R-N.J., said the B52 raids were "wihout justification" and said Congress should act to cut off funds to continue the war at a specified date.

"In the past, we have come close to passing such legislation," Case said. "This time, surely, the American public will demand that this be done."

A New York House member said he would introduce new end-the-war legislation when the new Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Nixon Orders Holiday Bomb Halt

SAIGON (UPI) — Informed U.S. sources said today President Nixon has ordered a brief New Year's Day pause in the bombing of North Vietnam and will extend it if the North Vietnamese return to the negotiating table. Hanoi failed to respond to a similar pause at Christmas.

The massive bombing of North Vietnam entered its 11th day today, with more air losses. The North Vietnam Foreign Ministry said in a statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio that Thursday's raids carried out "extermination attacks on many populous areas in Hanoi" and that "hundreds" of persons were killed.

The U.S. Command today reported the loss of four more planes, including a 15th B52 strategic bomber, bringing to 26 the number of planes reported lost with 85 fliers killed, captured or missing over North Vietnam. In addition, 16 Americans were missing in the loss of an AC130 Spectre gunship shot down over Laos in a support mission.

Hanoi Radio claimed 76 American planes have been shot down since the heavy attacks began Dec.1, 33 of them B52s. Hanoi Radio and Communist dispatches from Hanoi said some of the B52s crashed inside Hanoi and that some pilots were killed, others captured. Hanoi listed the names of 10 more captive fliers today.

President Nixon ordered the heaviest raids of the war against Hanoi and Haiphong on Dec. 18 after talks between his envoy, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, and the Communist negotiator, Le Duc Tho, broke down.

The North Vietnamese have said a number of times that bombing will not force them back to the conference table, and there were defiant words today from Peking where the North Vietnamese pledged not to negotiate under threat and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told an antiwar rally of 10,000 persons that China gave Hanoi its firm support.

The Communists said they will observe a 24-hour New Year's truce starting at 1 p.m. (midnight EST) New Year's Eve. the South Vietnamese are expected to announce a similar plan. Both sides called truces at Christmas.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners shot down two B52s over Hanoi Thursday night. It said "the wreckage of one of the B52s which crashed near the Hanoi Zoo was shown to foreign pressmen in the morning."

Tass said that a textile mill, a confectionery factory, three schools and over 50 houses in the workers districts of Myhuong and Quinhloi were destroyed.

The East German news service, ADN , said the American air raid Tuesday night destroyed Kham Thien Street that was the heart of Hanoi. It said B52s virtually left no stone standing in a stretch of the city 1.2 miles long and a quarter of a mile wide.

American sources in Saigon said political developments between now and New Year's Eve could change the length of the New Year's bombing pause. But they said barring such developments as a sign from Hanoi that North Vietnam wants to resume the peace talks in Paris, only a one-day halt will be carried out.

The Saigon command has yet to announce a New Year's cease-fire, but is expected to repeat the 24-hour truce it declared at Christmas. Although it did not formally announce it, the U.S. command also ordered a 24-hour halt in offensive operations in South Vietnam at Christmas in line with the Saigon declaration. It is expected to follow suit again for the new year.

A U.S. command spokesman said a B52 and an F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber were shot down over Hanoi Wednesday night. Another Phantom was lost Wednesday to "unknown causes in an unknown location in North Vietnam," spokesmen said.

A U.S. Navy RA5C reconnaissance jet was also reported down in the North Thursday, spokesmen said.

The B52 had at least six crewmen aboard, while each of the smaller jets carried two-man crews, spokesmen said. All 12 or more Americans aboard the four planes were killed or captured, they said.

U.S. spokesman said that in addition to the loss of four planes over North Vietnam, a U.S. Army OH6 Loach observation helicopter was shot down in the Mekong Delta Thursday about 125 miles from Saigon. One American died and another was wounded in the incident.

Marin Home Ravaged By Vandals

A Kent Woodlands woman who returned home last night from a vacation discovered that paint and salad oil had been smeared over her house and many valuable, irreplaceable objects had been stolen or destroyed.

Sheriff's deputies today had no estimate of the damage and loss suffered by Marianne Hetherington of 224 Evergreen Avenue.

They said the destruction was primarily to objects which she prized and that articles belonging to her children had not been disturbed.

Mrs. Hetherington's jewelry had been taken and valuable pieces of china removed from a cabinet and smashed. A painting and antique clock were wrecked, apparently with an axe.

Tan paint had been smeared on the living room walls, furniture and carpet and salad oil slopped onto other carpets. A peace symbol was painted on the hall floor.

Mrs. Hetherington discovered the vandalism and burglary when she returned home about 11 p.m., officers said.

GETTY, ONASSIS PARTY

Hughes Could Take A Few Lessons

LONDON (AP) — While Howard Hughes stayed locked in his London hotel fortress today, two fellow members of the Billionaire Brigade were pouring champagne to greet the New Year.

"I believe in living as full a life as anybody else," said J. Paul Getty, reputedly richer than Hughes the recluse.

With Getty at Sutton Place south of London was another tycoon who leads the good life, shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy.

Onassis arrived unannounced yesterday from Paris and went straight to Getty's mansion in Surrey. His visit, following quickly on Hughes' sudden arrival from Nicaragua, brought speculation that big deals might be in the making.

But aides insisted it was strictly a social call. Getty and Onassis are personal friends from way back.

Getty broke away from his house party to talk about his philosophy of living with riches at the age of 80.

"I'd have liked you to come down and see me here but the house is full of guests and I haven't a minute to spare," he said. "So let's talk on the telephone."

Getty said his one big dislike is being photographed. Most of his pictures come out long-faced, giving rise to the widespread belief in London that despite his wealth he isn't really happy.

"I'm always told to pose," he said. "The result is that I come out looking sad on pictures.

"I'm not sad."

Another thing he doesn't like is being thought of as a big walking bundle of greenbacks.

"I've other interests," he said.

"Collecting works of art is one of my main hobbies. And I love going to the theater. As for television, I watch it like anyone else if the program is good."

Asked whether he was afraid in this violent age of anything happening to him, Getty replied:

"I take my chance like anyone else. I don't like to lock myself up and I like meeting people."

Getty conceded he was missing the open beaches and the sea of his native California.

"I love walking in the sand and swimming. I have a swimming pool right here," he said.

His parting words were: "I wish you a happy New Year."

Over at the Inn on the Park, Hughes stayed inside his ninth-floor hideout locked off behind bodyguards, three sets of locked doors and closed-circuit security television.

U.S. Among Pact Signers To Safeguard The World's Oceans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and Mexico were among about 20 countries that signed an international convention today for prevention of pollution of the world's oceans.

"The convention marks a unique step by nations to protect our global ocean resources from further pollution due to dumping," acting Secretary of State U. Alexis Johnson said on signing for the United States.

The convention was drafted at an international conference of 92 countries in London in November.

About 20 countries were expected to sign the convention Friday in ceremonies in four capitals —Washington, London, Moscow, and Mexico City. The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and Mexico signed at each other's capitals. Other parties to the convention are expected to sign early in 1973.

Officially known as the Convention on the Prevention of Marine Pollution by Dumping of Wastes and Other Matter, the treaty specifically prohibits the dumping of mercury and cadmium and their compounds, organohalagen compounds such as DDT, persistent plastics, oil, high level radioactive wastes and chemical and biological warfare agents.

Although it does not blacklist them, the treaty also requires that countries take special care in the dumping of heavy metals, copper, lead, zinc, cyanides and fluorides that could present serious obstacles to fishing or navigation.

Countries must also ensure that their flagships and aircraft observe the terms of the treaty.

President Nixon on Oct. 23 signed domestic legislation for control of ocean dumping. A State Department announcement said that this will require only minor modification to be fully consistent with the treaty which the administration is expected to ask the Senate to ratify early in the new year.

Avalanche Buries Skiers In France

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) — An avalanche buried a group of skiers today near the Deux-Alpes skiing resort.

First police reports said three persons were killed, two were missing and five were injured.

The avalanche swept down a steep slope at an altitude of 10,700 feet in the Oisans Massif, now covered by a thick layer of freshly fallen snow, police said.

Marin, Southern Sonoma Gear For A Three-Day New Year's

Most Marin and Southern Sonoma residents will close out the old year and ring in the new on an extended, three-day holiday this weekend.

Except for scattered businesses and essential services, community activity will come to a virtual halt Monday, New Year's Day, as residents welcome 1973 by watching football bowl games on television or recuperating from the night before.

City halls and county offices in both Marin and Sonoma will be shut, while sessions of governmental bodies set for Monday night have been canceled or postponed.

In Novato, many city employees are enjoying a four-day weekend since city hall was closed today.

The Independent-Journal will not publish Monday.

Although major stores will close, some neighborhood facilities are to remain open.

No library service will be available on the holiday.

Parking meters will not be in operation, including Sausalito meters.

Monday night meetings postponed are the Sausalito School District board, Corte Madera Town Council, Mill Valley City Council, San Rafael City Council and Petaluma and Rohnert Park city councils, all to Tuesday; San Anselmo Planning Commission and Tamalpais High School District board, both to Jan. 8, and the Belvedere City Council and Tiburon Planning Commission, to Thursday.

In addition, the Monday meeting of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors has been canceled and the Tuesday session of the Petaluma Planning Commission postponed to Wednesday.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Amnesty Set

MOSCOW (UPI) — The government announced last night it will free thousands of petty criminals, but no political prisoners, in a general amnesty marking the 50th anniversary of the Soviet Union.

The amnesty is the first since 1967.

Action Applauded

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Sixteen men who survived for 70 days on an icy Andes peak said yesterday they did so because they ate the flesh of dead colleagues. Their admission drew applause from 600 persons attending a news conference.

"When we ran out of food," said Alfredo Delgado, "we thought of Jesus and how at the Last Supper he divided his body and blood to all the Apostles.

"Then we understood we had to do the same..."

Delgado said the 16 men who survived the crash of a Uruguayan air force plane in mid-October as it flew over an Andes peak in neighboring Chile considered the eating of the human flesh as an act of "intimate communion."

"It was what helped us to subsist," Delgado said.

Aide Is Killed

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Alejandro Lanusse, in a speech following the assassination of his chief of naval intelligence, said yesterday "nothing or no one" will thwart his plans to return control of Argentina to civilians.

He pledged an all-out battle against any violence intended to disrupt national elections next March and thus postpone the return to civilian rule after six years of military rule.

"Nothing or no one will impede the institutional normalization," Lanusse said in a nationwide broadcast made after the assassination of Adm. Emilio L. Berisso, the chief of naval intelligence.

Berisso was shot yesterday as he placed packages in his car outside a suburban market and died at a nearby hospital.

At Camp David

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon was expected to spend the holiday weekend in seclusion at his mountaintop reteat working on his inaugural address.

He and Mrs. Nixon flew by helicopter to Camp David yesterday after Nixon dispatched Maurice J. Williams, a veteran of disaster relief efforts, to earthquake-shattered Nicaragua. Williams, deputy head of the Agency for International Development, will coordinate U.S. aid to the Central American nation.

Interview Denied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gordon Rule, a civilian cost-cutter for the Navy who was demoted last week after he criticized a presidential appointment, has been denied an interview with Navy Secretary John Warner to talk about it.

A spokesman for Warner said yesterday that Rule had telephoned to ask for a meeting with the secretary to discuss the matter but had been told to go through "channels," starting with Adm. Isaac C. Kidd Jr., chief of naval materiel, the man who ordered Rule's demotion.

"At the moment, the secretary has no plans to see or talk with Mr. Rule," the spokesman said. "He's not closing the door to him. But he's not going to go around Adm. Kidd by talking to this guy directly."

13-Year Sentence

BELGRADE (UPI) — The Titograd district court has sentenced a Yugoslav-American to 13 years in prison for war crimes committed in the southern Yugoslav republic of Montenegro 30 years ago, U.S. Embassy officials said today.

As a gendarmerie commander under German occupiers during the war, Petrich was convicted of making mass arrests of civilians and Communist partisan guerrillas in Montenegro. The court also held him responsible for mistreatment of prisoners of war.

To Delay Visit

LONDON (UPI) —Soviet Communist Party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev has put off a scheduled visit to the United States for talks with President Nixon until next autumn "because the political climate is not right" for an earlier trip, a Communist report from Moscow said today.

The report said that without a Vietnam agreement, a visit by the Soviet leader is "out of the question."

The report came from Victor Louis, a Soviet journalist who often reflects official Moscow developments.

Bombing Deaths

DUBLIN (UPI) —Irish troop reinforcements moved into towns bordering Northern Ireland today to set up checkpoints following bomb blasts Thursday that killed two teen-agers and injured more than a dozen persons.

Premier Jack Lynch's cabinet today studied security reports of the bombings that hit three small border towns. The bombs went off in parked autos.

Police said no warning was given before the explosions in Belturbet, Clones and Pittigoe, just inside the republic's border.

TRUMAN'S SIMPLE RITES

Bess Remains The 'Boss'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Veteran UPI reporter Margaret P. Richards of Kansas City, Mo., was a friend of former President Harry S. Truman and Thursday was a guest at his private funeral.)

By MARGARET P. RICHARDS

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) —Harry S Truman was buried yesterday in the courtyard outside the office window where he used to swing around and "look at the weather."

From his big mahogany desk, weighted with books and papers, he turned to the window one January day 10 years ago and remarked that there could be snow in the clouds. His visitors, including this reporter, faced a 15-mile drive back to Kansas City but the former president was in mellow mood and in no hurry for their departure.

When Truman finally rose from his chair and went out into the corridor leading from his office he spread his arms in a wide gesture and remarked that he intended to "live to be 90."

"There's about 10 more years work around here," he said.

After his tenacious, three-week long fight against the ravages time wreaks on aging hearts, Truman's died Tuesday —one year, four months and 18 days short of his 90th birthday.

There were two vastly different funeral services yesterday for two men, the first for Harry S Truman, Missourian, "retired farmer," as he once called himself. The second was for the former commander-in-chief of his nation's armed forces.

Throughout it all Bess Wallace Truman, 87, his sweetheart since he was 6 years old, sat straight, very evidently the "boss" as he called her, of her emotions, at least during public moments.

During the first service, she sat with daughter Margaret Truman Daniel, her son-in-law, Clifton Daniel, her four grandsons, and her beloved sister-in-law Mae Wallace, behind the green draw draperies through which military men carried the flag-draped casket.

Two-hundred-forty friends, relatives and a very few dignitaries filled the auditorium of the Truman Library for the first service. Among them were three Missourians, all Democrats of note, seated together on the front row. Together were Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, Sen. Tom Eagleton and Rep. William Randall of the Fifth Missouri District, which includes Independence.

Three rows back, in a less favored position, the most prominent of the political friends were gathered, including Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, who tried in vain 20 years later to repeat the presidential victory Truman scored in 1948. The congregation was mostly Truman's kind of folks—the aging men of his World War I outfit, one of them in a wheel chair, the carefully coiffured ladies of Mrs. Truman's Thursday bridge club, Truman nieces, nephews and cousins.

Taken as a group, the congregation was indistinguishable from those that gather at 11 o'clock every Sunday morning in churches throughout Missouri.

The second service was another matter—a service wholly appropriate to a former commander-in-chief of the armed services.

Cadres of servicemen, from each branch of the armed services, filled nearly a third of the courtyard surrounding the grave. The 5th Army band provided the only music of either ceremony, except for the tolling of the library's carillon.

The band played the National Anthem, "Ruffles and Flourishes" and "America the Beautiful." A 21-gun salute and later three volleys of musketry punctuated the silence of the courtyard and reverbrated between its walls.

Mrs. Truman, sitting with black-gloved hands folded in her lap, flinched visibly as the guns sounded, and Mrs. Daniel covered one ear with a hand, then sheltered her mother with an arm around her shoulder.

Both women wept silently. But Bess Wallace Truman never lost composure, even when a chill wind swept a corner of the presidential flag against her face as she walked from the courtyard with slow but unfaltering steps.

With her daughter and other members of the immediate family behind her, she paced the length of the courtyard and disappeared through a gate.

Above it, outlined against a darkening sky that hinted of snow, stood a prosaic thing—symbolic in its own way of the man from Missouri who was newly buried there. An auxiliary water tower showed the word "Independence" in big black letters just above the courtyard wall.

FAREWELL — Comforted by her daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Bess Truman wept during graveside ceremonies in the courtyard of the Truman Library at Independence, Mo., where former President Harry S Truman was buried yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Gap Increases In Beef Prices Between Farmer And Market

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Supermarket margins for beef, looming as one of the administration's key inflation-control problems in 1973, rose to a new record in November and were one-third above a year earlier, the Agriculture Department reported today.

The department's monthly report on farm-to-retail price spreads showed the overall gap between farm and retail prices of choice grade beef rose 4.6 per cent in November to a record 45.7 cents a pound, 26.1 per cent above a year earlier. It was the second consecutive monthly rise.

The previous record was 44.8 cents a pound last August.

The spread between wholesale and retail beef prices, primarily made up of supermarket costs and profits, rose 4.9 per cent in November to a record 38.2 cents a pound, up 33.1 per cent from a year ago.

Despite these margin gains, Agriculture Department estimates showed average retail beef prices dropped in November for the fourth straight month and reached $1.12 a pound, the lowest level since last May.

Retail pork prices, backing down from a record set in October, fell 0.3 per cent to 87.2 cents a pound but were still 22.1 per cent above a year ago.

Figures for all foods ran counter to the beef-pork trend.

Retail prices for all U.S. farm-produced foods included in a typical family market basket, as reported last week by the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS), rose 0.5 per cent from October and were 6 per cent above a year ago.

Middlemen's margins on the entire market basket were 4.1 per cent below a year ago, while farm returns were 9 per cent higher.

Slayer Of Coed Ruled To Be Mentally Ill

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —A transient who pleaded guilty to first-degree murder in the shooting death of a University of California at San Diego coed was found to be a mentally disordered sex offender Wednesday.

Superior Court Judge Louis Welsh ordered the man, Richard K. Shoopman, 29, a transient, to be placed in the state hospital at Atascadero for an indefinite time.

Shoopman was arrested Oct. 7 in Larkspur on suspicion of murdering Holly Halvorson, 19. The victim's body was found on the UCSD campus July 29. She had been shot through the head.

Resolution To End War Urged

NEW YORK (UPI) —Rep. Bella Abzug Thursday called for a national New Year's resolution to end the Vietnam War.

The congresswoman from New York City urged all Americans who oppose the war to come to a demonstration at Washington on Inauguration Day.

"Let it not be said of us as it was of the German people: 'They knew, but they were silent,'" she said.

Television Engineers Accept New Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cameramen, technicians and electricians who struck the Columbia Broadcasting System 56 days ago over a jurisdictional work dispute voted Thursday to accept a new three-year contract.

Members of the Radio and Television Engineers Union, a local of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, voted to accept the new pact by a slim 52 vote margin, 561-509. The contract provides for a 5.5 per cent pay raise each year for the technicians, in addition to two extra holidays. Technicians now earn a base pay of $305 weekly.

The technicians were expected to return to their jobs within 48 hours.

The strike had idled CBS workers in New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, Boston, Chicago and St. Louis.

The walkout, which began Nov. 3, involved disputed jurisdiction over new electrical equipment, and hampered coverage of football games, election returns and the flight of Apollo 17.

The union argued that the new devices would mean a loss of jobs, while the network said no one would suffer from the changes.

Frank Stanton, vice chairman of CBS, called the new contract a fair solution of the issues and said it "makes possible a return to the good relationship which CBS and the union have had for many years.

A spokesman for the union compared the strike to a "David conquering a Goliath" but he said the close vote showed the membership was not completely satisfied with the outcome.

Major Breakthrough In Treating Burn Victims

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Shrine leader Henry Struby says new methods of quick-freezing human cadaver skin have provided a major breakthrough in treating burn victims.

Struby, in San Francisco for the annual East-West Shrine football game Saturday, said a process developed earlier this year by the Shriners' Burns Institute in Boston has been so successful that skin banks have been established to store the tissue.

"We were using pig skin for a while," Struby said. "Now we can quick-freeze cadaver skin and keep it up to six months. Before, we could only preserve it for about two weeks."

Money raised at the annual East-West games goes toward financing the hospitals.

Struby, the Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, said the skin is frozen in plastic envelopes to a temperature of 256 degrees below Fahrenheit zero.

He said the tissue can be thawed and grafted to a burn victim up to six months after freezing.

Fired Employee Shoots Ex-Boss With Shotgun

NEW YORK (UPI) —Shouting, "This will be the last person you ever fire," a former cashier pulled a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat and fatally shot his boss in the chest at the plush St. Regis-Sheraton Hotel.

The shooting of Damaso Salomon, 30, the hotel's head cashier, occurred Thursday before the personnel manager and two union officials in the hotel's second-floor personnel office during a meeting called to discuss Manuel Irizarry's dismissal.

A few hours afterward, Irizarry, accompanied by a cousin, surrendered to police on a Bronx street. He gave the three arresting officers a sawed-off 20-gauge shotgun, one spent shell and 12 unfired shells.

A police spokesman said that, during the meeting, Irizarry excused himself to go to the bathroom. When he returned a few minutes later, police said, he produced a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat.

He lined the union officials and personnel manager up against a wall, told Salomon, "This will be the last person you ever fire," shot him in the chest and fled , police said.

Plans For Curbing Animal Population

NEW YORK (UPI) —As of New Year's Day, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will desex all animals adopted from its New York facilities.

Charles Haines, president of the chapter, said, "Primarily, we hope to keep the animal population in New York City within reasonable bounds. It would be far better if there were fewer unwanted animals in the city. Much of the blame for this is the result of street corner and backyard breeding fostered by irresponsible owners."

Chinese Rally

PEKING (DPA-UPI) —Premier Chou En-lai and Mao Tse-tung's wife, Chiang Ching, led a rally of more than 10,000 persons today in support of North Vietnam's battle "against U.S.aggression," China's Hsinhua news agency said.

What do doctors recommend for patients in pain?

Doctors all over the country dispense over 50,000,000 of these tablets to their patients each year.

There are many medications a physician or dentist can prescribe for pain. Some are narcotic, many are available only on prescription. But there is one pain reliever, available without prescription, doctors dispense again and again... Anacin.

Each year, doctors give up to 50,000,000 Anacin tablets to their patients in pain. If doctors think enough about Anacin to dispense all these tablets, what better recommendation can you ask when you are in pain?

You see, Anacin contains more of the pain reliever doctors recommend most than any other leading tablet.

Headache and dental pain is relieved incredibly fast; minor pains of arthritis are dependably eased for hours; even the aches and pains of colds and flu respond to Anacin. So the tension and depression that can be caused by such pain will be relieved too. And millions take Anacin without stomach upset.

When you're in pain, why don't you follow the practice of so many doctors and take the tablet a doctor might give you in his own office. Take Anacin®.

MOSCOW (UPI) — The government announced last night it will free thousands of petty criminals, but no political prisoners, in a general amnesty marking the 50th anniversary of the Soviet Union.

The amnesty is the first since 1967.

Action Applauded

MONTEVIDEO (UPI) — Sixteen men who survived for 70 days on an icy Andes peak said yesterday they did so because they ate the flesh of dead colleagues. Their admission drew applause from 600 persons attending a news conference.

"When we ran out of food," said Alfredo Delgado, "we thought of Jesus and how at the Last Supper he divided his body and blood to all the Apostles.

"Then we understood we had to do the same..."

Delgado said the 16 men who survived the crash of a Uruguayan air force plane in mid-October as it flew over an Andes peak in neighboring Chile considered the eating of the human flesh as an act of "intimate communion."

"It was what helped us to subsist," Delgado said.

Aide Is Killed

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — President Alejandro Lanusse, in a speech following the assassination of his chief of naval intelligence, said yesterday "nothing or no one" will thwart his plans to return control of Argentina to civilians.

He pledged an all-out battle against any violence intended to disrupt national elections next March and thus postpone the return to civilian rule after six years of military rule.

"Nothing or no one will impede the institutional normalization," Lanusse said in a nationwide broadcast made after the assassination of Adm. Emilio L. Berisso, the chief of naval intelligence.

Berisso was shot yesterday as he placed packages in his car outside a suburban market and died at a nearby hospital.

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon was expected to spend the holiday weekend in seclusion at his mountaintop reteat working on his inaugural address.

Struby, the Imperial Potentate of the Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, said the skin is frozen in plastic envelopes to a temperature of 256 degrees below Fahrenheit zero.

He said the tissue can be thawed and grafted to a burn victim up to six months after freezing.

Fired Employee Shoots Ex-Boss With Shotgun

NEW YORK (UPI) —Shouting, "This will be the last person you ever fire," a former cashier pulled a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat and fatally shot his boss in the chest at the plush St. Regis-Sheraton Hotel.

The shooting of Damaso Salomon, 30, the hotel's head cashier, occurred Thursday before the personnel manager and two union officials in the hotel's second-floor personnel office during a meeting called to discuss Manuel Irizarry's dismissal.

A few hours afterward, Irizarry, accompanied by a cousin, surrendered to police on a Bronx street. He gave the three arresting officers a sawed-off 20-gauge shotgun, one spent shell and 12 unfired shells.

A police spokesman said that, during the meeting, Irizarry excused himself to go to the bathroom. When he returned a few minutes later, police said, he produced a sawed-off shotgun from under his coat.

He lined the union officials and personnel manager up against a wall, told Salomon, "This will be the last person you ever fire," shot him in the chest and fled , police said.

Plans For Curbing Animal Population

NEW YORK (UPI) —As of New Year's Day, the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals will desex all animals adopted from its New York facilities.

Charles Haines, president of the chapter, said, "Primarily, we hope to keep the animal population in New York City within reasonable bounds. It would be far better if there were fewer unwanted animals in the city. Much of the blame for this is the result of street corner and backyard breeding fostered by irresponsible owners."

Chinese Rally

PEKING (DPA-UPI) —Premier Chou En-lai and Mao Tse-tung's wife, Chiang Ching, led a rally of more than 10,000 persons today in support of North Vietnam's battle "against U.S.aggression," China's Hsinhua news agency said.

Newsmen Have Stout Defender Of Right To Protect Sources

FRESNO (UPI) — A newsman has a responsibility not to jeopardize the rights of another human being on trial for a crime, but beyond that, he should have an iron-clad privilege not to reveal the sources of his stories.

If he does not, the average citizen's First Amendment right entitling him to enjoy the fruits of a free press is a "hollow one."

This is the opinion, not of a newsman, but of a man who spends most of his time defending persons charged with a crime —Melvin Nitz, the public defender of Fresno County.

Nitz, who also is an instructor of constitutional law at the San Joaquin College of Law here, assesses the current controversy over whether prosecutors or judges can compel newsmen to reveal their sources as boiling down to the issue of the rights of the public rather than the newsman.

"As a citizen the First Amendment entitles me to read any information I want because I am entitled to have any opinion I want. Thus I have the right to read something the government does not want me to read. But if the government cuts off my supply then my right doesn't mean anything. My right is a hollow one," he said.

It is Nitz' contention that the public must have the ancillary right, that of a newsman protecting his sources, in order to preserve the main right, that of the public's right to know, because if a newsman must reveal his sources at the behest of the government, they tend to dry up.

But what about the situation where a newsman has obtained information about evidence to be introduced at a trial? Should he print it now or wait until it is introduced in evidence or, if the information never gets into evidence, wait until after the trial?

These are the questions surrounding the case of Los Angeles reporter William Farr who wrote a story he said he obtained from attorneys in violation of a "gag" order by the court regarding evidence which was never introduced at the Sharon Tate murder trial.

Farr subsequently was jailed by Superior Court Judge Charles Older for an indefinite term —until he tells the court where he ot his information.

"The Farr case was kind of a bad one because it wasn't a question of his getting or eventually using the information, it was a question of timing," said Nitz.

"Commenting on actual evidence before it is introduced could, in effect, have some influence on the trial of the defendants. There the reporter jeopardizes the rights of another human being.

"The court's order (in the Farr case) was a proper one. There is no question about Farr using the information when and if it is placed in evidence; if it never is, then he could publish it after the trial."

But still Nitz believes the punishment in the Farr case was too severe.

"There is no standard employed as to what type of punishment the man is to receive. This (placing Farr in jail until he talks) gets into the area of cruel and unusual punishment.

"If the idea is to get him to talk and this becomes the only concern, then they could put him on the rack and probably get it out of him in a couple of hours.

"I think the appropriate punishment would have been to cite him for contempt and put him in jail for five or 10 days. That would be enough."

On the issue of newsmen generally being privileged to keep their sources confidential, Nitz believes the trend of recent cases should give the news media cause for alarm.

"They are going to have to work for some kind of legislative protection," he said. "Unfortunately I don't see any protection coming from the courts."

Recent U.S. Supreme Court cases have indicated that a newsman has no constitutional right to withhold his sources from government inquiries.

"It would seem that the problem should be approached on the basis of who should be privileged as a newsman and not whether or not the newsman has a right to protect his sources.

"Thus it is a problem of classification. A man who makes his livelihood gathering news should have the privilege. One who does not, should not have the privilege. For example, I should not be entitled to claim the privilege by saying I was going to use the information to write a letter."

Nitz views protection of sources of a bona fide newsman as essential in rooting out corruption or uncovering some types of crime.

"This is where you dig out the dirty politician. A newsman starts snooping around and sometimes this is the only way we find out about it.

"But that sort of thing stirs up the powers that be. They get excited and feel they have to strike out at someone. Unfortunately they are striking out at the newsman."

Last San Mateo Escapee Caught

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The last of six prisoners who escaped from the San Mateo County Jail in Redwood City three years ago was captured Thursday in an apartment.

Police said they took Charles R. Snedden, 36, into custody after receiving a tip. They said he offered no resistance.

Snedden said he had been working as a bartender and barker at North Beach nightclubs.

Police said Snedden, who escaped Feb. 15, 1970, would be charged with escape, four counts of armed robbery in Alameda County, grand theft in Contra Costa County and parole violation.

Jail Time On Robbery Try

Two Marin City residents have been placed on probation and ordered to serve jail time for the attempted robbery of a Tamalpais Valley market Sept. 22.

Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner on Tuesday sentenced Osborne O'Neill Turner, 19, to one year in county jail and five years probation. Turner had pleaded guilty to counts of armed robbery and burglary, under the plea bargaining process.

Gardiner also sentenced Barbara Ann Scott, 21, to one year on probation with 45 days in jail, after she pleaded guilty of robbery, in a plea bargain.

Politicans Are Taken To Task

BOSTON (UPI) —A Boston resident has submitted a bill to make politicians who win elections legally liable for any express or implied promises, guarantees or assurances they make during the campaign.

Andrew Moes drafted the bill for consideration by the 1973 legislature. The House clerk's office Thursday processed the bill.

Plato-Quoting Thief Returns Stolen Goods

HOQUIAM, Wash. (UPI) —A remorseful thief, quoting Plato in an apology note, Thursday returned $400 worth of equipment he stole from the Ace Welding Co.

The burglar sent the equipment in a gift-wrapped package and wished the owners a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

An accompanying note said: "As the great philosopher Plato said, 'There is no crime greater than one committed upon one's soul.' I ask your forgiveness."

In a postscript he suggested Ace Welding change its locks, and a company official said he would take the thief's advice.

Cash Box Taken In School Theft

A cash box containing $10 to $20 was stolen from a school in Terra Linda Saturday or Sunday, the sheriff's department ported yesterday.

The burglar took the box from the desk of principal Keith Anderson after breaking a sliding glass window for access to the administration building at Santa Margarita School, 1055 Las Ovejas Avenue.

The sheriff's deputy who investigated reported the school was entered between 3:30 p.m. Saturday and 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Unions Protest Vietnam Bombing

SYDNEY (UPI) —Two more maritime unions joined the Australian Seamen's Union today in refusing to handle American ships in Australian ports as a protest against U.S. bombing of North Vietnam.

The Waterside Workers Union decided to impose a ban on U.S. ships starting next week while the Firemen and Deckhands Union endorsed a resolution to immediately apply the ban.

The federal secretary of the Seamen's Union, Elliot V. Elliot, in announcing the ban Thursday, said union members will refuse to take pilots or tugs to U.S. ships entering or leaving Australian ports.

The ban will apply to every ship either flying the U.S. ftag or American-owned and remain in effect until the bombing ceases.

Newsmen Have Stout Defender Of Right To Protect Sources

FRESNO (UPI) — A newsman has a responsibility not to jeopardize the rights of another human being on trial for a crime, but beyond that, he should have an iron-clad privilege not to reveal the sources of his stories.

If he does not, the average citizen's First Amendment right entitling him to enjoy the fruits of a free press is a "hollow one."

This is the opinion, not of a newsman, but of a man who spends most of his time defending persons charged with a crime —Melvin Nitz, the public defender of Fresno County.

Nitz, who also is an instructor of constitutional law at the San Joaquin College of Law here, assesses the current controversy over whether prosecutors or judges can compel newsmen to reveal their sources as boiling down to the issue of the rights of the public rather than the newsman.

"As a citizen the First Amendment entitles me to read any information I want because I am entitled to have any opinion I want. Thus I have the right to read something the government does not want me to read. But if the government cuts off my supply then my right doesn't mean anything. My right is a hollow one," he said.

It is Nitz' contention that the public must have the ancillary right, that of a newsman protecting his sources, in order to preserve the main right, that of the public's right to know, because if a newsman must reveal his sources at the behest of the government, they tend to dry up.

But what about the situation where a newsman has obtained information about evidence to be introduced at a trial? Should he print it now or wait until it is introduced in evidence or, if the information never gets into evidence, wait until after the trial?

These are the questions surrounding the case of Los Angeles reporter William Farr who wrote a story he said he obtained from attorneys in violation of a "gag" order by the court regarding evidence which was never introduced at the Sharon Tate murder trial.

Farr subsequently was jailed by Superior Court Judge Charles Older for an indefinite term —until he tells the court where he ot his information.

"The Farr case was kind of a bad one because it wasn't a question of his getting or eventually using the information, it was a question of timing," said Nitz.

"Commenting on actual evidence before it is introduced could, in effect, have some influence on the trial of the defendants. There the reporter jeopardizes the rights of another human being.

"The court's order (in the Farr case) was a proper one. There is no question about Farr using the information when and if it is placed in evidence; if it never is, then he could publish it after the trial."

But still Nitz believes the punishment in the Farr case was too severe.

"There is no standard employed as to what type of punishment the man is to receive. This (placing Farr in jail until he talks) gets into the area of cruel and unusual punishment.

"If the idea is to get him to talk and this becomes the only concern, then they could put him on the rack and probably get it out of him in a couple of hours.

"I think the appropriate punishment would have been to cite him for contempt and put him in jail for five or 10 days. That would be enough."

On the issue of newsmen generally being privileged to keep their sources confidential, Nitz believes the trend of recent cases should give the news media cause for alarm.

"They are going to have to work for some kind of legislative protection," he said. "Unfortunately I don't see any protection coming from the courts."

Recent U.S. Supreme Court cases have indicated that a newsman has no constitutional right to withhold his sources from government inquiries.

"It would seem that the problem should be approached on the basis of who should be privileged as a newsman and not whether or not the newsman has a right to protect his sources.

"Thus it is a problem of classification. A man who makes his livelihood gathering news should have the privilege. One who does not, should not have the privilege. For example, I should not be entitled to claim the privilege by saying I was going to use the information to write a letter."

Nitz views protection of sources of a bona fide newsman as essential in rooting out corruption or uncovering some types of crime.

"This is where you dig out the dirty politician. A newsman starts snooping around and sometimes this is the only way we find out about it.

"But that sort of thing stirs up the powers that be. They get excited and feel they have to strike out at someone. Unfortunately they are striking out at the newsman."

Commandos Who Seized Embassy Arrive In Cairo

CARIO (UPI) — Four Palestinian guerrillas who seized the Israeli Embassy in Bangkok and six Israeli hostages, later released, arrived here today aboard a Thai International Airways DC9 with the Egyptian ambassador to Thailand and 10 Thai government officials who said the commandos were their "guests."

Air Chief Marshal Dawee Chulasap, the Thai minister of communications who came to Cairo with the guerrillas, told newsmen he had done all he could to avoid violence with the four Black September Palestinian guerrillas because he had been in Munich and "learned the lesson" from the Olympics massacre in which 11 Israeli Olympic team members and five Arabs were killed.

He said the Palestinians agreed to leave the country when they were told they had acted on what Thailand considers a holy day, the investiture of its crown prince. He quoted them as saying they had decided that friendship with Southeast Asia was more important than a few hostages.

The guerrillas took the six hostages to the Bangkok airport with them but released them before boarding the plane for Cairo. The hostages held for 19 hours were four Israeli diplomats, including the ambassador to Cambodia, Simon Avimor, and two Israeli wives. The hostages had been bound together with ropes but aside from minor injuries caused by their bindings were not hurt.

(In Tel Aviv Prime Minister Golda Meir and her cabinet waited until they actually heard the voices of the six hostages before they raised a toast to their safe deliverance. They had toasted the safety of the Israelis at Munich only to learn later they were dead.)

The four Palestinians were accompanied to Cairo by the Egyptian Ambassador to Thailand, Mustafa El Tawi, who helped negotiate the release of the hostages and safe conduct for the Palestinians out of the country. The Thais aboard included Dawee and Deputy Foreign Minister Chartchai Chunahawan. The others were an army colonel and seven junior officials, Thai officials said in Cairo.

The four Palestinians entered the Israeli Embassy in Bangkok at height of the celebrations, seized the building and the six hostages and hung a Palestinian flag out of the window. They demanded the release of 36 prisoners held by Israel, eight of them female guerrillas, and Kozo Okamoto, the Japanese youth who was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the massacre last May at Lod International Airport in Tel Aviv where 28 persons died. Okamoto's two accomplices were killed in the battle.

The guerrillas identified themselves as members of the Black September group which killed 11 Israeli Olympians at Munich. They also demanded the return of the bodies of two Black September members who were killed by Israeli soldiers in the attempted hijack of a Sabena airliner at Lod Airport last May 8.

HOSTAGES SAFE — Israeli embassy attache Dan Beeri and his wife of two months, Rachel, both held hostage by Black September Palestinian guerrillas, talked to friends and newsmen after they were released early today, Bangkok time. The four guerrillas who had seized the Israeli embassy in Bangkok and threatened to blow it up, released the six Israelis they had held captive and then flew to Cairo on a special flight. Israeli Hostages Tell Of Long Ordeal With Guerrilla Captors

BANGKOK (UPI) — Israeli hostages held by self-described Arab guerrillas of the Black September organization said today they were prepared to die during their 19-hour ordeal. But, one said, they never lost their sense of humor.

Mrs. Ruth Hadass, 30, wife of embassy first secretary Nitzan Hadass, who was also held hostage, told how the six even managed to laugh among themselves during the long night, prompting one of their captors to ask at one point what they had to laugh about.

"We told him that somebody had just told a good Jewish joke," said Mrs. Haddas.

But there were grim moments. The hostages described the men who held them at gunpoint as skittish types who clutched grenades in their hands throughout the vigil and nervously fingered their weapons.

"I was sure they were going to shoot us," said Hadass, 35. "They were more scared than us. Besides, we were prepared to die."

The hostages were trussed together with nylon cord that bit into wrists and ankles and left wounds that required medical treatment in some cases. They were placed together on the floor of a second floor corridor and kept constantly under guard, usually by two of the guerrillas.

It was a Thai holiday and most of the hostages had simply dropped in to pick up mail when the guerrillas, clad in dark suits, burst through the front door.

"They said 'We are from the Black September,'" said Pianhas Lavie, 37, an embassy attache.

Lavie said they rounded up the six from rooms on the ground floor and told them "Our aim is only one. We want your government to release 36 hostages including 12 girls. We are not murderers— we will treat you well."

Although they were tied, the guerrillas, gave them cigarettes and water. After 12 hours, they brought their prisoners food.

"Some of them were almost nice guys," said Hadass, a former Israeli army officer. "I don't know how they come to this. It is not easy to kill and get killed. They did not maltreat us."

Several of the hostages credited both the Thais and Egyptian ambassador Mustafa El Tawi with saving them.

Lavie said the Thais established a firm position of neutrality but also made it clear that although they wanted no bloodshed on their soil, the guerrillas could expect violence themselves if the hostages came to harm.

Although he did not speak personally to the hostages, El Tawi was credited with relaying an appeal from King Bhumipol Adulydej that there be no violence in such insistent terms that the guerrillas were swayed.

"Much of the credit goes to the Egyptian ambassador," said Simon Avimor, the Israeli ambassador to Cambodia who was visiting Bangkok at the time of the embassy seizure and who also was taken hostage. "He deserves praise for his efforts."

3 San Rafael Teens Rescued

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Three 16-year-old San Rafael boys spent an unscheduled chilly night on a tiny Russian River island four miles north of here before being rescued by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Sonoma County Sheriff's deputies said Thursday that Kevin P. Campion, Paul Freitas and Michael A. Maritzen had set out in a canoe from Alexander Valley near Geyserville Wednesday, but swift current swept them against an island which was described as "more like a pile of brush in the river."

Water swamped the boat so it could not be dislodged and the trio had to spend Wednesday night on the island.

Their plight finally became known the next morning when Sheriff's Sgt. Ed Wilkinson and one of the boy's fathers spotted them after an all night search along the river.

Names of two 16-year-old San Anselmo youths and a 17-year-old from San Rafael were withheld on a standing order from Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

What The Law Says, And What Judges Do

California law specifies that drunken driving which results in death or bodily injury is a felony.

Last Aug. 10 on a Golden Gate Bridge approach, Dr. Steven M. Sidow of Larkspur was killed in an auto crash. The driver of the car that struck Dr. Sidow's was Leonard Lundgren III, a San Francisco school teacher. Lundgren was arrested and charged with felony drunken driving. -

CALIFORNIA LAW calls for a jail or prison sentence for felony drunken driving. Also, California law provides that conviction of a felony is cause for dismissal of a public school teacher.

However, when Lundgren appeared for hearing this month before Judge John A. O'Kane in San Francisco Municipal Court, the judge permitted him to plead guilty to misdemeanor drunken driving — which by law cannot include drunken driving that results in death.

Judge O'Kane then sentenced Lundgren to 90 days in jail, but suspended the sentence, fined him $500, and placed him on two years' probation.

Lundgren thus escaped going to jail and also avoided losing his teaching job.

The law contains no provision for what Judge O'Kane did.

CALIFORNIA LAW specifies that a newspaper reporter cannot be forced to disclose the source of information he uses in a news story.

William Farr was a reporter covering the Manson murder trial for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner. Somebody gave him some information, in defiance of a "gag order" imposed by Judge Charles H. Older, who was presiding at the trial. Farr used the information in a news story.

A few months later, Farr left newspaper work for awhile. As soon as he was no longer employed by the Herald Examiner, Judge Older had him called before a grand jury that was investigating the Manson case. The grand jury demanded the source of Farr's information. Farr refused.

Farr subsequently re-entered newspaper work, as a reporter for the Los Angeles Times. But Judge Older charged him with contempt of the grand jury for refusing to disclose the source of his earlier information. He claimed that, because Farr was not a reporter at the time of that refusal, he had lost his privilege to protect his source.

The only way Farr could "purge himself of the contempt," said Judge Older, was to tell him — the judge — where he got that information. Farr refused.

Judge Older then sentenced Farr to jail — indefinitely; not for any crime, for Farr had committed none, but for refusal to breach a confidence.

Farr remains in jail today.

The law contains no provision for what Judge Older did.

WHEN THE PEOPLE lose confidence in their courts, the nation is in deep trouble. Anarchy is in the wings.

It is difficult for the people to retain confidence in their courts when they see what happened to Leonard Lundgren and what happened to William Farr.

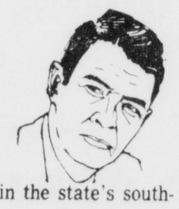
Behr's Wild Rivers Act May Mark End Of Era



By RUS WALTON

When Governor Reagan signed into law Sen. Peter Behr's wild rivers bill, he may have done more than just protect the last of California's free-flowing rivers.

He may have set the keystone for a new era (and new policies) of balanced growth in California — and put an end to the 25-year post-war period of progress at any price.

At least, that is the opinion of Rich Wilson, Covelo rancher, former president of the Planning and Conservation League, and leading exponent of proper balance between economic expansion and environmental protection.

Behr's new law establishes the California Wild and Scenic Rivers System. It prohibits the construction of dams, reservoirs or other unnatural structures on the American, Klamath, Smith or Trinity rivers. And it places a 12-year moratorium on any construction, or the plans for any construction, on the Eel River.

IN WILSON'S EYES, the Behr bill has three obvious messages:

-It announces that the state will no longer permit the rivers and resources of the north coastal area to be rigged and raped to provide unlimited waters for the developers in the central valley and southern plateaus.

-It serves notice on Southern California cities that they must accelerate their search for new methods of developing and reclaiming water resources.

-It proclaims that the California Water Plan will not continue to push more residents on top of the masses that are already congregated in the state's southern counties.

"OUR PROBLEM is not population growth as much as it is population compaction," comments Wilson. "The Behr bill will help turn off that neon arrow that has been sending people to live in southern California."

Wilson sees the passage of the wild rivers bill as another in a series of recent healthy developments that could end the age of the land speculator and rip-off artist.

The developments to which he refers are Boise-Cascade's withdrawal from the real estate development business and its massive, $65 million settlement; the passage of Proposition 20 (the coastal protection initiative) at the November polls, Governor Reagan's 1969 refusal to approve a high dam at Dos Rios on the Eel River, and the 1971 cancellation of the thousand-acre My Ranch subdivision in Sonoma County.

"I think we are heading into a period of more natural, sensible growth, a time of greater responsibility in land development and environmental protection," he says.

WILSON IS ESPECIALLY scornful of business interests that built on the flood planes at the mouth of the El River. Those interests joined the water lobby in an effort to kill the Behr bill.

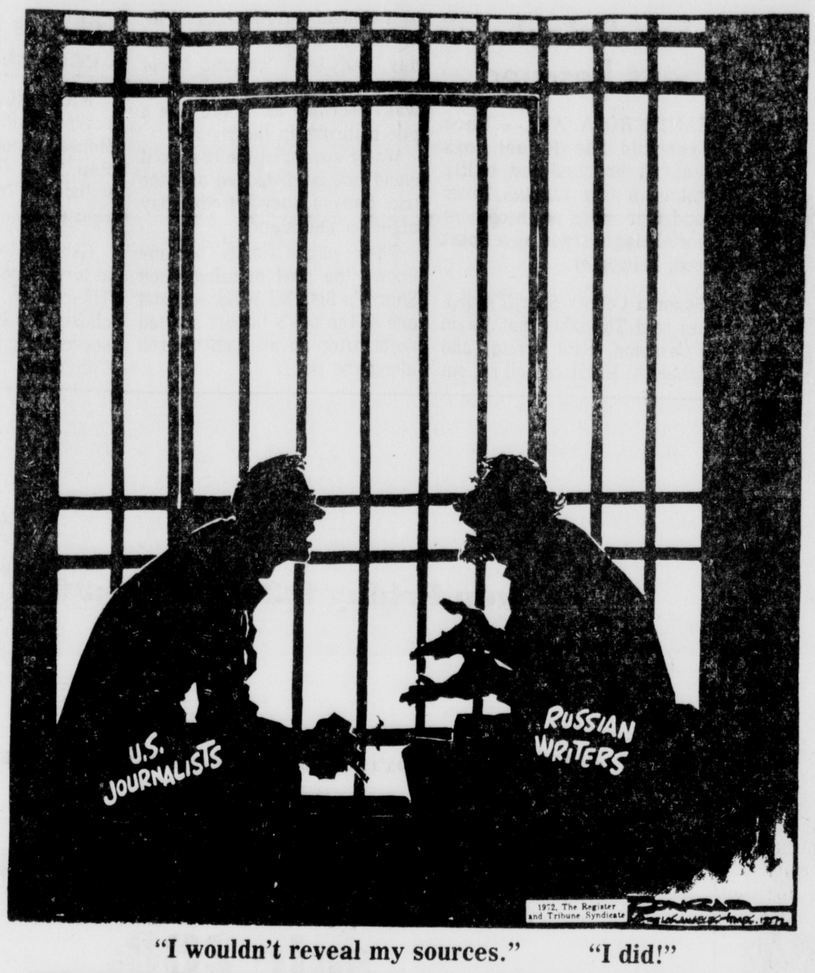
"Those fellows knew about the floods when they built there. But they went ahead anyway. They should not be able to have the taxpayer come running in every so often to save them from their own stupidity.

"People have to learn to take the consequences of their own actions. These guys want free enterprise without the risk. They want the government to cover their risks, but leave their profits alone. that is not free enterprise."

THE ENACTMENT of the Behr bill may also mark the end of another era: the power of senior State Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka. Collier, who has been in the Senate since 1939, also authored a wild rivers bill. It was a ploy, an attempt to kill or weaken the Behr bill. As the Behr bill picked up strength, Collier kept amending his measure until it was almost — but not quite — as stringent as Behr's.

The plot failed. The governor vetoed Collier's bill. Not too many years ago the Collier measure would have sailed through the Legislature and been signed by the governor — any governor.

"Now that those busybodies have finally finished digging rocks up there, I'll get back to my poem."



"I wouldn't reveal my sources." "I did!"

President's Bombing Decision Tragic

Mr. Nixon's recent decision to unleash bombs and destruction on Hanoi in the hope it would bow to his demands for peace is tragic and insane.

A just peace was close at hand. To Mr. Nixon, however, it was less than a settlement he could interpret as "peace with honor", which to him means "American victory."

The President's inability to see the necessity for ending the death and destruction is tragic.

Hopefully, the overwhelming majority of Americans who want a prompt peace settlement will write or wire their congressional representatives demanding that all American military aid to Southeast Asia be withdrawn immediately and all funds for military purposes be terminated.

'End Justifies Means' For County Planners

The I-J is to be commended on its recent editorial, "Social Environment and Open Space," as should Commissioner Gerner who it quotes.

It is hard to know where the administration at Civic Center is importing these alleged planners from but, wherever it is, they should ship them back and replace them with real people. They are apparently symptomatic of the ridiculous, permissive morality that seems to be overcoming our local political and governmental institutions. Their creed is, "the end always justifies the means."

Appropriate note should be made of the fact that some of the prime movers on Proposition A were leaders in last year's abortive attempt to saddle Corte Madera with an outrageous, unreal housing element. We now know that they weren't just off on another crusade but, along with our high paid, "vacuum packed" county planners, had a very real, consistent purpose in mind. . .

Finally, Mr. Editor, the last two paragraphs of your editorial are gems. May our supervisors have the wisdom and good sense to understand them, give them proper consideration and take appropriate action.

Congress Should Bar More Funds For War

Nixon's terror bombing on Hanoi and Haiphong brings to mind Hitler's terror bombing on Rotterdam and Warsaw. Hitler too thought that he could inflict suffering on humanity with impunity. But, to quote Goethe, "World history is world justice."

Last November the American people had the choice between war and peace. They chose war. Maybe they were tricked by President Nixon's election game of "peace at hand."

All of us should urge Congress to withhold additional funds for our undeclared, unjustified intervention in the Viet civil war.

Only thus can we save the Vietnamese and outselves.

A Kind Of Scrooge Feeling While Cutting Down Pine Trees

SOLOMONS GAP, Md. — Admittedly, it was an unusual situation in that the man from the telephone company wanted something from me, rather than the other way around. Nevertheless his politeness is worth remarking on. He called me at work in Washington and said the pine trees growing along the telephone cable right-of-way across my land had gotten too big and were going to have to be cut, so their roots would not get into the line and do who-knows-what to service. Would I okay his going in with his contract crew and getting the work done?

Well, the fact is, I had no choice; the telephone company had an easement in the deed to this land long before I became a country squire. I had known all along that someday the white pines planted by the man who had the land before, intended to grow into Christmas trees, were going to have to be cut.

IT WAS HAPPENSTANCE that someday came just before Christmas, which would seem timely except that most of the trees had grown far past Christmas tree size; besides, the honeysuckle draped in and over them and the irregular wet and dry summers of the past few years have made most of them too ungainly for decorative purposes. Still, they were luxuriantly needled and their branches would make excellent greens for mantles, tabletops, wreaths and things.

So after the man and I made arrangements to meet but missed each other because of my erratic schedule, I told him next time he called not to worry, I would do the cutting myself. He sent somebody to tie tassels of white bunting on the ones to be cleared from the right-of-way, which is marked by yellow-painted posts from the road down to the barbed wire above the spring branch.

I arrived, then, on that cold Saturday before the Saturday before Christmas, when the wind was whipping down off Elk Ridge and the chill factor was something below zero. I shook hands with my tenant's nanny goat and dug out an old Marine Corps raincoat to help bluff the wind. I sharpened the ax and went down through the woods to the cut.

He wanted seven big ones down, and a scattering of smaller ones. The ax bit easily through the sappy pine; the only problem was slicing the vines away to get a clear swing at the trunks. One of the girls came down to watch, and as I was finishing she told me she saw two boys hiding in the brush near the raod.

I went up and asked them what they were doing. They said guiltily that they were cutting themselves a little tree. They already had hacked away at one of the few saplings that was coming up in perfect shape. I scolded them mildly for not asking permission, then told them they could have whatever they wanted from the trees I had just cut down, but to leave the smaller growing ones alone. They cut the top out of one of the bigger ones and left across the fence, headed up the road, and seemed surprised when the girl told them to have a Merry Christmas.

SO WAS I. She made me feel like Scrooge. And as the boys disappeared around the curve, dragging their tree-tip behind them, she looked down the line of pines I had felled and asked, "Doesn't it make you feel sad to cut trees down?" Having committed myself to the tough-guy role, I played it out. I said, "No, not really, I've cut down hundreds, maybe thousands in my time, and if it has to be done, it has to be done."

That was not, however, what I was thinking — not when the first chip flew, nor when I was driving to town with my back seat filled with greens dripping resin that looked like tears, nor when I stopped at a lot on Massachusetts Avenue and bought a shapely Scotch pine from Pennsylvania, nor what I will think next week when I see truckloads of discarded trees headed for the cumps.

Yes, I realize almost all Christmas trees lit up in the city these days are from commercial tree farms, not brought home free-lance the way the boys up the road were doing — which is exactly the way I used to bring a red cedar home every year form across the railroad tracks down home. When you think of it commercially, a handful of young pines is like a dozen bales of hay. But I cannot bring myself, yet, to think of it that way, and I suppose that only reinforces the Scrooge image.

To which I can only add, apologetically, Happy Holidays, anyway.

Inaction On Terrorism Shows Uselessness Of United Nations

WASHINGTON — It must be said in candor that the United Nations is headed toward death's door, as a force to help the world solve any of its major problems.

It won't be buried, and it shouldn't be. Sometime it will come back to life because it is needed.

It won't disappear, and it shouldn't. But it has become useless as a place to get any significant action. It remains useful as a place for talk. Talk has some value because it shows how badly the world needs the United Nations.

PERHAPS I OVERSTATE the weakness of the United Nations. It has some strength. It has strength enough to run; it can run away from serious problems faster and further than any organization invented by man.

That is what it is doing now. It is resolutely refusing to do anything positive to help the world put an end to terrorist crimes which are taking the lives of so many innocent people.

Its prompt and decisive inaction shows the United Nations at its worst and weakest. It exposes its impotence as presently organized and adds to its impotence by forcing nations which want to do something constructive to act outside the United Nations.

HERE WAS a problem — international terrorism — so visible, so cruel, so criminal that it seemed almost made-to-order for the United Nations to deal with it.

Acts of terror kept accumulating so ominously that nearly the whole world was shocked and dismayed. Scarcely a single nation's airlines escaped the hijackings; 26 persons were massacred by Japanese terrorists at Tel Aviv airport; 11 Israeli athletes were assassinated at the Olympic Games; deadly letter bombs are being mailed to public officials around the world.

The United Nations voted 76 to 34 (with 16 abstentions) to do nothing. They did nothing by voting to "study" the problem.

Here was an international problem which directly and acutely affected most countries and potentially all countries.

Ninety-two member nations voted to make sure the United Nations did nothing. Seventy-six voted positively to do nothing and 16 others, unable to decide between doing something and doing nothing, passed.

United Nations Sec. Gen. Kurt Waldheim himself initiated the effort to put the United Nations behind a concerted fight against terrorism. Quickly and overwhelmingly most member governments rejected his initiative and in effect warned him against having any such ideas about the role of the United Nations.

HERE WAS AN international problem which was so clear-cut in its illegal and immoral character that it seemed it should be wholly free from ideological controversy.

It wasn't, not at any point. Every Communist government, except Cuba, and all the Arab nations voted en bloc against doing anything about terrorism. It coyly called for "posible" co-operation. And if you want to get right down to the meat of the do-nothing resolution, one of its spokesmen described it as "meeting the need for further study of the question and for exercising caution."

In approving the escapist study-the-problem resolution, the United Nations turned aside two do-something proposals. One, introduced by the United States, would have called an international conference this year to draft legal actions against acts of terrorism. The other, introduced by Italy, Austria, Canada and Britain, would have created a U.N. international law commission to draft a treaty with teeth in it.

Neither of these actions would guarantee U.N. success in dealing with terrorism. But the study-some-more resolution guarantees U.N. failure.

The United Nations can't stand many more such failures and survive as a significant force.

Well, the fact is, I had no choice; the telephone company had an easement in the deed to this land long before I became a country squire. I had known all along that someday the white pines planted by the man who had the land before, intended to grow into Christmas trees, were going to have to be cut.

IT WAS HAPPENSTANCE that someday came just before Christmas, which would seem timely except that most of the trees had grown far past Christmas tree size; besides, the honeysuckle draped in and over them and the irregular wet and dry summers of the past few years have made most of them too ungainly for decorative purposes. Still, they were luxuriantly needled and their branches would make excellent greens for mantles, tabletops, wreaths and things.

So after the man and I made arrangements to meet but missed each other because of my erratic schedule, I told him next time he called not to worry, I would do the cutting myself. He sent somebody to tie tassels of white bunting on the ones to be cleared from the right-of-way, which is marked by yellow-painted posts from the road down to the barbed wire above the spring branch.

I arrived, then, on that cold Saturday before the Saturday before Christmas, when the wind was whipping down off Elk Ridge and the chill factor was something below zero. I shook hands with my tenant's nanny goat and dug out an old Marine Corps raincoat to help bluff the wind. I sharpened the ax and went down through the woods to the cut.

He wanted seven big ones down, and a scattering of smaller ones. The ax bit easily through the sappy pine; the only problem was slicing the vines away to get a clear swing at the trunks. One of the girls came down to watch, and as I was finishing she told me she saw two boys hiding in the brush near the raod.

I went up and asked them what they were doing. They said guiltily that they were cutting themselves a little tree. They already had hacked away at one of the few saplings that was coming up in perfect shape. I scolded them mildly for not asking permission, then told them they could have whatever they wanted from the trees I had just cut down, but to leave the smaller growing ones alone. They cut the top out of one of the bigger ones and left across the fence, headed up the road, and seemed surprised when the girl told them to have a Merry Christmas.

SO WAS I. She made me feel like Scrooge. And as the boys disappeared around the curve, dragging their tree-tip behind them, she looked down the line of pines I had felled and asked, "Doesn't it make you feel sad to cut trees down?" Having committed myself to the tough-guy role, I played it out. I said, "No, not really, I've cut down hundreds, maybe thousands in my time, and if it has to be done, it has to be done."

That was not, however, what I was thinking — not when the first chip flew, nor when I was driving to town with my back seat filled with greens dripping resin that looked like tears, nor when I stopped at a lot on Massachusetts Avenue and bought a shapely Scotch pine from Pennsylvania, nor what I will think next week when I see truckloads of discarded trees headed for the cumps.

Yes, I realize almost all Christmas trees lit up in the city these days are from commercial tree farms, not brought home free-lance the way the boys up the road were doing — which is exactly the way I used to bring a red cedar home every year form across the railroad tracks down home. When you think of it commercially, a handful of young pines is like a dozen bales of hay. But I cannot bring myself, yet, to think of it that way, and I suppose that only reinforces the Scrooge image.

To which I can only add, apologetically, Happy Holidays, anyway.

Inaction On Terrorism Shows Uselessness Of United Nations

WASHINGTON — It must be said in candor that the United Nations is headed toward death's door, as a force to help the world solve any of its major problems.

It won't be buried, and it shouldn't be. Sometime it will come back to life because it is needed.

It won't disappear, and it shouldn't. But it has become useless as a place to get any significant action. It remains useful as a place for talk. Talk has some value because it shows how badly the world needs the United Nations.

PERHAPS I OVERSTATE the weakness of the United Nations. It has some strength. It has strength enough to run; it can run away from serious problems faster and further than any organization invented by man.

That is what it is doing now. It is resolutely refusing to do anything positive to help the world put an end to terrorist crimes which are taking the lives of so many innocent people.

Its prompt and decisive inaction shows the United Nations at its worst and weakest. It exposes its impotence as presently organized and adds to its impotence by forcing nations which want to do something constructive to act outside the United Nations.

HERE WAS a problem — international terrorism — so visible, so cruel, so criminal that it seemed almost made-to-order for the United Nations to deal with it.

Acts of terror kept accumulating so ominously that nearly the whole world was shocked and dismayed. Scarcely a single nation's airlines escaped the hijackings; 26 persons were massacred by Japanese terrorists at Tel Aviv airport; 11 Israeli athletes were assassinated at the Olympic Games; deadly letter bombs are being mailed to public officials around the world.

The United Nations voted 76 to 34 (with 16 abstentions) to do nothing. They did nothing by voting to "study" the problem.

Here was an international problem which directly and acutely affected most countries and potentially all countries.

Ninety-two member nations voted to make sure the United Nations did nothing. Seventy-six voted positively to do nothing and 16 others, unable to decide between doing something and doing nothing, passed.

United Nations Sec. Gen. Kurt Waldheim himself initiated the effort to put the United Nations behind a concerted fight against terrorism. Quickly and overwhelmingly most member governments rejected his initiative and in effect warned him against having any such ideas about the role of the United Nations.

HERE WAS AN international problem which was so clear-cut in its illegal and immoral character that it seemed it should be wholly free from ideological controversy.

It wasn't, not at any point. Every Communist government, except Cuba, and all the Arab nations voted en bloc against doing anything about terrorism. It coyly called for "posible" co-operation. And if you want to get right down to the meat of the do-nothing resolution, one of its spokesmen described it as "meeting the need for further study of the question and for exercising caution."

In approving the escapist study-the-problem resolution, the United Nations turned aside two do-something proposals. One, introduced by the United States, would have called an international conference this year to draft legal actions against acts of terrorism. The other, introduced by Italy, Austria, Canada and Britain, would have created a U.N. international law commission to draft a treaty with teeth in it.

Neither of these actions would guarantee U.N. success in dealing with terrorism. But the study-some-more resolution guarantees U.N. failure.

The United Nations can't stand many more such failures and survive as a significant force.

Open Space For San Anselmo; Planning Goes On And On

I just spent an hour listening to Julie Andrews and Robert Goulet and I hope you did too. What a charming treat it was! Two gracious people with delightfully matched voices.

It was so nice to know so many of you enjoyed the column last week. One lady who phoned in, as a teen-ager, lived in Tacoma and spent many happy days at Point Defiance Park — in the winter during snowfall days, coasting down a fine slope there, and during summer wandering through the wooded area and around the adjoining zoo. She remembers Polly, a most unusual, brilliant plumage type. When we offered her to the zoo people, they were delighted to have such a beauty.

It's good to know that the folks down at City Hall of my home town are earnestly working on the submission of a bond issue to buy "open space". Note the quote marks. Like in San Rafael and Tiburon, they are frankly calling it just what it is — not a park district.

SUPPOSE WE CONSIDER this county-wide general plan situation a bit. When we hear the plaintive cry of the planning director and the advance planning assistant of his — Werner von Gundell and Sol Silver, respectively — in their letters to the editor, it's pretty obvious that the editorials they are moaning about are touching a sensitive nerve or two.

Their maneuvering reminds one of a bizarre dance that some of the London street people, during World War II, used to perform. It was called the Lambeth walk — three steps forward and then two steps back.

They came waltzing out with the general plan — all smiles, saying look what a nice batch of goodies we've cooked up for you, you lucky people. When the editorials started probing and calling attention to what is really being promoted, comes then their letters to the editor: "No, you're wrong, we didn't say that. This is what we meant!" It must have been two other guys who said it.

This then is followed with more letters to the editor, giving parative assumptions of cost factors made up of nine-figure amounts. I hear the questions being asked, "Who are these people? What is their background in financial affairs? Who hired them to come here and organize and promote another life style of living?"

SOMEONE SHOULD answer those questions. There is considerable evidence in their own words that they don't believe that they can put it over.

From von Gundell's letter of the 27th this: "The financing gaps, which exist between some of the plan's goals and the assumed revenue sources, are a cause for concern . . . We have to work hard to close these gaps, or if unsuccessful, to revise the goals of the plan in the future."

The music goes round and round and the planning goes on and on.

Youth Center Movie Schedule Announced

"Woman of Affairs," the 1929 screen classic starring Greta Garbo, John Gilbert and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., will begin the Sausalito Youth Center's 1973 Friday night at the movies series at 8 p.m. Jan. 5 at a center in the old Central School.

Other films planned are: Jan. 12, "The Return of Frank James," with Henry Fonda and Gene Tierney; Jan. 19, "Girl Crazy," Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland; Jan. 26, "The Sun Shines Bright," Charles Winninger, Stepin Fetchit and Francis Ford; Feb. 2, "The Lost World," Wallace Beery and Bessie Love, and "Knight of the Trail," William S. Hart.

Feb. 9, "Stage Door," Katherine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolph Menjou, and "Me and My Pal," Laurel and Hardy; Feb. 16, "Romance," Greta Garbo, plus "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood"; March 2, "The Winslow Boy," Robert Donat, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Margaret Leighton; March 9, "Rose Marie," Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy; March 16, "The Plough and the Stars," Barbara Stanwyck and Preston Foster, plus "The Second Hundred Years," Laurel and Hardy; March 23, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney; March 30, "Monkey Business," the Marx Brothers, and "It's a Gift," with Snub Pollard.

All movies will be screened at 8 p.m. at the youth center.

Many Programs Are Scheduled

Recreational activities ranging from quilting and belly dancing to ballet, yoga and Japanese cooking are included in San Anselmo's winter recreation program, according to Gary S. Howell, parks and recreation director.

A special highlight of this year's program are two trips to see the Golden State Warriors play, he said.

Program flyers may be obtained from the San Anselmo School District office on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard or from city hall, he said.

Pallets Taken

Thirty-one wood pallets valued at $209 were taken sometime over the past four days from a storage area at La Ville Foods, 118 Carlos Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

USSR's 50th Anniversary

Although the Bolshevik, or Soviet, Revolution took over the Russian government in 1917, the revolutionaries had to fight the anti-soviet forces for several years before they were able to gain complete control of the country. Fifty years ago this month, representatives of the various Communist-controlled regions in Russia met in the Bolshoi Theater in Moscow. During this congress, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was established as a federation. Today, the USSR, or Soviet Union, encompasses 15 different "republics" and 100 different nationalities.

The Two-Party System Is Facing Political Shoals

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The two-party system in the United States is passing through a long-term period of stress with few clues to its future —or even its survival.

Possible trends include realignment such as President Nixon's vision of a pro-Republican "new American majority," revival of a dominant Democratic coalition, fragmentation of parties or, most unlikely, dissolution of existing parties.

The best guess is that the two major parties will stay in competition in a system which usually has matched Democrats against Republicans for more than a century since the GOP replaced the Whigs.

State laws encourage two-party contests for national and state offices. Losers shift positions and bounce back. New parties organize and may bend the results of an election or two before passing into history. Congress and most of the legislatures function with a two-party system; only Republicans or Democrats win White House terms.

Yet the system is changing. There has been a steady increase in the number of voters classing themselves as independents and in split-ticket voting. Ticket-splitting has led to one party holding the presidency and its opposition controlling Congress for 14 of the 28 years ending in 1974. It was a Democratic Congress facing a Republican President during 12 of those years.

This division of power between the presidency and Congress saddens political scientists and other students of politics who believe that more "party responsibility" is the key to more effective government.

Except for 16 years, Republicans held the White House and usually majorities in the House and Senate from the election of Abraham Lincoln in 1860 just before the Civil War until the defeat of Herbert Hoover in 1932 at the bottom of the Great Depression.

The Democratic coalition that elected Franklin D. Roosevelt four times and won control of Congress in the New Deal and World War II years was based on the South, blue collar workers, ethnic groups, Catholics, big cities, the then relatively small black vote and often the farm belt.

Nixon cut deeply into those traditional Democratic voting blocs—except the blacks—to win his landslide in 1972 and an apparent majority of new voters whose support the Democrats had claimed before the balloting started.

For the foreseeable future, the Democratic party has lost its anchor in the South, which once supplied more than a third of the electoral votes needed to elect a President. No Democratic nominee has carried all of the 11 southern states since FDR in 1944. Defections to southern-based new parties came in 1948 and 1968 and the Republicans carried three to six states in the elections from 1952 to 1968.

Nixon in 1972 was the first Republican to sweep the southern states. Republicans have been slower to win southern seats in Congress and state and local offices, however.

It was in September 1967 that a Gallup poll indicated the GOP, still convalescing from its debacle of 1964, had fallen to "third party" status. That survey showed 27 per cent of the voters called themselves Republicans, 42 per cent Democrats and 31 per cent independents. Nixon won the presidency 14 months later and soon polls indicated more voters viewed themselves as independents than Democrats.

A Sindlinger & Co. survey released in late October 1972 indicated 11 million more persons of voting age classed themselves as Republicans than in July, although the number of Democrats ranked first and independents second. The survey said the shift gave many voters "an excuse for voting for a Republican President" but that the GOP drew more from independents than Democrats.

Only time will tell how much permanence there may be in that indicated massive shift.

Ticket splitting to an apparently unprecedented degree marred the dimensions of Nixon's runaway victory. The Democrats added one governorship to raise their total to 31 and added two seats to their Senate majority. The Republicans remained a minority in the House with a pickup of 13 seats, below normal for the party winning the presidency.

Split-ticket voting may indicate more voters are giving greater attention to candidates and issues, but it does not show greater concern about party responsibility for governing. Its increased use does not suggest that it is a waystop for a voter tending to shift party allegiance.

The Democrats, still hurting from their performance at their riotous 1968 convention, undertook a vast reform program which showed that Sen. George S. McGovern knew more about winning the presidential nomination than the election. Many old line Democrats were exiled and alienated.

Now the party's national committee has chosen Robert S. Strauss, who calls himself a centrist but has long been regarded as a conservative, to replace Jean Westwood, McGovern's post-convention choice. Strauss says he gets along well with Democratic governors and congressional leaders. It would be an achievement if he could get the Democratic side of Congress to present more than the blurred image that surfaced in Nixon's first term.

His party also needs to modify some of the reforms which alienated blocs of Democrats in 1972 while it keeps commitments for new reforms —such as its 1974 conference on policy and a national charter, sure to cause discontent among elements of the party.

The GOP faces a continuing conflict with the Democratic-led Congress and, like the Democrats, competition for its 1976 presidential nomination. Advice will come from all sides, such as that already heard from the Ripon Society, a liberal Republican group, which says Nixon must build the GOP into "an instrument of effective domestic policy."

Moreover, Nixon and the GOP never finished the job begun by Ray C. Bliss, when he was national party chairman from 1965 to 1969, to rebuild the party organization from the precinct level to the top.

Party realignments may be in the offing, but not necessarily with more party responsibility, which implies more uniformity in the views and votes in Congress.

FAMILY

"Dumbo" — Classic cartoon feature about the baby circus elephant with gigantic ears who overcomes all obstacles and becomes the hero of the circus.

"Fiddler On The Roof" — A musical set in a small village in Tsarist Russia. The story of a Jewish man and his relationship with his family, the village and his very special relationship with his God and his efforts to hold onto the traditions of his faith. "Legend of Lobo" — Here a wolf tells his story, he is the hero and man the villain. There is adventure, suspense, humor and majestic scenery and education about wild life.

"On A Clear Day You Can See Forever" — Story of a silly college student who possesses mystical powers and can reveal her past lives is interwoven with lavish sets and excellent music.

"1776" — In a literal translation of the recent stage hit this film brings to life with a gentle wit, the differences and diversities among the men of the Continental Congress. Familiar names become persons — history lives in the most delightful way.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"The Getaway" — Swift moving tale of a bank robbery in Texas netting a half-million dollars, then the thieves fall out and double crosses ensue. Venality and greed are rampant, bloody violence aplenty. Ironic ending proves crime indeed does pay. (Motion Picture Daily)

"Lady Sings The Blues" — A fictionalized biography of the late blues singer, Billy Holiday. Her early life and later as a prostitute, success as a singer and her addiction to heroin is laced with music throughout the action. Strong language.

"Mechanic" — A hired killer for the Mafia takes pride in his cleverness and no remorse. Techniques of the killer are portrayed in specific detail. His downfall comes in finding a young man more cold blooded than himself.

ADULTS ONLY

"Big Bird Cage" — Sexy American girl is jailed in the Philippines where all the guards are gay and girls rough and tough. Revolutionaries try to free her and a bloody battle is the result. Foul language, nudity and sex.

"Deliverance" — Four middle-aged men go for a canoe cruise along a mountain river in Georgia. They encounter two sadistic hillbillies who rape one of them and murders ensue. Gripping suspense very extreme. Cursing.

"Everything You Always Wanted To Know About Sex" — A satire, seven vignettes, taken from Dr. Reuben's best seller, are answers to sexual questions. Will appeal to Woody Allen fans of offbeat and frequently bizarre humor.

"King of Marvin Gardens" — Two brothers grow up and live out their fantasies in completely different worlds. One a late night radio personality, the other a front man for a black syndicate who lives with two women. Much symbolism used.

"Night Call Nurses" — Nurses working in a psychiatric wrd have as many problems with the staff as with patients. Nudity and sex. (Boxoffice Magazine)

"What Do You Say To A Naked Lady" — Allen Funt, of Candid Camera, records the reactions of unsuspecting passersby to a naked woman. Some humorous moments, but mostly boring trash.

The Two-Party System Is Facing Political Shoals

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The two-party system in the United States is passing through a long-term period of stress with few clues to its future —or even its survival.

Possible trends include realignment such as President Nixon's vision of a pro-Republican "new American majority," revival of a dominant Democratic coalition, fragmentation of parties or, most unlikely, dissolution of existing parties.

The best guess is that the two major parties will stay in competition in a system which usually has matched Democrats against Republicans for more than a century since the GOP replaced the Whigs.

New parties organize and may bend the results of an election or two before passing into history. Congress and most of the legislatures function with a two-party system; only Republicans or Democrats win White House terms.

CENTRAL AREA BEING SEALED OFF

Members of the National Guard (right) on foot and in a Jeep begin moving everyone from the downtown area of Managua, hardest hit by the recent earthquake. This section of the city is being sealed off to stop looting, keep residents from sources of contaminated water and to clear the area for demolition work. Meanwhile today, a Red Cross spokesman said his organization has only enough food to feed survivors for another 72 hours despite foodstuffs sent from around the world.

Newsman Immunity Bill Gets Reagan's Signature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation granting newsmen immunity from grand jury orders to disclose confidential sources of information was signed into law yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is author of the bill (AB 1848), which closes loopholes in existing California law to protect newsmen from revealing their sources.

The law previously protected newsmen only from subpoenas issued by a court, administrative body or Legislature, but Bagley's bill broadened it to include "any other body having power to issue subpoenas."

Bagley introduced the bill in late Nvember after the jailing of Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reporter William Farr for refusing to tell a judge where he got exclusive information about the Manson murder case. The new law, however, came too late to help Farr, and does not cover all the legal issues in Farr's case.

His bill also protects newsmen from subpoenas issued by the mayor of Los Angeles, who is among a host of obscure persons with such power, Bagley noted.

Bagley, commending the governor's action, said that "when the law fails to protect the media from invasion of its privacy, this society will cease to enjoy the 'right to know' so clearly fostered by a free press.

"That any governmental body could so intimidate the media as to restrain it from discovering newsworthy material in which the public has an interest is certainly contrary to time-honored freedoms in this country," the assemblyman declared.

He said he will push in the legislative session opening next month for a law to prevent subpoenas of newsmen's notes for information useful in law enforcement.

Lutherans Name Temporary Chief

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —The Rev. Dr. David Preus of Minneapolis, vice president of the American Lutheran Church, temporarily took over the duties of seriously ill church President Dr. Kent S. Knutson Thursday.

D. Knutson, 48, elected to the ALC presidency in 1970 for a six-year term, has been in St. Mary's Hospital at Rochester, Minn., under care of Mayo Clinic physicians since Oct. 23.

Folk Singer's Activities Told

TOKYO (UPI) —The Communist newspaper Akahata said today that folk singer Joan Baez gives impromptu concerts during night time American air raids over Hanoi and tours the wreckage of the city by day.

The newspaper also said Miss Baez sings a new anti-war song that uses the names of President Nixon and his security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger.

The folk singer is a member of a group of Americans caught in Hanoi at the time of the resumption of full-scale U.S. bombing Dec. 18. She was among a group which went to Hanoi to deliver Christmas mail to American prisoners.

Reagan Selects Coastline Panelists; 13 Republicans

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has named two Democrats and 13 Republicans, including Sunset Books publisher Melvin B. Lane of Atherton, to newly created state and regional coastline protection commissions.

Lane and Roger T. Osenbaugh, an Alhambra insurance executive, were appointed yesterday to a statewide coastal protection commission.

Melville Owen, 40, of Kentfield, an attorney, was appointed to the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

(Owen told the Independent-Journal today he will resign immediately from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, on which he serves as one of the governor's five appointees. His resignation from BCDC automatically will take him off the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, where he is the BCDC representative.

(Owen said his new duties on the coastal commission will not leave him enough time for the other regional agencies.)

Reagan chose 13 other Californians to serve on six regional panels.

The coastal commissions the created by the Nov. 7 passage of a ballot proposition aimed at slowing down coastal development.

Last week, the Senate Rules Committee appointed former state Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel and Bernard J. Ridder Jr., a Long Beach newspaper executive, to the statewide commission along with its 13 selections to the regional panels.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, has until Saturday to name his choices for the coastal commissions.

Reagan, Moretti, and Senate Rules each name two members to the statewide commission. The regional commissions each select one member to complete the 12-member statewide panel.

The ballot proposition, opposed by Reagan, created the statewide commission and the regional commissions and gave them the power to regulate construction along a strip of land 1,000 yards inland from the water's edge.

The commissions at the same time must draft a masterplan for coastline conservation and development and submit it to the 1976 Legislature. They are then scheduled to go out of business.

Lane, 50, is executive vice president of Lane Magazine and Book Co. He just resigned as chairman of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Osenbaugh, 42, a Republican, is president of Osenbaugh Associates in Pasadena and a Sierra Club member.

Reagan's appointees to the regional commissions include:

North Coast — Donald W. Hedrick, 55, dean of the School of Natural Resources, California State University at Humboldt, and John M. Mayfield Jr., 36, of Ukiah, executive vice president of Microphor, Inc., in Willits and former director of the state Department of Conservation.

North Central Coast — Ellen J. Johnck, 28, San Francisco, an environmental planning student at the University of California at Berkeley; Kenneth M. Stocking, 61, provost of the Environmental Studies School, California State College at Sonoma.

Central Coast — Charles B. Kramer, 65, Pebble Beach, a member of the Monterey County Planning Commission, and Frank J. Lodato, 46, Menlo Park, president of Action Films, Inc.

South Central Coast — M. Bruce Johnson, 39, Goleta, chairman of the economics department at the University of California at Santa Barbara, and Emmons Blake, 51, vice mayor of San Luis Obispo.

South Coast — Donald B. Bright, 42, La Habra, chairman of the biological science department at California State University at Fullerton, and Donald W. Phillips, 47, a Long Beach city councilman.

San Diego — Evan V. Jones, 53, San Diego, president of Ace Auto Parks, Inc., and Malcolm A. Love, 68, San Diego, former president of San Diego State College.

The two Democratic appointees are Bright and Stocking. The other regional commission appointees are Republicans.

Reagan Uses Veto Ax 20 Times

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has vetoed a controversial bill to permit profit-making firms to sell prepaid health care insurance in California.

The governor also wielded his veto power to kill 19 other bills Thursday, including a measure by Democratic Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti to put environmentalists on the state Lands Commission, which controls offshore oil drilling.

In addition, Reagan vetoed bills to provide disability benefits for some pregnant women, to lift restrictions on health benefits for Medi-Cal recipients, to consider waitress "tips" as wages, and to establish pilot school programs for low I.Q. children.

Reagan, who has vetoed 39 bills in the past two days, has until midnight Sunday to act on bills passed by the 1972 legislature.

The governor said he was not necessarily opposed to the principle" of the prepaid health bill by lameduck Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, but agreed to veto it at the request of legislative leaders.

The measure was enacted during the final hours of the session with no public hearings and virtually no debate on the floors of the Senate and Assembly.

Reagan said the legislative leaders wanted to make a "more comprehensive" review of the bill at the 1973 session. "I agree that it should be subject to further legislative study," he said.

The bill, opposed by the California Medical Association, would have allowed doctors to form or contract with public, profit-making corporations to sell prepaid health plans. Currently, they are prohibited from doing so.

Only nonprofit organizations such as Blue Cross, Blue Shield and the Kaiser Foundation now can offer prepaid health care plans.

Campbell intends to establish a health care consulting firm when his Assembly term expires Jan. 8. He did not seek reelection to the Assembly and lost an election bid for the Los Angeles County board of supervisors.

On the Moretti bill, Reagan said increasing the membership of the Lands Commission from three to seven by adding environmentalists would "hinder the board's operation.

The three current members are the lieutenant governor and state controller, both elected officials, and the state director of finance, an appointee of the governor. The bill proposed adding four public members, each a gubernatorial appointee with expertise in ecology.

Reagan also vetoed bills:

To grant unemployment disability benefits to women workers who suffer complications as the result of pregnancy. Reagan said the bill by Sen. George Moscone, D-San Francisco, would result in an annual loss in the disability fund of $500,000 and there was no money to finance the $6 million starting costs.

To lift restrictions on the number of doctor visits and prescriptions a Medi-Cal patient can receive each month. Reagan said such a change, proposed by Assemblyman Willie Brown Jr., D-San Francisco, would weaken Medi-Cal "controls."

To require employers to consider employe "tips" as wages for purposes of unemployment insurance. Reagan said the bill by Assemblyman Leon Ralph, D-Los Angeles, would be "unfair" to employers.

To establish an experimental education program for children with low intelligence quotients (I.Q.'s). Reagan said there was no need for the bill by Assemblyman Peter Chacon, D-SanDiego.

To appropriate $200,000 for the training of psychiatric technicians in community colleges. Reagan said the "excess cost" of such training under the measure by Assemblyman Gordon Duffy, R-Hanford, should not be paid by general taxpayers.

To repeal a requirement that certain Medi-Cal patients receive "prior authorization" before they visit a physician. The governor noted the bill by Sen. Peter Behr, R-San Rafael, would wipe out a key section of the 1971 reform of Medi-Cal and welfare.

To allow state employes to credit unused sick leave toward retirement. Reagan said he believed the measure by Sen. John Harmer, R-Glendale, would "tend to encourage employes to stay at work when sick" and not curb sick leave abuses.

To establish a procedure for the state to allocate money to counties for search and rescue operations. Reagan said the bill by Sen. George Zenovich, D-Fresno, eventually would cost $250,000 a year and he was opposed to creating "any new subsidy for this purpose at this time."

Farm Accidents

CHICAGO (AP) — Accidents in 1971 killed more than 6,500 farm and ranch residents and disabled nearly a half million more, according to National Safety Council estimates. The council says the cost of these accidents exceeded $2 billion.

Amtrak Leases French Trains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — French trains will start running on U.S. tracks next year as Amtrak, the National Railroad Passenger Corp., boosts its service with new high speed trains.

Four modern trains will go into service in the Chicago-Milwaukee and St. Louis-Chicago corridors, Amtrak said Thursday.

Two of those will be five-car French turbine trains leased for two years from the ANF-Frangego Co. The trains can reach 125 miles an hour. Amtrak has an option to buy them at $2.2 million each.

A Tougher Law Governing Door-To-Door Salesmen

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill aimed at protecting consumers from unscrupulous telephone and door-to-door salesmen has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The governor also signed a bill Thursday that requires advertisers to back up claims they make about their products.

Telephone and door-to-door salesmen will be required to identify themselves, the firm they represent and what they are trying to sell before beginning a sales pitch under a bill by Assemblyman Jack Fenton, D-Montebello.

The measure also permits contracts to be terminated if they are solicited without complying with the requirements. A salesman not complying with the requirements could be charged with a misdemeanor and fined up to $2,500 in cases where a sale resulted.

Reagan signed a measure by Assemblyman Ken Meade, D-Oakland, authorizing the Department of Consumer Affairs, attorney general or district attorneys to request advertisers to produce evidence backing up claims they make about products.

A kind of living they never knew before.

"The closest possible thing to normal family living." That is what Marin Foundation Friends of Arequipa attempts to provide for the youthful residents of the two group homes it sponsors in Corte Madera and Kentfield. It is a kind of life most of them have never known. And it makes possible an informality and freedom, as illustrated by a jam session in the boys' group residence in Kentfield, that is impossible or difficult at most institutions for troubled teen-agers. This week's Independent-Journal Marin Magazine reports on the program in depth.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Year's Eve Or Not, Ondine's Will Offer Top Quality Cuisine

By tradition, New Year's Eve seems to be a time for "letting go," canceling out inhibitions, bridging across from the frustrations and disappointments of the old year to the hopes and expectations of the next 12 months.

There are scores of dineries and night spots quite willing to help those who require a certain amount of hoopla to experience complete fulfillment.

But there are also scores of lighthearted persons who do not appear to need this ultra-stimulation, nor do they especially seek it. At the same time, tradition is strong and New Year's Eve does call for some sort of celebration, simply because it's a milepost, a time division in our pattern of living. So the more self-sufficient usually concede that "it would be nice to go out for dinner" but where they can enjoy the food rather than the fanfare.

One of the Marin dineries that observes its own New Year's traditions and draws this latter group to its tables is Ondine in Sausalito. Here there is plenty of gaiety, but possibly not much more pronounced than on certain other weekends.

And having been credited rather widely with certain standards, this restaurant is one that is obliged to maintain them, for discriminating food buffs are not inclined to make allowances simply because it's New Year's Eve. Chef Alfred Roblin's poulet saute Patricia, his quenelles and souffles must be no less appealing than they are on the quiet evenings.

Of course, you'll have to make reservations.

AND GALLI'S at Ignacio is another place that makes less ado over the day of the year than the food of the day. As long as I have been acquainted with this family operation it has not budged one centimeter from its "dinners as usual" policy on New Year's Eve.

That means thick, juicy steaks, sumptious Italian dishes and side dishes. But you can, if you like, bring along your own spirit of auld lang syne.

BUSINESS AS USUAL, regular menu and regular prices will also prevail New Year's at Ramona's on downtown C Street, San Rafael. It will be closed on New Year's Day.

THE GROTTO on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, will be open New Year's Eve from 4 p.m., also serving its regular seafood menu, but will close Monday, New Year's Day.

DEER PARK VILLA in Fairfax will be open Sunday from 4 p.m. serving a special New Year's Eve menu priced from about $5.25 to $7.50. You should definitely make reservations. Deer Park will also serve dinners on New Year's Day from 4 p.m.

SCOMA'S OF SAUSALITO is open again after a few days of refurbishing and house-cleaning, with its gourmet seafood specialties.

But manager Terence Fischer, who was five years at Ernie's in San Francisco, believes in variety and has added a dish which is a departure from seafood — veal parmigiana, cooked in the true Italian style.

Scoma's is another place serving its regular menu on New Year's Eve. It will be closed New Year's Day.

THE EXECUTIVE LOUNGE at the top of the Reynold C. Johnson Building in San Rafael is planning a gala New Year's Eve, with three dinner seatings at 6, 8 and 10 p.m. Reservations should be made ahead.

ALFRED ROBLIN
Ondine's foodmaster

Early diners who want to stick around for the activity will find lots of room in the cocktail lounge after eating. Dinners are priced at $19.50 per couple (including tax and tip). This offers a relish tray, salad, prime rib, vegetables, Yorkshire pudding, dessert and beverage —and champagne during the meal.

Entertainment will feature music for dancing and a vocalist.

FOR THE NEXT TWO WEEKS you will continue to find the Rice Table in San Rafael closed while owner Leonie Hool and husband Bill enjoy a vacation in Indonesia. They expect to return on Jan. 13.

This is a well deserved Christmas holiday for them — but it's also their third anniversary, which they are celebrating in Leonie's home town.

THERE IS A NEW ATTRACTION these days at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur. She is Madame Tanya, fortune teller and palmist, who gives hand or card readings every lunchtime and on Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings during the dinner hours. (Her charge is $2). She was at the Mexican Room in the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, about a year and also for a time at the Four Seasons in Chinatown. During this time she stirred up a lot of interest, which apparently she is now well on her way to doing in Marin.

Marin Dining And Wining

Look for her New Year's Eve, when Lark Creek Inn is expected to play to a full house. Reservations are now being taken, though Skip Sommer will attempt to seat everyone with or without a reservation. Champagne (on the house) will be served at midnight.

YORK FISCHER, who operates the Fondue Pot in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, is expanding.

He plans another establishment to be known as the Fondue Kitchen and located at 455 Magnolia Avenue in downtown Larkspur. If everything moves along as quickly as he anticipates, this should be open about the middle of February. Wines and beers will be served and it will be open for both lunches and dinners.

The Corte Madera restaurant will be open New Year's Eve. York tells me he has a special on champagne running that night.

A NICE TESTIMONIAL to the quality of its food has been received at the Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael by Dino Santrizos, in the form of a plaque from the French government marketing officer in behalf of the Roquefort Association of that country for "outstanding use of Roquefort and original salad dressing." It seems, too, that this pub is the largest user of Roquefort among comparable operations in Northern California.

Marin Pizza Pub will be open New Year's Eve. Bill McCoy will be at the large Roger Morton pipe organ.

Not by this Sunday night, but sometime in January, look for wine to be served here. Application for a license is pending.

BOLINAS ARCHITECT Victor Borgstrom is now finishing plans for restoring the old Olema Hotel in West Marin for Ron Brandes, and work will get down to earnest next month. It's too soon to tell when this project will be completed, but Ron is hoping it will be in the spring.

THE SLEEPING LADY RESTAURANT at 58 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, has announced plans to have comedian Frank Kidder and pop singer Kendall Kerdt at 9 p.m. tomorrow night.

And Frank, along with Bronze Hog, will also appear at the Inn of the Beginning, 2801 Old Redwood Highway at 9 p.m. New Year's Eve.

CERTAINLY WORTHY of serious consideration for your New Year's Eve pleasure is New Joe's No. 2 in Corte Madera — where the Rafters used to be in the Edgewater Inn.

New Joe owners have gone to considerable effort in redecorating both dining rooms, lounge and entry in this place with very pleasing results.

On New Year's Eve there will be a special menu from 5 to 11 p.m. featuring such entrees as veal cutlet, scallopini, scampi, prime rib, New York strip and filet mignon. Food will also be served after that up to about 2 a.m. according to a less extensive menu.

Bernie Whaley will be at the Baldwin organ that night, spelling Doris Gurley, who plays Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fairfax Driver Is Arrested On Drug Charge

A Fairfax man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possessing heroin, narcotics paraphernalia and driving under the influence of drugs after he was stopped by a highway patrolman who observed him driving erratically.

Officers said Charles Alfred Wilson, 22, of 27 Mariele Drive, was stopped about 12:45 a.m. on Bellam Boulevard near Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael.

The highway patrol said Wilson exhibited symptoms of intoxication, but no odor of alcohol and a check revealed fresh needle marks on his arm. A search of his auto turned up a hypodermic needle and syringe and a plastic bag containing suspected heroin, officers reported.

Wilson was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Attorney Booted By State Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court has indefinitely disbarred a San Francisco attorney sentenced to prison earlier this month for bribing a witness.

Michael Hanley was sentenced to six months to 10 years in prison after pleading guilty to paying a murder witness $200 to leave town during his client's preliminary hearing.

The court's action was announced Wednesday.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Year's Eve Or Not, Ondine's Will Offer Top Quality Cuisine

By tradition, New Year's Eve seems to be a time for "letting go," canceling out inhibitions, bridging across from the frustrations and disappointments of the old year to the hopes and expectations of the next 12 months.

There are scores of dineries and night spots quite willing to help those who require a certain amount of hoopla to experience complete fulfillment.

But there are also scores of lighthearted persons who do not appear to need this ultra-stimulation, nor do they especially seek it. At the same time, tradition is strong and New Year's Eve does call for some sort of celebration, simply because it's a milepost, a time division in our pattern of living. So the more self-sufficient usually concede that "it would be nice to go out for dinner" but where they can enjoy the food rather than the fanfare.

One of the Marin dineries that observes its own New Year's traditions and draws this latter group to its tables is Ondine in Sausalito. Here there is plenty of gaiety, but possibly not much more pronounced than on certain other weekends.

And having been credited rather widely with certain standards, this restaurant is one that is obliged to maintain them, for discriminating food buffs are not inclined to make allowances simply because it's New Year's Eve. Chef Alfred Roblin's poulet saute Patricia, his quenelles and souffles must be no less appealing than they are on the quiet evenings.

Of course, you'll have to make reservations.

AND GALLI'S at Ignacio is another place that makes less ado over the day of the year than the food of the day. As long as I have been acquainted with this family operation it has not budged one centimeter from its "dinners as usual" policy on New Year's Eve.

That means thick, juicy steaks, sumptious Italian dishes and side dishes. But you can, if you like, bring along your own spirit of auld lang syne.

BUSINESS AS USUAL, regular menu and regular prices will also prevail New Year's at Ramona's on downtown C Street, San Rafael. It will be closed on New Year's Day.

THE GROTTO on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, will be open New Year's Eve from 4 p.m., also serving its regular seafood menu, but will close Monday, New Year's Day.

DEER PARK VILLA in Fairfax will be open Sunday from 4 p.m. serving a special New Year's Eve menu priced from about $5.25 to $7.50. You should definitely make reservations. Deer Park will also serve dinners on New Year's Day from 4 p.m.

SCOMA'S OF SAUSALITO is open again after a few days of refurbishing and house-cleaning, with its gourmet seafood specialties.

But manager Terence Fischer, who was five years at Ernie's in San Francisco, believes in variety and has added a dish which is a departure from seafood — veal parmigiana, cooked in the true Italian style.

Scoma's is another place serving its regular menu on New Year's Eve. It will be closed New Year's Day.

THE EXECUTIVE LOUNGE at the top of the Reynold C. Johnson Building in San Rafael is planning a gala New Year's Eve, with three dinner seatings at 6, 8 and 10 p.m. Reservations should be made ahead.

ALFRED ROBLIN
Ondine's foodmaster

Early diners who want to stick around for the activity will find lots of room in the cocktail lounge after eating. Dinners are priced at $19.50 per couple (including tax and tip). This offers a relish tray, salad, prime rib, vegetables, Yorkshire pudding, dessert and beverage —and champagne during the meal.

Entertainment will feature music for dancing and a vocalist.

FOR THE NEXT TWO WEEKS you will continue to find the Rice Table in San Rafael closed while owner Leonie Hool and husband Bill enjoy a vacation in Indonesia. They expect to return on Jan. 13.

This is a well deserved Christmas holiday for them — but it's also their third anniversary, which they are celebrating in Leonie's home town.

THERE IS A NEW ATTRACTION these days at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur. She is Madame Tanya, fortune teller and palmist, who gives hand or card readings every lunchtime and on Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings during the dinner hours. (Her charge is $2). She was at the Mexican Room in the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, about a year and also for a time at the Four Seasons in Chinatown. During this time she stirred up a lot of interest, which apparently she is now well on her way to doing in Marin.

Marin Dining And Wining

Look for her New Year's Eve, when Lark Creek Inn is expected to play to a full house. Reservations are now being taken, though Skip Sommer will attempt to seat everyone with or without a reservation. Champagne (on the house) will be served at midnight.

YORK FISCHER, who operates the Fondue Pot in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, is expanding.

He plans another establishment to be known as the Fondue Kitchen and located at 455 Magnolia Avenue in downtown Larkspur. If everything moves along as quickly as he anticipates, this should be open about the middle of February. Wines and beers will be served and it will be open for both lunches and dinners.

The Corte Madera restaurant will be open New Year's Eve. York tells me he has a special on champagne running that night.

A NICE TESTIMONIAL to the quality of its food has been received at the Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael by Dino Santrizos, in the form of a plaque from the French government marketing officer in behalf of the Roquefort Association of that country for "outstanding use of Roquefort and original salad dressing." It seems, too, that this pub is the largest user of Roquefort among comparable operations in Northern California.

Marin Pizza Pub will be open New Year's Eve. Bill McCoy will be at the large Roger Morton pipe organ.

Not by this Sunday night, but sometime in January, look for wine to be served here. Application for a license is pending.

BOLINAS ARCHITECT Victor Borgstrom is now finishing plans for restoring the old Olema Hotel in West Marin for Ron Brandes, and work will get down to earnest next month. It's too soon to tell when this project will be completed, but Ron is hoping it will be in the spring.

THE SLEEPING LADY RESTAURANT at 58 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, has announced plans to have comedian Frank Kidder and pop singer Kendall Kerdt at 9 p.m. tomorrow night.

And Frank, along with Bronze Hog, will also appear at the Inn of the Beginning, 2801 Old Redwood Highway at 9 p.m. New Year's Eve.

CERTAINLY WORTHY of serious consideration for your New Year's Eve pleasure is New Joe's No. 2 in Corte Madera — where the Rafters used to be in the Edgewater Inn.

New Joe owners have gone to considerable effort in redecorating both dining rooms, lounge and entry in this place with very pleasing results.

On New Year's Eve there will be a special menu from 5 to 11 p.m. featuring such entrees as veal cutlet, scallopini, scampi, prime rib, New York strip and filet mignon. Food will also be served after that up to about 2 a.m. according to a less extensive menu.

Bernie Whaley will be at the Baldwin organ that night, spelling Doris Gurley, who plays Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fairfax Driver Is Arrested On Drug Charge

A Fairfax man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possessing heroin, narcotics paraphernalia and driving under the influence of drugs after he was stopped by a highway patrolman who observed him driving erratically.

Officers said Charles Alfred Wilson, 22, of 27 Mariele Drive, was stopped about 12:45 a.m. on Bellam Boulevard near Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael.

The highway patrol said Wilson exhibited symptoms of intoxication, but no odor of alcohol and a check revealed fresh needle marks on his arm. A search of his auto turned up a hypodermic needle and syringe and a plastic bag containing suspected heroin, officers reported.

Wilson was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Attorney Booted By State Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court has indefinitely disbarred a San Francisco attorney sentenced to prison earlier this month for bribing a witness.

Michael Hanley was sentenced to six months to 10 years in prison after pleading guilty to paying a murder witness $200 to leave town during his client's preliminary hearing.

The court's action was announced Wednesday.

HER ELDERLY RINGERS ARE IN DEMAND

Handbells Have Special Appeal To Greenbrae Woman

By BETTY FROST

When the New Year bells peal, they will have a special significance for Mrs. Paul H. Buchholz of Greenbrae.

Mrs. Buchholz is a handbell expert. She is the founder and director of the San Francisco Senior Center's Handbell Ringers. The organization, composed of 13 women from the center, has appeared on television programs and is in demand for concerts at civic and charitable functions. The Ringers appeared in Marin at the Sausalito Woman's Club Christmas program recently.

Handbell ringing, popular in Europe for centuries, is relatively new to the United States, according to Mrs. Buchholz. The best bells are hand cast in England and have flexible leather straps. In England, the technique of "change ringing," using progressive musical tones, has been perfected. In the United States most ringers use harmonic ringing.

Some 50 years ago Mrs. Margaret Shurcliff of the United States went to England to learn more about the melodious bells. She became so interested in the music of the bells that when she returned to Boston she organized the Beacon Hill Bell Ringers, which Mrs. Buchholz said was the first organization of ringers formed in the United States.

THE HANDBELLS used by the San Francisco choir were manufactured by the Schulmerich Company of Sellersville, Pa. This firm has made carillons for many years, but they began manufacturing handbells less than 10 years ago. The bells are made of an alloy, with firm plastic straps, and have been electronically tuned. The 25 bells, costing $900, were delivered to the Senior Center at Aquatic Park in January, 1964.

"The board had voted to pay for the bells out of capital," Mrs. Buchholz recalled, "but memorial gifts, more than adequate to pay for the bells, were contributed, so they are known as the 'memorial handbells.' "

Mrs. Buchholz had joined the handbell group at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo, where she worked with Will Russell, church organist who teaches at the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, and who directs the church handbell choir.

She was familiar with the bells. She had also been working with the San Francisco Senior Center since 1955, as program director. There she was associated with Miss Florence Vickery of Mill Valley, who was the director of the center. The two Marin women felt a need for adding to the program. The Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Buchholz, was popular, and a group of 16 center members were active in the Madrigal Singers. By the summer of 1963 they had decided that a handbell choir would be a useful addition to the program.

Working with elderly people, some of whom suffer impairment of vision, hearing or movement, provided interesting challenges for the new enterprise. Their director cannot say enough about "the spirit and courage of the ringers. They insist that the show must go on, regardless of any ailments. They are punctual for rehearsals and performances, and their loyalty is an inspiration."

Establishing the choir required the cooperation of others in the center. The men in the woodshop made special music racks and portable tables with special padded tops to stop the ringing when the bells are put down. Special skirts for the tables were also made at the center.

THE BELLS are held with the open end up for ringing. A number of musical effects can be obtained by holding them for short and long notes. They are graduated in size. The women wear gloves while ringing, to prevent blisters and bruises as the bell collar can chafe with constant use.

The choir practices once a week and averages three performances a month. The holiday season is especially busy for them. They are available for organizations, but transportation for the heavy equipment is needed. There is no charge for their appearances. However many organizations make a gift to the ringers to express appreciation for their programs.

"These honorariums enable us to buy more music," Mrs. Buchholz said.

Mrs. Buchholz brings to her work a solid musical background. As a child, she learned to play the piano from her mother in Beason, Ill., where she grew up. She showed such progress that her parents arranged for her to go by train from Beason to Lincoln, Ill., each Saturday for instruction from Max Swarthout at the Conservatory of Music at Milliken College. Swarthout was from the same musical family as opera star Gladys Swarthout, Mrs. Buchholz explained.

The music student attended Lindenwood College at St. Charles, Mo., for one year. She returned to Milliken, where she obtained the bachelor of science degree and the master's degree, as well as a credential to teach in the public schools of Illinois.

She taught in high schools in Hoopeston, and Springfield, Ill., in high schools, directed a capella choirs, became involved with choral groups and did solo work on the piano. Later Mrs. Buchholz went to work with the Young Men's Christian Association in Springfield. There she worked with boys and girls, conducting youth choirs.

THE YMCA assigned her to San Francisco to direct the metropolitan young adult program. In 1955 she began her association with the San Francisco Senior Center. Last year she retired from full time activities, but continues to work with the handbell choir once a week.

Her husband is a Presbyterian minister who, she said, "has retired several times." He is assistant minister of St. John's Presbyterian Church in San Francisco, devoting much of his time to visiting the ill and elderly of the congregation, and is chaplain of the Heritage, a home for the aged in San Francisco. Mrs. Buchholz is the organist for the Heritage.

The Reverend and Mrs. Buchholz have lived in Greenbrae for 10 years. In their home Mrs. Buchholz plays the piano for her own pleasure and enjoys knitting.

The two love to travel and have taken leisurely cruises to the Orient and the South Pacific, and to Northern Europe. They enjoy British Columbia and are considering a trip to Victoria during 1973.

"RING OUT the old," ring in the new. Mrs. Paul H. Buchholz of Greenbrae, rings the melodious handbells. She is the director of the Handbell Ringers of the San Francisco Senior Center. The group, organized 10 years ago, is in frequent demand for holiday programs. She wears gloves to protect her hands while ringing.

EQUAL RIGHTS, POLITICS

Another Year Of Changes Seen

By BARBARA HOSMER

Heavy changes may be in the air for women in the New Year, continuing much that happened in 1972.

The Equal Rights Amendment building legal equality for women into the U.S. Constitution, passed Congress last April after a 49 year struggle, and has been ratified by 22 of the 38 states needed to make it law. California ratified early last month after months of log-jam in the Senate Rules Committee.

Already some states began to study laws that will need to be changed to eliminate inequalities on the basis of sex, and some passed state ERAs. Following full ratification, a two-year period will allow states and the federal government to bring current laws into compliance before the amendment goes into effect.

ERA passage by Congress came only after a concerted and skillfully organized effort by women's groups and strong leadership by Rep. Martha Griffiths, who managed to get it reported out of committee.

The fact that it was an election year was thought to have helped its passage, as women were seen as a more important voter block than ever before.

THE ERA'S successful launch was indicative of the greater emphasis women put on participation in the legislative and the political arenas. Women became a more skilled and organized lobby both in Washington and at state level, and the ERA drew a large number of the influential women's groups under one umbrella. The ERA support list read like a who's who of women's groups, ranging from the old, established General Federation of Women's Clubs to the frankly feminist organizations.

The tide of the women's liberation movement was causing women, who claimed no affiliation with it, to stand and be counted wherever they were across the country, and many women broke ground into previously male job areas while others found themselves elevated to new job titles.

Much of it was the result of federal laws and new regulations which had been systematically lobbied by women's groups. A legislative landmark called Revised Order 4 of the Department of Labor took effect in April, requiring federal contractors to "take affirmative action to remedy effects of past discrimination and to counteract barriers to equal employment opportunities." Since most large corporations, universities and colleges receive federal monies, required affirmative action began to open job opportunities to women.

Also earlier laws were more frequently implemented for sex discrimination complaints: the Equal Pay Act of 1963 and the Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. To date some $42 million has been awarded in back pay in discrimination cases, largely by women. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission won greater jurisdiction and more effectively administered Title VII, and the Office of Contract Complaince, Department of Labor, enforced Revised Order 4.

WITH THE legal handwriting written, employers increasingly are having to deal with active recruitment of women and improvement of their upward mobility. It means changes in sex discriminatory job descriptions and possible restructuring of the work to give part-time work to women and men alike.

Some break for women with children came in a new tax law. Married women and single head-of-household women may deduct up to $4,800 a year for child care and household help if they return to fulltime jobs. But Uncle Sam's gift may immediately prove more benevolent than useful for women who as a group had a median income of only $5,323 in 1970 and seemed unlikely to afford to spend much on child care anyway.

The news wasn't entirely hopeful for women. Volunteers, though encouraged by the administration, were given no tax break for their efforts, women faced strong discrimination in the world of credit and finance, job ads continued to seek salesmen and "gal Fridays" in many places and equal pay and equal job opportunities were still difficult.

Worse, as nearly one-half of all women worked, wages of women continued to be only 59 per cent of what men earned for fulltime work — a wider gap from 15 years ago when women earned at a rate of 64 cents for every dollar men did, the Department of Labor reported. Also, the unemployment rate for women of all races remained substantially higher than for men.

California bills to alleviate finance and credit discrimination failed passage. A congressional committee held hearings in Washington, D.C., and Rep. Bella Abzug's bills are still pending in Congress. Meantime, the Federal Trade Commission sought to apply its existing regulations to such cases of discrimination against women.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY laws in California which give the husband control of the joint property failed revision this year, although an interim committee studied the situation, and legislation is likely to be introduced next session in Sacramento.

The California Commission on the Status of Women held statewide hearings on women's problems and may recommend new legislation also.

Big things for women could happen in the courts. The Supreme Court said it would rule on two abortion cases and on newspaper help-wanted ads that designate male and female job columns.

The court also said it would review the case of Air Force Lt. Sharron A. Frontierro, who claimed that the Defense Department denied her full housing and medical benefits although she was partially supporting her husband while it granted them to military men and their wives.

The more publicized case of Capt. Susan R. Struck, dismissed from the Air Force because of pregnancy in 1970, the Supreme Court sent back to the U.S. Court of Appeals because the government claimed that circumstances have changed since Captain Struck's discharge and that question must be determined by the appeals court.

Women have filed class action suits against public and private employers, many of them the nation's largest corporations, and many cases are currently wending their way through the legal processes. As more women were admitted to law schools, the future looked brighter for more women's rights lawyers to press anti-discrimination cases.

CALIFORNIA'S SUPREME Court struck down the part of the Therapeutic Abortion Act of 1967 that required hospital board approval for abortions, leaving California women able to obtain abortion through a willing doctor and an accredited hospital. Clinic abortion is still illegal, however.

Pro and anti abortion advocates began to face off in California earlier this year as Pro Life organized in every state and here attempted to turn back the clock with stricter abortion legislation. It was killed in committee. Look for the controversy to be renewed in the coming year with further proposed legislation.

Nationally, court cases were pending and some states attempted to make laws stricter or more liberal, but little change was enacted. The Commission on Population Growth and the American Future's report stated that half of Americans surveyed believed that abortion should be a decision left to a woman and her physician.

The political conventions side-stepped the issue as too hot to handle. The heavy reaction of television viewers to the "Maude" series in which the matronly Maude underwent an abortion sent the show to top 10 ratings, a portent of further action and controversy in 1973 concerning abortion.

WELFARE RECIPIENTS, 90 per cent of whom are mothers and children, didn't fare too well. In California welfare mothers and prospective mothers were targets of measures to curtail their child-bearing. The governor's welfare advisory board recommended that the state take away the third illegitimate child born to any woman and place it for adoption on the legal assumption that she had shown herself "morally depraved." If the unwed mother were 16 or under, the first child could be taken from her. A storm of protest emerged and some legislators said the plan stood no chance. Revision was underway.

New regulations for the pregnant woman on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program cut her monthly allowance back drastically, reasoning that until a child is born it needs no food, shelter or extra household allotment.

In 1972 women were entering job areas at both managerial and also at blue collar level in trades such as carpentry and plumbing, but in very small numbers. The trend will continue next year as women push into new job areas.

This year, too, Lucinda Franks became the first woman to win the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting; Joan Leopold was the first woman selected as a Rhodes scholar in 71 years of the award; three women won the top prizes at Columbia Law School, and female students won top science awards.

A court ruling stated that California girls could be newspaper carriers, and confirming legislation is expected to be introduced in Sacramento next year. New Jersey just passed such a bill.

A national honor committee was set up to name prominent American women of the past and present to a new national Women's Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls, N.Y., site of the first women's rights convention in 1848.

Some 800 women's studies courses were being held, and books about women's rights and women's plight were numerous this year. Ms. Magazine was successfully launched by Gloria Steinem and is just about running in the black.

The Ford Foundation granted money to develop a resource center to counter sex bias in elementary and secondary education and also to study households headed by women, many of which are in the poverty income level.

THE NATIONAL Education Association embarked on a nationwide campaign to "reduce the negative effects" of sex role stereotypes put on small girls and boys and the mental pictures of "male" and "female" in public attitudes. By 1972 feminists had Dr. Spock changing his mind about the way children should be reared and saying that everything possible should be done to counteract sex prejudice in bringing up boys and girls.

The U.S. birth rate dropped to nearly zero population growth, 2.1 children per family, and studies showed that women in the future will work. A bride's magazine survey showed 94 per cent of brides-to-be expected to work fulltime after marriage. A Stanford survey concurred.

POLITICALLY, WOMEN made just under a 20 per cent rise in numbers elected to state legislatures this year, said the National Women's Political Caucus, and Doris Messner of NWPC said, "We're beginning to create a climateof acceptance of women in public office. We'll be doing a lot of building at state and local levels in 1973. . . that's the base on which national leadership builds."

Just this month, after pressure from women's groups all year, President Nixon appointed Anne Armstrong to cabinet rank as counselor to the President and among her duties will be advocacy of an increased role for women in the government. Mrs. Armstrong was Republican National Committee co-chairman, while Jean Westwood was the first woman to head the Democratic National Committee, until deposed last month. California sent its first black woman to Congress in the person of Yvonne Braithwaite Burke, former Assemblywoman, where she will join prominent black Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, Presidential candidate in the primary.

The military gave new recognition to its women and the Navy appointed its first woman admiral, while female personnel were allowed to apply for sea duty in noncombat jobs. Women also became FBI agents, one won a court battle to umpire baseball and a few were elected to corporate boards of directors including the New York Stock Exchange and General Motors.

NONE OF the gains, token or larger, came without concerted campaigns by women themselves, whether feminist groups, women's caucuses within a profession or company, or through non-discrimination laws, lobbied and implemented by women.

Many filed class action suits against public and private agencies and employers, many of the suits grinding their way through the legal processes with some results due next year. More women studied law with plans to take up the cudgels on behalf of women's rights.

Generally, this year brought a greater awareness to women themselves of the inequities and problems they face and an avowal on the part of organized groups to press the common issues of job equality, reproductive and other health concerns, welfare reforms, social security inequities, child care aids, equality and fair treatment in education, political participation and full ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

THe next 12 months promise plenty of action for women.

Women have filed class action suits against public and private employers, many of them the nation's largest corporations, and many cases are currently wending their way through the legal processes. As more women were admitted to law schools, the future looked brighter for more women's rights lawyers to press anti-discrimination cases.

CALIFORNIA'S SUPREME Court struck down the part of the Therapeutic Abortion Act of 1967 that required hospital board approval for abortions, leaving California women able to obtain abortion through a willing doctor and an accredited hospital. Clinic abortion is still illegal, however.

Pro and anti abortion advocates began to face off in California earlier this year as Pro Life organized in every state and here attempted to turn back the clock with stricter abortion legislation. It was killed in committee. Look for the controversy to be renewed in the coming year with further proposed legislation.

Nationally, court cases were pending and some states attempted to make laws stricter or more liberal, but little change was enacted. The Commission on Population Growth and the American Future's report stated that half of Americans surveyed believed that abortion should be a decision left to a woman and her physician.

The political conventions side-stepped the issue as too hot to handle. The heavy reaction of television viewers to the "Maude" series in which the matronly Maude underwent an abortion sent the show to top 10 ratings, a portent of further action and controversy in 1973 concerning abortion.

WELFARE RECIPIENTS, 90 per cent of whom are mothers and children, didn't fare too well. In California welfare mothers and prospective mothers were targets of measures to curtail their child-bearing. The governor's welfare advisory board recommended that the state take away the third illegitimate child born to any woman and place it for adoption on the legal assumption that she had shown herself "morally depraved." If the unwed mother were 16 or under, the first child could be taken from her. A storm of protest emerged and some legislators said the plan stood no chance. Revision was underway.

New regulations for the pregnant woman on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program cut her monthly allowance back drastically, reasoning that until a child is born it needs no food, shelter or extra household allotment.

In 1972 women were entering job areas at both managerial and also at blue collar level in trades such as carpentry and plumbing, but in very small numbers. The trend will continue next year as women push into new job areas.

This year, too, Lucinda Franks became the first woman to win the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting; Joan Leopold was the first woman selected as a Rhodes scholar in 71 years of the award; three women won the top prizes at Columbia Law School, and female students won top science awards.

A court ruling stated that California girls could be newspaper carriers, and confirming legislation is expected to be introduced in Sacramento next year. New Jersey just passed such a bill.

A national honor committee was set up to name prominent American women of the past and present to a new national Women's Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls, N.Y., site of the first women's rights convention in 1848.

Some 800 women's studies courses were being held, and books about women's rights and women's plight were numerous this year. Ms. Magazine was successfully launched by Gloria Steinem and is just about running in the black.

The Ford Foundation granted money to develop a resource center to counter sex bias in elementary and secondary education and also to study households headed by women, many of which are in the poverty income level.

THE NATIONAL Education Association embarked on a nationwide campaign to "reduce the negative effects" of sex role stereotypes put on small girls and boys and the mental pictures of "male" and "female" in public attitudes. By 1972 feminists had Dr. Spock changing his mind about the way children should be reared and saying that everything possible should be done to counteract sex prejudice in bringing up boys and girls.

The U.S. birth rate dropped to nearly zero population growth, 2.1 children per family, and studies showed that women in the future will work. A bride's magazine survey showed 94 per cent of brides-to-be expected to work fulltime after marriage. A Stanford survey concurred.

POLITICALLY, WOMEN made just under a 20 per cent rise in numbers elected to state legislatures this year, said the National Women's Political Caucus, and Doris Messner of NWPC said, "We're beginning to create a climateof acceptance of women in public office. We'll be doing a lot of building at state and local levels in 1973. . . that's the base on which national leadership builds."

Just this month, after pressure from women's groups all year, President Nixon appointed Anne Armstrong to cabinet rank as counselor to the President and among her duties will be advocacy of an increased role for women in the government. Mrs. Armstrong was Republican National Committee co-chairman, while Jean Westwood was the first woman to head the Democratic National Committee, until deposed last month. California sent its first black woman to Congress in the person of Yvonne Braithwaite Burke, former Assemblywoman, where she will join prominent black Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, Presidential candidate in the primary.

The military gave new recognition to its women and the Navy appointed its first woman admiral, while female personnel were allowed to apply for sea duty in noncombat jobs. Women also became FBI agents, one won a court battle to umpire baseball and a few were elected to corporate boards of directors including the New York Stock Exchange and General Motors.

NONE OF the gains, token or larger, came without concerted campaigns by women themselves, whether feminist groups, women's caucuses within a profession or company, or through non-discrimination laws, lobbied and implemented by women.

Many filed class action suits against public and private agencies and employers, many of the suits grinding their way through the legal processes with some results due next year. More women studied law with plans to take up the cudgels on behalf of women's rights.

Generally, this year brought a greater awareness to women themselves of the inequities and problems they face and an avowal on the part of organized groups to press the common issues of job equality, reproductive and other health concerns, welfare reforms, social security inequities, child care aids, equality and fair treatment in education, political participation and full ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

THe next 12 months promise plenty of action for women.

Growth Of Divorce Listings Gives Her Cause For Concern

DEAR HELEN:

In our city, the divorce listings in the vital statistics columns of the paper have recently been almost as long as the marriage listings. Likewise other cities.

Does this mean that every marriage will now end in divorce? — TOO RISKY, THO WED EIGHT YEARS

DEAR TRTWEY:

No! The divorce listings in your paper represent marriages dissolved after anywhere from one week to 50 years' duration. Marriage statistics are for that one particular day. Moreover, many people uncouple several times each —and they raise the odds for the happily-weds.

A U.S. Government survey (made in 1967 but still fairly valid) indicates that 17 per cent of marriage-age women and 15 per cent of men in the same under-70 bracket are now divorced. You've still got a fighting chance. — H.

P.S. Here's my strictly nonscientific "divorce probability test," based on the theory that we tend to adopt the life styles of our associates:

Check your Christmas card list. How many persons on it are divorced? If over half of your friends have experienced a marriage break-up, it's quite logical to assume their actions might be "catching," should your battles start. But if only one out of every eight or ten people listed have hit the courts, then maybe you too will work a little harder to preserve your union. N'est ce pas?

DEAR HELEN:

I have a problem with my husband's insecurity and incapability to make decisions. When he was young, his father always called him dumb. This must have affected his self-confidence. He has a good job — we have a lovely apartment and a beautiful son — but he still downgrades himself.

I want him to be the decision maker, not me. It seems that I'm the strong one, and that's the man's role — to stand up and fight for his family.

He's sweet and loving and good at his work, but why can't he be forceful? I want someone to lean on, too. How can a man change his personality? — TROUBLED

P.S. This is threatening our marriage.

DEAR TROUBLED:

Basic, born-in-the-genes traits seldom reverse themselves, but they can be tempered with the right amount of ego-building. Criticism won't do it, as your husband's father discovered, nor will expecting the impossible — followers hardly ever become all-out leaders, no matter how they're prodded.

(And, really, would you want a total "leader?" I suspect you married this man for his kindness and gentleness, while he may have been drawn to the forcefulness in you. Opposites often attract because they need each other.)

Group therapy might help you both to realize how well-matched you are. Meanwhile, you can build self-esteem in dozens of ways: honest compliments, approval of a man for what he is, pride in his accomplishments, understanding of his failures, humor over your mutual "goofs," large portions of love, confidence, trust. . .Even though they don't change him completely, they'll make your marriage a lot better. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When you'd like to tell your stinker of a boss to go to hell but don't dare, and you're about to explode, what do you do? — BUGGED, BOTHERED AND BOGGLED

DEAR B.B. AND B.:

Find a better job first, then tell your boss — whatever seems appropriate. — H.

P.S. It's said that tact is being able to tell someone to go to hell in such a way that he'll enjoy the trip. Are you tactful enough to try it?

ON BEING BLACK

A Montage Of The Events Of 1972

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

1972, the year. . .

Jackie Robinson, a symbol of courage and talent to a whole generation of black folks, died.

Eleven-year-old Gregory, black and crippled (hence, hard to place), left the last of a lifelong series of foster homes to be legally adopted by an adoring family. He now has four ("Yeah, four!" he grins) sisters who are delighted to have a brother.

A mixup in timetables deprived two of our most promising black sprinters of the opportunity to demonstrate their athletic prowess on the track field at the Olympic Games.

ANGELA DAVIS, after almost 22 months of worldwide attention, was acquitted.

Far too many brothers continued to rip off other brothers. Said one such brother (I use the word questioningly): "A hustle is a hustle. When you spend a dollar, don't nobody ask you where you got it."

Africa became even closer to our shores, with record numbers of blacks touring the motherland under the auspices of the African-American Institute.

A national political convention was chaired by a black woman for the first time in history.

A full-scale race riot erupted aboard an American military vessel. According to black military personnel, such racial conflicts are not unusual, just unpublicized.

Billy Holiday was eulogized via the cinema.

All the black national political incumbents were re-elected to office.

Drug pushers were glamorized in the name of black image.

LOCAL BLACK Expos made significant contributions informing the public of the various efforts being made on the part of blacks in all professions and on all levels of interest.

"Sounder" was presented to the public. This is one of the few black movies thus far that all blacks (and whites) can relate to.

A black teacher committed suicide over the racial strife at his school. He left a three-page suicide note to the student body of Beechr High School.

Wayne Collett and Vince Matthews, without a hearing, were banned for life from further Olympic competition by the International Committee for what it called a "disgusting display."

Newspaper reporters were threatened with imprisonment for failure to disclose sources of information — the year of freedom of the press?

Prichard, Ala., elected its first black mayor, Algernon (Jay) Cooper.

"He may be a nigger, but he's the smartest mayor we ever had," said one of the white residents of the 50 per cent blue-collar white and 50 per cent impoverished black locality.

A black pilot was among the three POWs released and returned to the States. The war continues to continue to continue.

BLACK SEPTEMBER referred not to the integration of white schools by black children but rather an international Arab terrorist group.

Two black college students were shot and killed during a campus demonstration. Why?

Skyjacking became a regular occurrence, with a fair share of blacks joining the ranks of the infamous.

The U.S. Public Health Service disclosed it had (for 40 years) conducted a study in which poor uneducated Alabama black males were not treated for syphilis in an attempt to study the long-term effects of untreated syphilis. The horror is that treatment was withheld even after penicillin was found to be almost totally effective against syphilis.

Incentive for participation in the study is a poignant social commentary of conditions for black folks in America. These men were offered free medical treatment for any other illness, free hot lunches and free burial after autopsy. That was "mighty white" of somebody. Today, 74 of the original 425 syphilitics are alive —average age is 74. Black genocide a baseless phrase?

Richard Pryor should receive the Here and Now Black Man of the moment award. His social commentary is heavy and funny. Don't miss him in the soon-to-be-released "Wattstax."

Record numbers of blacks exercised their right to vote and became politically involved.

We bring to a close to make space for '73, knowing there is much work yet to be done, knowing that no matter what we must "keep on caring."

Eleven-year-old Gregory, black and crippled (hence, hard to place), left the last of a lifelong series of foster homes to be legally adopted by an adoring family. He now has four ("Yeah, four!" he grins) sisters who are delighted to have a brother.

A mixup in timetables deprived two of our most promising black sprinters of the opportunity to demonstrate their athletic prowess on the track field at the Olympic Games.

ANGELA DAVIS, after almost 22 months of worldwide attention, was acquitted.

Far too many brothers continued to rip off other brothers. Said one such brother (I use the word questioningly): "A hustle is a hustle. When you spend a dollar, don't nobody ask you where you got it."

Africa became even closer to our shores, with record numbers of blacks touring the motherland under the auspices of the African-American Institute.

A national political convention was chaired by a black woman for the first time in history.

A full-scale race riot erupted aboard an American military vessel. According to black military personnel, such racial conflicts are not unusual, just unpublicized.

Billy Holiday was eulogized via the cinema.

All the black national political incumbents were re-elected to office.

Drug pushers were glamorized in the name of black image.

LOCAL BLACK Expos made significant contributions informing the public of the various efforts being made on the part of blacks in all professions and on all levels of interest.

"Sounder" was presented to the public. This is one of the few black movies thus far that all blacks (and whites) can relate to.

A black teacher committed suicide over the racial strife at his school. He left a three-page suicide note to the student body of Beechr High School.

Wayne Collett and Vince Matthews, without a hearing, were banned for life from further Olympic competition by the International Committee for what it called a "disgusting display."

Newspaper reporters were threatened with imprisonment for failure to disclose sources of information — the year of freedom of the press?

Prichard, Ala., elected its first black mayor, Algernon (Jay) Cooper.

"He may be a nigger, but he's the smartest mayor we ever had," said one of the white residents of the 50 per cent blue-collar white and 50 per cent impoverished black locality.

A black pilot was among the three POWs released and returned to the States. The war continues to continue to continue.

BLACK SEPTEMBER referred not to the integration of white schools by black children but rather an international Arab terrorist group.

Two black college students were shot and killed during a campus demonstration. Why?

Skyjacking became a regular occurrence, with a fair share of blacks joining the ranks of the infamous.

The U.S. Public Health Service disclosed it had (for 40 years) conducted a study in which poor uneducated Alabama black males were not treated for syphilis in an attempt to study the long-term effects of untreated syphilis. The horror is that treatment was withheld even after penicillin was found to be almost totally effective against syphilis.

Incentive for participation in the study is a poignant social commentary of conditions for black folks in America. These men were offered free medical treatment for any other illness, free hot lunches and free burial after autopsy. That was "mighty white" of somebody. Today, 74 of the original 425 syphilitics are alive —average age is 74. Black genocide a baseless phrase?

Richard Pryor should receive the Here and Now Black Man of the moment award. His social commentary is heavy and funny. Don't miss him in the soon-to-be-released "Wattstax."

Record numbers of blacks exercised their right to vote and became politically involved.

We bring to a close to make space for '73, knowing there is much work yet to be done, knowing that no matter what we must "keep on caring."

Two Experts Teach Voyagers Bridge

By MOLLY MARIN

Travelers aboard the S. S. President Cleveland for its final voyage are being taught to play bridge by Mrs. Lura Crossley of Greenbrae and syndicated bridge columnist Alfred Sheinwold, whose column appears in the Independent-Journal.

Marinites aboard for the 43-day holiday cruise are Mrs. Dorothy Mondschein and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Price, all of Novato, and Mrs. Crossley's daughter, Janet.

Ports of call on the cruise are Hawaii, Manila, Hong Kong, Taiwan and Japn. The ship returns Jan. 10.

NON TRAVELING Marin residents will be celebrating the New Year with traditional parties.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID Dooley of Tiburon are joining friends at the Meadow Club on New Year's Eve. Dining and dancing in black tie dress with them will be Messrs. and Mmes. Dwight Merriman of Ross, Jim Reese of Kentfield, Luke Helms of San Rafael, Hal Caulfield of Greenbrae and Jim Davis of Alameda.

A BUFFET for 30 friends from Marin and San Francisco will be held New Year's Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Denis Rice of Tiburon.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Frank Rowe of Riverside, the Rice's houseguests will be guests of honor at the party.

DR. AND MRS. Charles Galt of the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato will honor Mrs. Lawrence Morel of Mazatlan, Mexico, at a cocktail party New Year's Eve. Mrs. Morel is the mother of Mrs. Herbert L. Marsh of Mill Valley. Following the cocktail party, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Marsh of the Country Club Estates will have a dinner party for the guests.

A CHAMPAGNE brunch is planned on New Year's Day from 10 a.m. to noon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Bennington of Belvedere Lagoon.

They moved to their lagoon house from Piedmont on Thanksgiving, having chosen the spacious home to accommodate Josephine Bennington's grand piano and small pipe organ.

Their guests will be new Marin friends and friends connected with Children's Hosptial where Dr. Bennington is a pathologist.

SIX DEL MAR families have planned a progressive dinner for New Year's Eve in Tiburon.

Their French meal will begin at 7 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Shepard with cocktails and at 8 p.m. guests will walk to Dr. and Mrs. Paul Ogden's house for the soup course.

Salad will be served by Mr. and Mrs. John Asby at 9 p.m. and then Dr. and Mrs. Richard Baringer will seat guests at 10 p.m. at their home for the entree prepared with the help of Mr. and Mrs. William Bergmann.

The dinner will end at midnight with dessert at Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson's house, where the friends will play games.

FORTY FRIENDS will gather at the Tiburon home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barsimantos to welcome the new year. They plan a buffet and cocktails for their guests from the Tiburon and Belvedere area.

THE WILLIAM Brennans of San Anselmo decided to share their family Christmas celebration Monday with a group of foreign visitors from the International Hospitality Center. Their guests were from Tunisia, Korea, Thailand, Tanzania, Ethiopia and Vietnam.

THE CHARLES Turkingtons of San Rafael are parents of a son, Charles E. Turkington Jr., born Dec. 19 in San Francisco.

The infant, who will be called Ted, is the brother of Tom, 11, and Anne, 5. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Turkington of Atherton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold King of Kentfield.

THE CLARENCE Hands of San Rafael hosted the Marinwood Community Center Junior Carolers at their home after the young singers made their annual rounds singing for shut-ins and at convalescent hospitals.

Visit By Groom's Parents Proper

Soon after an engagement is announced it is proper for the bridegroom's parents to call upon the parents of the bride.

Perhaps the person who feels most left out of the wedding excitement is the bridegroom's mother. Thoughtful brides try to include her in as many activities as possible.

Two Accidents, Stalled Car Snarl 101 Traffic

Two minor accidents on the Waldo Grade and a stalled car on the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday brought southbound commuter hour traffic to a crawl for almost an hour.

Traffic, confined to two lanes because of the reverse bus lane, was stop-and-go between the Richardson Bay Bridge and the toll plaza of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Bridge crews pulled up lane dividers for the reverse bus lane at 5 p.m. in an attempt to free the jam. The dividers normally are pulled up at 6:30 p.m.

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, acknowledged it was "questionable" whether the reverse lane should have been used last evening. Southbound traffic was heavier than usual, he said, because many people did not work on the memorial day for former President Harry S Truman, thus increasing recreational traffic.

Ignacio Woman Said Winner In Sweepstakes

An Ignacio woman was reported Wednesday to have won $24,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes hurdle race.

Mrs. T. Bergeret of 199 Posada Del Sol was listed by the Associated Press as one of 11 third-place winners in the race, run at Leopardstown in Dublin.

Mrs. Bergeret's horse in the sweepstakes was Brendon's Road.

Mrs. Bergeret refused to comment on her win today, saying only that "it's causing a lot of problems; we don't want any more publicity."

Apartment Complex Approved

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission last night approved plans for a 100-unit apartment complex to be built by Condiotti Enterprises on Lancaster Drive near East Cotati Avenue.

Commission secretary Sandra Nelson said the commission reduced the requested units from 110 to 100 to reduce density and asked that 15 parking spaces also be removed.

Commissioners also ordered that the swimming pool and cabana be relocated to the center of the 4.7 acres to allow more open space.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

MOBILE HOMES — Approved the use permit for a mobile home park on 40 acres requested by Codding Enterprises. The park will limit occupancy by families with children to 30 per cent.

SCHOOLS — Called for passage of the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District's $1.5 million bond election on March 6.

HOME JOB — Approved a home occupation permit for David Hurst to distribute home care products from his home at 1296 Camino Coronado.

2 Cotati Apartment Developments Backed

Plans for two apartment developments were approved last night by the Cotati Planning Commission.

Richard Sievert received approval on the architecture of his proposed 40-unit apartment at 351 East Cotati Avenue.

Commission secretary Donna Olson said the commission also approved plans by Forhim Corp. to build 15 duplexes on Lincoln Avenue.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

MORATORIUM — Discussed but took no position on the building moratorium being considered by the city council. A three-month halt in building permits has been proposed to allow time to study sewage capacity.

CHURCH — Approved renewal of the use permit for the Assembly of God Church, 810 East Cotati Avenue.

MASTER PLAN — Heard planner Melvin Pedersen review the Sonoma State College area master plan, but deferred action.

COMMITTEE — Heard City Councilman Stephen Laughlin report the council is considering forming a committee to study the Plaza area.

VD Education Project Slated

A team of state education and public health experts will start work on a venereal disease education project with county schools office personnel next month, the Marin County Board of Education will be told at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the county schools office.

Marin County is one of 22 counties in the state selected on the basis of high VD incidence for the education project, said administrative assistant Roger Falge. The state officials will conduct workshops for schools personnel.

Also before the board will be a first reading on the Stull Act guidelines. Draft proposals met some opposition from teachers' organizations, with claims that while administrators get to evaluate teachers' performances, in no cases will teachers be able to evaluate administrators.

Two Boys Find Missing Bonds

Two metal boxes containing $1,600 in savings bonds that had been stolen from a San Anselmo residence on Dec. 17 were found yesterday by two 9-year-old San Rafael boys in a wooded lot near 95 Racquet Club Drive, San Rafael, police reported today.

Owner Martin J. Austin said the pair, Kevin Bender of 59 Racquet Club Drive and Hans Vogel of 132 Solano Street, will each receive a reward for returning the metal boxes, which contained the bonds as well as personal papers.

Austin said that $100 worth of old coins was missing from the boxes.

$12,393 Raised By Goldenaires

Trying to raise $200,000 for a recreation activity center, the San Rafael Goldenaires have collected $12,393, according to the group's January newsletter.

An additional $1,823 has been pledged to the building drive, begun in May.

The 730-member organization of the elderly began the push to finance a building on San Rafael-owned land at Fourth and Union streets after two San Rafael bond issues to build a center for community groups were rejected by voters.

Environment And Elections Made 1972 Headlines

This was the year of environment and elections, in the headlines of Marin County and Southern Sonoma.

Actually, it was a relatively quiet year on the local front. There was little of the drama and violence of a courthouse shoot-out or a San Quentin battle that focused nationwide attention on Marin during 1970 and 1971.

The weather made much local news — 1972 at one time or another was the driest, hottest, wettest, snowiest, and coldest year in a long, long time.

Citizens put their ecological concerns into their votes — and their taxes — to begin preserving fast-dwindling undeveloped lands as public open space. A long series of moratoriums by cities on developments, by regional agencies on sewer connections, slowed the rush to build homes and shopping centers.

City governments acquired a new catch-word — redevelopment. School districts and county officials began to lose sleep over its implied threat to their tax bases.

The controversy was not settled by year's end — nor were the seemingly endless debates over the proposed countywide general plan, low and moderate-income housing, more highways, and dozens of other issues.

Marin County and San Rafael lost two mainstay political figures when Supervisor John F. McInnis and City Councilman Harry A. Barbier died in office.

After the longest series of hearings ever held in a Marin County city, the Fairfax Board of Review voted 3-2 to uphold the firing of Police Chief James R. Orr by Town Mgr. Robert E. Crowe and the town council.

Gov. Ronald Reagan announced that San Quentin Prison would be phased out. This sparked a mental land rush by developers interested in the prime property.

The Courthouse Square in San Rafael finally was sold to a private developer.

The commercial empire of William Penn Patrick, San Rafael merchandising tycoon, was assailed by lawsuits. It was further shaken when a Patrick-owned World War II warplane slammed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor with fiery, fatal results.

The carryover controversy over possible joint civilian-military use of Hamilton Air Force Base still wasn't resolved by year's end.

The Golden Gate Bridge District supplanted Greyhound Lines in the commute bus business.

President Richard M. Nixon signed the Golden Gate National Recreation Area into existence.

Campaigns before the municipal elections in April, the primary in June and the general election in November spawned millions of words and hundreds of headlines.

Environment And Elections Made 1972 Headlines

This was the year of environment and elections, in the headlines of Marin County and Southern Sonoma.

Actually, it was a relatively quiet year on the local front. There was little of the drama and violence of a courthouse shoot-out or a San Quentin battle that focused nationwide attention on Marin during 1970 and 1971.

The weather made much local news — 1972 at one time or another was the driest, hottest, wettest, snowiest, and coldest year in a long, long time.

Citizens put their ecological concerns into their votes — and their taxes — to begin preserving fast-dwindling undeveloped lands as public open space. A long series of moratoriums by cities on developments, by regional agencies on sewer connections, slowed the rush to build homes and shopping centers.

City governments acquired a new catch-word — redevelopment. School districts and county officials began to lose sleep over its implied threat to their tax bases.

The controversy was not settled by year's end — nor were the seemingly endless debates over the proposed countywide general plan, low and moderate-income housing, more highways, and dozens of other issues.

Marin County and San Rafael lost two mainstay political figures when Supervisor John F. McInnis and City Councilman Harry A. Barbier died in office.

After the longest series of hearings ever held in a Marin County city, the Fairfax Board of Review voted 3-2 to uphold the firing of Police Chief James R. Orr by Town Mgr. Robert E. Crowe and the town council.

Gov. Ronald Reagan announced that San Quentin Prison would be phased out. This sparked a mental land rush by developers interested in the prime property.

The Courthouse Square in San Rafael finally was sold to a private developer.

The commercial empire of William Penn Patrick, San Rafael merchandising tycoon, was assailed by lawsuits. It was further shaken when a Patrick-owned World War II warplane slammed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor with fiery, fatal results.

The carryover controversy over possible joint civilian-military use of Hamilton Air Force Base still wasn't resolved by year's end.

The Golden Gate Bridge District supplanted Greyhound Lines in the commute bus business.

President Richard M. Nixon signed the Golden Gate National Recreation Area into existence.

Campaigns before the municipal elections in April, the primary in June and the general election in November spawned millions of words and hundreds of headlines.

It was also a year of continuing struggle for the people's right to know, including legal action to force the county Board of Education to abandon its policy of secrecy on who was seeking a seat on the board, and the threat of legal action to get a similar reversal of policy by the Novato City Council with regard to applicants for a seat on the planning commission.

The North Marin County Water District early in the year lost a long and hard-fought legal battle over the district board's refusal to make public names and salaries of employees and toward the year's end the City of Petaluma heeded its legal counsel's advice to release the results of a special commission's decision as to which of numerous developers would be permitted to build housing within the city's total limit of 500 units per year.

President Nixon signed the bill creating a 34,000-acre Golden Gate National Recreation Area.

NOVEMBER

Election: Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Gary T. Giacomini won supervisorial seats; the county regional park system won 2-1; Marin Municipal Water District citizens voted for fluoridation; the Terra Linda Community Service District voted annexation to San Rfael.

The Novato City Council repealed its long-standing policy of keeping secret the names of applicants appointments to the planning commission and other panels, thus heeding requests by the I-J for the names' release, and advice from the city attorney.

The Golden Gate Bridge was closed for the second time in history, to permit installing special cable replacement catwalks.

Tamalpais High School District trustees reacted to the storm of protest that broke over their heads on revelation of runaway expense account spending (junkets costing $44,000 the previous year) and established a $25 per diem limit on expenses.

A one-day machinist union strike halted the Golden Gate buses, stranding 7,000 riders and clogging Highway 101 for hours.

Eight San Rafael residents applied for the city council seat vacated by the death of Harry A. Barbier. The seat remained unfilled through year's end, and will go on the ballot in April 1973.

The flaming crash of an Air Force F-106 killed a pilot and injured five horsemen near Novato.

Sausalito planning chief H. Eric Borgwardt quit in a dispute over working conditions and budgeting.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino suggested that public agency officials could attend unannounced meetings by claiming to have just dropped in as an unofficial visitor, thus skirting the Ralph M. Brown antisecrecy in government act.

Marin County supervisors finished rezoning 220,000 acres of agricultural preserves, mostly for minimum 60-acre lots.

DECEMBER

Six inches of snow fell on Mount Tamalpais, and record low temperatures of 10 degrees in Point Reyes and 15 in Marinwood wreaked havoc with water pipes and gardens.

Tamalpais High School District trustees made Tam High educational leader Lawrence Sheppard send back $5,475 worth of new furniture ordered for his office, whereupon Shepherd bounced another administrator lower in the pecking order. Taken over by Shepherd was the office of Principal Raymond J. Bell, who wound up in Shepherd's stripped one.

Larkspur adopted a general plan for the San Quentin Peninsula, despite threats by the Ross Valley Sanitary District to condemn 41 acres for a new subregional treatment plant in theheart of a proposed housing and commercial area.

Rohnert Park planners approved a 680-acre rezoning for Shapell Idustries of Northern California that would eventually double the city's population.

Marin Property Owners spokesmen denounced the proposed Marin countywide plan as "elitism."

Marin courts set prcedent by allowing introduction of voiceprints as evidence in a trial.

Heeding the requirements of public records laws, Petaluma city officials released the data on 16 proposed developments for a total of 493 housing units, the plans had been recommended for approval by the city's development allotment board under the 500-home annual expansion limit. Plans to withhold the information to permit delayed scheduling of appeal hearings were dropped on the advice of the city's legal counsel.

DROUGHT SCENE — Nicasio Reservoir, normally a mecca for fishermen, is a plain of dried, cracked mud with its waters shrunk to a puddle near the dam in the far distance. By Aug. 25, the lake, which normally holds seven and a half billion gallons of stored water, was down to less than two billion gallons, due to the dry winter. Marin County went without measurable rainfall from May 7 to Sept. 26. But by early December, the 1972-73 season's rainfall already had surpassed the total for the entire 1971-72 season and the water shortage was declared ended.

'Busiest People' Are Volunteers

By MARY LEYDECKER

A San Quentin guard who is also a College of Marin student and who "spends what little time he has left working with kids" is typical of volunteers in Marin's probation department.

"It seems to be the busiest people" who will take time for the often-demanding volunteer work, according to Gloria Melbostad, coordinator of volunteers for the department.

Furthermore, she said, a high level of commitment is demanded of probation department volunteers. When a youngster at juvenile hall or a jail inmate inmate is for a volunteer to take him to an appointment, "It's different from not showing up to lick stamps."

The volunteers do a steadily increasing variety of jobs. The program started about 15 years ago with a group of women who formed the Juvenile Court Auxiliary to help with fund-raising and other activities at juvenile hall.

The auxiliary still performs these functions, but "there is more of a cross-section" of the community represented now among the volunteers, who perform many additional duties, Mrs. Melbostad said.

The Children's Treatment Center on the juvenile hall grounds draws the biggest number of volunteers, with about two dozen persons helping with general supervision, recreational activities, tutoring and job finding for youngsters.

Sometimes they even get drafted into such duties as searching youngsters when they return from weekend leaves to make sure they're not bearing any drugs or other contraband.

Other volunteers work at juvenile hall itself.

"At first I was a little scared, but the girls have all been wonderful to me," said Georgie Balke, who teaches needlework one evening a week at the girls' unit at juvenile hall.

Mrs. Balke, who works at Penney's, donates her time in addition to her job and her own family.

"She didn't know how to sew a stitch before she came here," one of the juvenile hall girls said about another, proudly showing off a complicated crocheted poncho she had made. Mrs. Balke had taught her how to make it.

Other girls crowded around Barbara Zrnich, a volunteer from San Rafael who also shares her talents with the youngsters. Mrs. Zrnich, who makes banners professionally, often brings scraps she has gleaned from factories to the hall, where bright banners now adorn the new girls' unit.

VOLUNTEER — Barbara Zrnich, a volunteer for the Marin County Probation Department, bends to help a young girl at juvenile hall with a felt banner she is making. Mrs. Zrnich each week shares her talents (she makes banners professionally) with the girl inmates at the hall.

In addition to the juvenile hall work, other volunteers act as drivers, picking up jail inmates and driving them to doctor or job-hunting appointments. Some drive either juvenile offenders or adults to places like Open House for therapy.

"The 14-year-old boy I drive three days a week loves my dog. I always bring it along," one volunteer told a group meeting recently.

Still other volunteers assist with clerical work in the probation department or help probation officers supervise those persons on probation or in preparing presentencing probation reports.

In addition to making a firm commitment to be certain places at certain times, probation department volunteers must abide by more stringent rules than volunteers in many other fields.

First, a state law requires "absolute confidentiality" regarding names of clients, both juvenile and adults, with whom the volunteers deal, Mrs. Melbostad said.

Second, volunteers have to go along with regulations which prevent them from acting like "lady bountifuls" with the clients.

Volunteers are told never to comply with requests for extra stops or treats.

Drivers must not succumb to impulses to buy treats for clients or make extra stops for refreshments, she said.

Although Mrs. Melbostad did not see the volunteer program as one which will ever involve great numbers of people (there are now under 100 volunteers), there are still unmet needs in the department.

Behind her desk in the Hall of Justice is a blackboard listing such current needs. One is for a driver for a juvenile hall youngster who needs a ride to a vocational class four times a week. Another is for a tutor to a jail inmate, who needs help with reading.

"Mainly we look for good judgment and maturity (in volunteers) — and you can find maturity in an 18-year-old," Mrs. Melbostad said.

Former Nudist Camp For Sale

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) —For sale: a 15-acre mountain retreat used as a center for the study of nudism.

John Williamson, director of the Sandstone Retreat in Topanga Canyon, closed the center Thursday and put it up for sale because of "financial problems."

The center became a subject of controversy two years ago when the Los Angeles County Public Welfare Commission denied a business license to allow the retreat to operate as a nudist camp.

Williamson said at the time his center was no ru-of-themill nudist camp but rather a science-oriented club for the study of nudism with members paying a $100 fee to belong.

San Pedro Ridge Rezoned

Marin County supervisors yesterday ordered low density rezoning of San Pedro Ridge — an area planned for development by property owners but being considered for open space acquisition by Santa Venetia residents.

The board's unanimous rezoning came after the Las Gallinas Valley Master Plan Committee, a citizens' group, requested a six-month building moratorium be placed on the land.

Herbert C. Belben, chairman of the planning committee, told supervisors the moratorium was needed to allow time for the Santa Venetia community to decide how the area should be developed, if at all.

As reported earlier, Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere has proposed 407 acres of forested slopes overlooking the community be purchased as public open space.

Two landowners, Jack and Ron Fierman of Philadelphia, meanwhile, have proposed five cluster villages of about 200 townhouses each in the heart of the area being considered for open space.

Currently, the land is zoned for single-family residences on 10,000-square-foot lots (four homes per acre), but an old Las Gallinas Valley master plan shows one-acre zoning.

Supervisors flatly rejected imposing a moratorium but agreed the land could be rezoned without infringing on the landowners' property rights.

The Fierman brothers, meanwhile, already have invested thousands of dollars in planning and engineering studies for their townhouse villages, which are due to come before the county planning commission once environmental impact studies are complete.

Asst. Planning Director Harvey Bragdon told the Independent-Journal he thought the Martinelli Farms subdivision controversy, which raged from March to December of this year, could prove to be "only a warmup" for the fight over San Pedro Ridge.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino told the board it should not give the "implication that we are rezoning a specific parcel. . . planned for development or acquisition" but rather a general area of the ridge.

Such a "implication" could lead to charges the county is initiating rezoning to reduce the value of the land (in the case of acquisition) or attempting to block development.

The rezoning will be heard by the county planning commission late next month or in February and then returned to the board of supervisors.

Historic Olema Hotel Is Being Restored; Abatement Order Lifted

A county abatement order against the historic Olema Hotel was lifted yesterday by Marin County supervisors, who were told the owners are in the process of restoring the aging building.

Early this year, the 80-year-old building was condemned as a fire trap and ordered demolished but the owner, Ruth M. Ruoff, managed to rally financial backers to refurbish the old structure.

Yesterday's reprieve was not the first for the once popular inn. In 1965 and again in 1966, county officials ordered the two-story hotel razed because the long-vacant building was a drawing point for transients.

Each time Mrs. Ruoff won a stay of the order by boarding up the building. However, then and in the years following, the boards were repeatedly removed by trespassing lodgers.

Herbert F. Wimmer, the county's chief building inspector, told the board yesterday an old dwelling behind the hotel had been removed and building permits obtained for installation of foundations under the hotel.

"Because the owner has removed the fire hazard, has obtained permits for new foundations, and has verbally indicated to us that architectural plans will be submitted within two weeks, we recommend that the abatement action be rescinded," Wimmer wrote.

His recommendation passed unanimously.

New Health Center For West Marin

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday authorized opening a "store front" mental health center at Point Reyes Station as part of a major reorganization approved earlier this month.

As outlined by Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, head of county health services, the West Marin office will serve as headquarters for one of four teams scattered about the county "to bring mental health services to the people."

Decentralization of community mental health services through the setting up of satellite offices was approved unanimously by the board Dec. 12.

The new office, to be located on A Street between Mary's Gift Shop and Station House Cafe, will serve as a meeting place and communications center for health, mental health and social service workers.

Cost of renting and equipping the office is estimated at about $160 per month. It will include an answering service, since the office will not be manned around the clock but rather as a check in station for county employees.

Cooke said he planned to open the new office in January.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

BLOOD — Approved a $15,000 contract with Clinical Technologists Medical Laboratories of San Rafael to provide blood drawing services during off hours (5 p.m. to 8 a.m.) for the next six months. Blood drawing is needed as court evidence in drunken driving cases. It was previously performed by Marin Medical Laboratories which notified the county it was withdrawing from its contract Jan. 1.

LANDSCAPING — Approved a $151,000 contract with Neil Shooter Co. for landscaping around the Hall of Justice. The Shooter bid was the lowest of three submitted.

LIGHTING — Approved the annexation of the Sinaloa Park subdivision near Novato to the Marin County Highway Lighting District.

Baar Feted As Outgoing Supervisor

More than 100 friends and associates of Marin County Supervisor Louis H. Baar honored him with a luncheon yesterday at Nero's restaurant in Novato.

The other four members of the county board of supervisors, along with Assemblyman William T. Bagley and San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, made short speeches of tribute to Baar, who will step down from the board at next week's meeting. Bella H. Aaron, who heads the county's police-community relations program, presented him with a barometer-thermometer-weather gauge as a gift from the assemblage.

The affair, arranged by County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, was kept in lighthearted vein. Baar himself injected a sobering note when he expressed regret that the late Supervisor John F. McInnis and San Rafael City Councilman Harry A. Barbier could not be present.

Gary T. Giacomini will succeed Baar on the board of supervisors.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Los Angeles Experts Prove Excellent Service To Players

As I have pointed out many times, the average earnest bridge player doesn't see his mistakes because by the time he has come to the end of a hand he cannot remember the beginning. What he needs is a way to look at all of the hands of a session so that he can look them over at leisure. Today's hand is taken from just such an answer to the bridgeplayer's prayer.

RUBBER BRIDGE

At rubber bridge, South would be allowed to play the hand at two spades. He would probably make that contract, and his opponents might (or might not) notice that they could have entered the bidding without getting their heads chopped off.

At duplicate bridg, West does not dream of selling out to two spades, as John Swanson and Rhoda Walsh point out in the analysis of the hand in their service, called "Recap Bridge" (P.O. Box 91930, Los Angeles, Calif. 90009).

ODDS VERY GOOD

If North-South are willing to pass after South's suit has been raised, the odds are very good that North-South have only about half of the high cards in the deck. East-West have the other half and should have a fit in one minor or the other. West therefore bids the "unusual" no-trump to ask East to choose a minor.

CHOOSES CLUBS

East obediently chooses clubs, and North-South must go on to three spades. (Otherwise East would make three clubs, losing only one spade and three hearts.)

East and West now pass, satisfied with what they have accomplished. They have pushed South from a makable to an unmakable contract.

West opens the ace of clubs and continues with a club to the king. East leads the ace of diamonds and continues the suit, giving West two more diamond tricks. West then leads a fourth diamond, allowing East to kill dummy's good diamond. Now South is down one, even if he later guesses the queen of hearts.

RECAP SHEETS

Swanson and Mrs. Walsh furnish their recap sheets to duplicate bridge clubs. The players get the sheets at the end of the session and can study all the hands with the aid of expert analysis. A fine product that deserves to succeed.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opends with one club, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K 10 7
♥ - A J 10
♦ - 10 9 5 2
♣ - 5 4 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one no-trump. This promises about eight to 10 points in high cards, with no suit worth bidding. If North had only six or seven points he would respond one diamond with this hand rather than one no-trump.

AN ORDINANCE ADOPTING A UNIFORM FIRE CODE PRESCRIBING REGULATIONS GOVERNING CONDITIONS HAZARDOUS TO LIFE AND PROPERTY FROM FIRE OR EXPLOSION, AND ESTABLISHING A BUREAU OF FIRE PREVENTION AND PROVIDING OFFICERS THEREFOR AND DEFINING THEIR POWERS AND DUTIES.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Chapter 16.16 of the Marin County Code is hereby added to read

SECTIONS: 16.16.010 ADOPTION OF UNIFORM FIRE CODE.

There is hereby adopted by the COUNTY OF MARIN for the purpose of prescribing regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion, that certain Code known as the Uniform Fire Code recommended by the Western Fire Chiefs Association and the International Conference of Building Officials being particularly the 1971 edition thereof and the whole thereof, save and except such portions as are hereinafter deleted, modified or amended by Section 16.16.040 of which Code not less than three (3) copies have been and are now filed in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin and the same are hereby adopted and incorporated as fully as if set out at length herein, and from the date on which this ordinance shall take effect, the provision thereof shall be controlling on all lands in the County of Marin which are not included within incorporated cities or towns or within incorporated fire districts, or on lands within said county which are recognized by the state as areas of state administrative jurisdiction, unless administrative jurisdiction has been assumed by the board of supervisors through agreement or contract.

(b) The Assistant Chief in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be appointed by the Chief.

(c) The Chief of the Fire Department may detail such members of the Fire Department as inspectors as shall from time to time be necessary.

16.16.030 DEFINITIONS.

16.16.040 AMENDMENTS MADE IN THE UNIFORM FIRE CODE.

In addition to any other applicable laws or regulations, all burning within the jurisdiction of the Marin County Fire Department shall be in accordance with the regulations of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

16.16.050 APPEALS.

Whenever the Chief shall disapprove an application or refuse to grant a permit applied for, or when it is claimed that the provisions of the Code do not apply or that the true intent and meaning of the Code have been misconstrued or wrongly interpreted, the applicant may appeal from the decision of the Chief within 30 days from the date of the decision appealed to the Board of Appeals, as specified in Marin County Code, Sec. 19.04.945, except that when hearing matters pertaining to this Code, the Fire Chief shall act as Secretary of the Board.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Chapter 16.16 of the Marin County Code is hereby added to read

SECTIONS: 16.16.010 ADOPTION OF UNIFORM FIRE CODE.

There is hereby adopted by the COUNTY OF MARIN for the purpose of prescribing regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion, that certain Code known as the Uniform Fire Code recommended by the Western Fire Chiefs Association and the International Conference of Building Officials being particularly the 1971 edition thereof and the whole thereof, save and except such portions as are hereinafter deleted, modified or amended by Section 16.16.040 of which Code not less than three (3) copies have been and are now filed in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin and the same are hereby adopted and incorporated as fully as if set out at length herein, and from the date on which this ordinance shall take effect, the provision thereof shall be controlling on all lands in the County of Marin which are not included within incorporated cities or towns or within incorporated fire districts, or on lands within said county which are recognized by the state as areas of state administrative jurisdiction, unless administrative jurisdiction has been assumed by the board of supervisors through agreement or contract.

(b) The Assistant Chief in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be appointed by the Chief.

(c) The Chief of the Fire Department may detail such members of the Fire Department as inspectors as shall from time to time be necessary.

16.16.030 DEFINITIONS.

In addition to any other applicable laws or regulations, all burning within the jurisdiction of the Marin County Fire Department shall be in accordance with the regulations of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

16.16.050 APPEALS.

Whenever the Chief shall disapprove an application or refuse to grant a permit applied for, or when it is claimed that the provisions of the Code do not apply or that the true intent and meaning of the Code have been misconstrued or wrongly interpreted, the applicant may appeal from the decision of the Chief within 30 days from the date of the decision appealed to the Board of Appeals, as specified in Marin County Code, Sec. 19.04.945, except that when hearing matters pertaining to this Code, the Fire Chief shall act as Secretary of the Board.

16.16.060 NEW MATERIALS, PROCESSES OR OCCUPANCIES WHICH MAY REQUIRE PERMITS.

The Chief and the Assistant Chief in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall act as a committee to determine and specify, after giving affected persons an opportunity to be heard, any new materials, processes or occupancies, which shall require permits, in addition to those now enumerated in said Code. Film Is Taped By Humphrey For Nixon Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) —At the request of President Nixon's Inaugural Committtee, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has filmed a one-minute television appeal for Americans to back Nixon during his second term.

The announcement is being offered to the three major networks and the 50 largest television markets for broadcast as a public service around the time of inauguration day Jan. 20.,

In the film, the Minnesota Democrat urges the nation to join him "in a reaffirmation of America's ideals and promise, of freedom and equality, opportunity and security, peace and justice" by backing Nixon.

"The genius of our political system is that all Americans unite following our national election," said Humphrey, a narrow loser to Nixon in the 1968 presidential election

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Facial Neuralgia Is Painful To Point Of Being Torture

Trigeminal neuralgia (tic douloureux) is torture. Intense facial pain comes and goes and only the victim can appreciate how wonderful it feels to be free of pain. The wife of a victim described the problem in a letter and it is worth repeating. "My husband is a rugged, powerful man until a nerve in the right side of his face goes on a rampage. He develops bouts of shooting pain lasting from three days to two months.

"While his face is 'alive' (period of activity), he lies motionless in bed, afraid to move, eat, wash, or shave. The painful attacks strike like bullets, affecting his forehead, eye, cheek, and jaw. He looks miserable and haggard; his face is dirty and unshaven, and he refuses to see anyone. Our physician thinks the nerve should be cut."

THE PAIN of trigeminal neuralgia has been described as sharp, lancinating, burning, and shocklike. It is precipitated by moving or touching a certain area of the face (trigger zone). Thru experience, the sufferer learns that any movement of the face, jaws, or tongue is likely to produce an immediate paroxysm. During the bout, he cannot yawn, eat, shave, spit, or even pray out loud for relief.

Then suddenly, and for no apparent reason, the nerve stops misbehaving. During the respite from pain, these people can do what they please with their face.

BUT WEEKS or months later, the paroxysms recur. Dozens of medical remedies including vitamin B12, Dilantin, Tegretol, and Nephenesin have been advocated. When these conservative measures fail, surgery is recommended.

Before this is done, the surgeon may inject alcohol into the affected nerve. He does this so the victim can determine whether he prefers a numb face to an active face with pain. If he decides he can live with the numbness, the nerve is severed. This brings relief, but numbness of the face and tongue follows. An alternate method is to remove the covering of the trigeminal's nerve center and massage the tissues. This is less likely to produce numbness.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered my mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

CHANGE IN WATER

H.A.B. writes: Whenever I go on a trip and drink the local water, I develop diarrhea. Would you know why this happens?

REPLY

This occurs occasionally and is blamed on drinking or eating fluids or foods containing different chemicals. However, other factors worth considering are excitement, anxiety, or fatigue. Our leaflet on diarrhea can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

RODENT ULCER

A reader writes: What is a rodent ulcer?

REPLY

A slow-growing but relentless, malignant lesion, usually on the face. Mice or rats have nothing to do with it, but the gnawed appearance of its edges is suggestive of nibbling by rodents.

GALLSTONE TERMS

P.B. writes: What is the medical term for gallstones?

REPLY

Biliary calculi, cholelithiasis, or cholecystolithiasis. How does that grab you? Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on gallstones.

John Heiskell, Paper Editor, Succumbs At 100

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — John Netherland Heiskell, who as editor of the Arkansas Gazette for the past 70 years helped the newspaper win two Pulitzer Prizes during the Little Rock integration crisis, died Thursday at the age of 100.

Heiskell and the Gazette, itself the oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi River, gained national recognition with the coverage and editorial policy established during the 1957 integration crsis.

The paper took the stand that the federal court order that central high school be integrated must be obeyed, but many residents of the state took the opposite viewpoint.

The Gazette lost millions of dollars in potential advertising income but ended up winning two Pulitzer prizes—one for public service and another for its editorials.

Judge Rules Out An Appointment

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Superior Court Judge Edmund Burke ruled Thursday that the Democratic State Central Committee did not have the power to select the party's candidate for Alaska's lone congressional seat left vacant with the disappearance of Rep. Nick Begich.

Burke's decision may force the party to hold a state convention to name its candidate, but Democratic State Chairman Emil Notti said the ruling would be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Begich and House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, D-La., have been missing since Oct. 16 when their small plane disappeared between Anchorage and Juneau.

Farr Begins His 31st Day In Jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reporter William Farr spent his 31st day in jail today, the longest incarceration of any American newsman for refusal to disclose news sources.

The previous record for confinement was held by Vi Murphy who was jailed for 30 days in 1961 for refusing to reveal the source of a story about corruption in the Colorado state government.

Novato Council Will Consider Rezone Request

The Novato City Council will consider rezoning seven acres on Hill Road, owned by Jack Kinney, when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato Community House.

The Novato Planning Commission has recommended rezoning a portion of the property from limited agriculture to lots of 10,000 square feet, 20,000 square feet and one acre.

Kinney has in the past proposed townhouse and apartment development and once a convalescent hospital. The proposed present development would be a much lower density. The planning commission's recommendation was based on the proposed general plan.

The council will also consider awarding a contract for a leaf sweeper, acquiring some of the Heifetz property in Scottsdale, the heritage tree ordinance, landscaping on Highway 101 and will receive the fiscal report as of Nov. 30

Film Is Taped By Humphrey For Nixon Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) —At the request of President Nixon's Inaugural Committtee, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has filmed a one-minute television appeal for Americans to back Nixon during his second term.

The announcement is being offered to the three major networks and the 50 largest television markets for broadcast as a public service around the time of inauguration day Jan. 20.,

In the film, the Minnesota Democrat urges the nation to join him "in a reaffirmation of America's ideals and promise, of freedom and equality, opportunity and security, peace and justice" by backing Nixon.

"The genius of our political system is that all Americans unite following our national election," said Humphrey, a narrow loser to Nixon in the 1968 presidential election

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Facial Neuralgia Is Painful To Point Of Being Torture

Trigeminal neuralgia (tic douloureux) is torture. Intense facial pain comes and goes and only the victim can appreciate how wonderful it feels to be free of pain. The wife of a victim described the problem in a letter and it is worth repeating. "My husband is a rugged, powerful man until a nerve in the right side of his face goes on a rampage. He develops bouts of shooting pain lasting from three days to two months.

"While his face is 'alive' (period of activity), he lies motionless in bed, afraid to move, eat, wash, or shave. The painful attacks strike like bullets, affecting his forehead, eye, cheek, and jaw. He looks miserable and haggard; his face is dirty and unshaven, and he refuses to see anyone. Our physician thinks the nerve should be cut."

THE PAIN of trigeminal neuralgia has been described as sharp, lancinating, burning, and shocklike. It is precipitated by moving or touching a certain area of the face (trigger zone). Thru experience, the sufferer learns that any movement of the face, jaws, or tongue is likely to produce an immediate paroxysm. During the bout, he cannot yawn, eat, shave, spit, or even pray out loud for relief.

Then suddenly, and for no apparent reason, the nerve stops misbehaving. During the respite from pain, these people can do what they please with their face.

BUT WEEKS or months later, the paroxysms recur. Dozens of medical remedies including vitamin B12, Dilantin, Tegretol, and Nephenesin have been advocated. When these conservative measures fail, surgery is recommended.

Before this is done, the surgeon may inject alcohol into the affected nerve. He does this so the victim can determine whether he prefers a numb face to an active face with pain. If he decides he can live with the numbness, the nerve is severed. This brings relief, but numbness of the face and tongue follows. An alternate method is to remove the covering of the trigeminal's nerve center and massage the tissues. This is less likely to produce numbness.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered my mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

CHANGE IN WATER

H.A.B. writes: Whenever I go on a trip and drink the local water, I develop diarrhea. Would you know why this happens?

REPLY

This occurs occasionally and is blamed on drinking or eating fluids or foods containing different chemicals. However, other factors worth considering are excitement, anxiety, or fatigue. Our leaflet on diarrhea can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

RODENT ULCER

A reader writes: What is a rodent ulcer?

REPLY

A slow-growing but relentless, malignant lesion, usually on the face. Mice or rats have nothing to do with it, but the gnawed appearance of its edges is suggestive of nibbling by rodents.

GALLSTONE TERMS

P.B. writes: What is the medical term for gallstones?

REPLY

Biliary calculi, cholelithiasis, or cholecystolithiasis. How does that grab you? Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on gallstones.

John Heiskell, Paper Editor, Succumbs At 100

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — John Netherland Heiskell, who as editor of the Arkansas Gazette for the past 70 years helped the newspaper win two Pulitzer Prizes during the Little Rock integration crisis, died Thursday at the age of 100.

Heiskell and the Gazette, itself the oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi River, gained national recognition with the coverage and editorial policy established during the 1957 integration crsis.

The paper took the stand that the federal court order that central high school be integrated must be obeyed, but many residents of the state took the opposite viewpoint.

The Gazette lost millions of dollars in potential advertising income but ended up winning two Pulitzer prizes—one for public service and another for its editorials.

Judge Rules Out An Appointment

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Superior Court Judge Edmund Burke ruled Thursday that the Democratic State Central Committee did not have the power to select the party's candidate for Alaska's lone congressional seat left vacant with the disappearance of Rep. Nick Begich.

Burke's decision may force the party to hold a state convention to name its candidate, but Democratic State Chairman Emil Notti said the ruling would be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Begich and House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, D-La., have been missing since Oct. 16 when their small plane disappeared between Anchorage and Juneau.

Farr Begins His 31st Day In Jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reporter William Farr spent his 31st day in jail today, the longest incarceration of any American newsman for refusal to disclose news sources.

The previous record for confinement was held by Vi Murphy who was jailed for 30 days in 1961 for refusing to reveal the source of a story about corruption in the Colorado state government.

Novato Council Will Consider Rezone Request

The Novato City Council will consider rezoning seven acres on Hill Road, owned by Jack Kinney, when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato Community House.

The Novato Planning Commission has recommended rezoning a portion of the property from limited agriculture to lots of 10,000 square feet, 20,000 square feet and one acre.

Kinney has in the past proposed townhouse and apartment development and once a convalescent hospital. The proposed present development would be a much lower density. The planning commission's recommendation was based on the proposed general plan.

The council will also consider awarding a contract for a leaf sweeper, acquiring some of the Heifetz property in Scottsdale, the heritage tree ordinance, landscaping on Highway 101 and will receive the fiscal report as of Nov. 30

Highway Plan Flayed By Bolinas Residents

The Bolinas Property Owners Association has opposed state Division of Highways plans to widen and straighten portions of Shoreline Highway between Tamalpais Valley and Bolinas Junction north of Stinson Beach.

The proposal, which has drawn fire from many West Marin residents, calls for widening and straightening about 12.8 miles of the road in two parts at a cost of about $5.3 million.

The first project, $3.5 million, would improve nine miles between Northern Avenue in Tamalpais Valley and Stinson Beach, to be completed over a 10-year period. A second project would widen and raise 3.8 miles of roadway adjacent to the Bolinas Lagoon and require approximately 15 acres of fill as far as 35 feet into the lagoon's main channel.

The highway division contends the improvements are necessary to make the winding highway safer.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Peter A. Evans, president of the property owners group, suggested the division could take "more imaginative steps" than those proposed.

Evans advised that the division should restore immediately centerline night indicators on the road, provide double yellow line markers where passing is unsafe and additional paved turnouts for slower traffic to pull out of the way of faster cars. He also recommended that signs instructing slower drivers to use the turnouts be installed.

Evans recommended, too, that the division provide "large, dramatic" "caution" and "slow" speed signs at the beginning of all sharp curves, along with passing lanes in several straight sections of the road.

In addition, the president said California Highway Patrol surveillance should be provided in locations selected at random to "enforce safe speeds and respect for the center line."

He told supervisors that a recent survey of Bolinas property owners had shown that 65 per cent were opposed to the highway division's projects.

Those who disapproved said the improvements now planned would:

1. Create more congestion in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area by making the two West Marin towns more accessible to traffic.

2. Encourage higher speeds and more accidents on Shoreline.

3. Not take into consideration the ecology of the area and the fill planned might damage the lagoon.

The property owners asked the board of supervisors to give careful consideration to their objections because "as residents and property owners who use this road frequently, we are affected more strongly than any visitors."

The supervisors are scheduled to consider the highway division plan next month.

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Former U.S. Sen. William F. Knowland, publisher of the Oakland Tribune, will be the honorary grand marshal of parades Jan. 27-28 commemorating the 125th anniversary of the discovery of gold in California.

Eight Say Ouster Not Over Union

Eight firemen in the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District have signed a statement disputing a probationary fireman's claim that he was dismissed from the department last week for union activity.

The eight — two-thirds of the 12-man firefighting force — said that Ray Giacomino, 28, did not lose his job because he was trying to gain collective bargaining rights for other Alto firemen.

Giacomino, who had been employed for seven months as a probationary fireman, charged last week that he was dismissed after a letter arrived from local 400 of the city and county employees union in San Francisco asking to meet with district board members to discuss the possibility of unionizing the department.

Giacomino claimed it was the letter that prompted his firing.

"We all know this is not true," the statement said. "It was the individual's (Giacomino's) lack of performance, poor attitude on the job. . .(and) inability to pass the required probationary tests" that led to his dismissal.

"We stand behind the commissioners' right to dismiss a probationary fireman if he does not live up to the standards set for all probationary personnel," the firemen said.

The eight also said most of the firemen have come to the conclusion they do not need a union. "We have decided we can do better without the union by working with the fire district to resolve any problems we might have," the men wrote.

Union officials could not be reached for comment on the remarks.

Those who signed the statement were Fire Capt. Michael Thompson, acting Lt. Harold E. Wilson, Frederick A. Lepage, Dennis C. Ahlf, Timothy Ecke, Guy E. Torrey, Michael T. Kildow and Jeffrey K. Newman.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said he did not sign the letter because he did not think it would "be appropriate" and another fireman could not be reached.

Two firemen, James Stephenson and Fred L. Foss, declined to sign. Foss said today he did not sign, not because he was pro-union, but because he did not wish to become involved in the controversy.

Nothing Taken

A thief who smashed the front door of Gem Auto Sales, 1530 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Monday or Tuesday apparently left empty handed, police reported yesterday.

Case Sent To Superior Court

Ordered to appear Wednesday by Judge Peter Allen Smith was Steven Douglas Drown.

Drown was arrested on a warrant Dec. 7. Novato police sought the warrant in connection with the burglary at the Marin Country Club Golf shop Nov. 25 after investigating Drown's claims.

Police responding to the shop's alarm had found Drown there, but did not arrest him after he said he found the door ajar. Novato police said a test with the alarm disproved the story.

Marin Airman Is Viet Prisoner

A Rohnert Park man has been listed as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, according to the Department of Defense.

Air Force First Lt. Paul L. Granger was reportedly aboard an airplane downed over North Vietnam last Friday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement R. Granger, 441 Arlen Drive.

Initially the Department of Defense listed Granger simply as a casualty and did not indicate if he was injured.

Big Marijuana Raid Staged In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Authorities seized an estimated $300,000 worth of marijuana in a drug raid Thursday night and arrested eight persons suspected of being wholesale pot dealers.

State narcotics agents and local police combined to make what was described as the largest marijuana haul ever in the Sacramento County area.

A spokesman for the State Narcotics Bureau said Robert Wells, 29, and Neil Martin, 26, both of San Diego, were arrested at a parking lot when they sold some marijuana to an undercover agent.

Richard Valdivia, 27, and his wife, Linda, 24, were arrested in their Sacramento residence. Also arrested were Manuel Valdivia, 29, Sacramento, Allen Aloyian, 26, Montebello, Ivan Collier, 49, Santa Ana, and Resugio Salazar, 35, Santa Ana.

Pot Is Seized In Santa Cruz

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) —A total of 350 pounds of marijuana shipped from Honolulu has been confiscated by authorities.

Santa Cruz County sheriff's deputies, Honolulu police and federal narcotics agents arrested Ray Stout, 23, at a home after he retrieved one of two packages containing the marijuana at an air freight station in Mountain View Thursday.

Authorities said the second package was not claimed and was also confiscated. The total worth was estimated at more than $50,000.

Officers said Stout mailed one package from Honolulu Tuesday and a short time later an unidentified woman shipped the other.

Safety Move

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Greyhound Lines-West announced Thursday that its Peninsula drivers would not carry change starting Monday as security against holdups.

Company officials said many municipal and private bus lines have adopted an exact-fare system for the same reason.

Big Marijuana Raid Staged In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Authorities seized an estimated $300,000 worth of marijuana in a drug raid Thursday night and arrested eight persons suspected of being wholesale pot dealers.

State narcotics agents and local police combined to make what was described as the largest marijuana haul ever in the Sacramento County area.

A spokesman for the State Narcotics Bureau said Robert Wells, 29, and Neil Martin, 26, both of San Diego, were arrested at a parking lot when they sold some marijuana to an undercover agent.

Richard Valdivia, 27, and his wife, Linda, 24, were arrested in their Sacramento residence. Also arrested were Manuel Valdivia, 29, Sacramento, Allen Aloyian, 26, Montebello, Ivan Collier, 49, Santa Ana, and Resugio Salazar, 35, Santa Ana.

Pot Is Seized In Santa Cruz

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) —A total of 350 pounds of marijuana shipped from Honolulu has been confiscated by authorities.

Santa Cruz County sheriff's deputies, Honolulu police and federal narcotics agents arrested Ray Stout, 23, at a home after he retrieved one of two packages containing the marijuana at an air freight station in Mountain View Thursday.

Authorities said the second package was not claimed and was also confiscated. The total worth was estimated at more than $50,000.

Officers said Stout mailed one package from Honolulu Tuesday and a short time later an unidentified woman shipped the other.

Safety Move

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Greyhound Lines-West announced Thursday that its Peninsula drivers would not carry change starting Monday as security against holdups.

Company officials said many municipal and private bus lines have adopted an exact-fare system for the same reason.

Case Sent To Superior Court

Ordered to appear Wednesday by Judge Peter Allen Smith was Steven Douglas Drown.

Drown was arrested on a warrant Dec. 7. Novato police sought the warrant in connection with the burglary at the Marin Country Club Golf shop Nov. 25 after investigating Drown's claims.

Police responding to the shop's alarm had found Drown there, but did not arrest him after he said he found the door ajar. Novato police said a test with the alarm disproved the story.

Marin Airman Is Viet Prisoner

A Rohnert Park man has been listed as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, according to the Department of Defense.

Air Force First Lt. Paul L. Granger was reportedly aboard an airplane downed over North Vietnam last Friday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement R. Granger, 441 Arlen Drive.

Initially the Department of Defense listed Granger simply as a casualty and did not indicate if he was injured.

Eight Say Ouster Not Over Union

Eight firemen in the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District have signed a statement disputing a probationary fireman's claim that he was dismissed from the department last week for union activity.

The eight — two-thirds of the 12-man firefighting force — said that Ray Giacomino, 28, did not lose his job because he was trying to gain collective bargaining rights for other Alto firemen.

Giacomino, who had been employed for seven months as a probationary fireman, charged last week that he was dismissed after a letter arrived from local 400 of the city and county employees union in San Francisco asking to meet with district board members to discuss the possibility of unionizing the department.

Giacomino claimed it was the letter that prompted his firing.

"We all know this is not true," the statement said. "It was the individual's (Giacomino's) lack of performance, poor attitude on the job. . .(and) inability to pass the required probationary tests" that led to his dismissal.

"We stand behind the commissioners' right to dismiss a probationary fireman if he does not live up to the standards set for all probationary personnel," the firemen said.

The eight also said most of the firemen have come to the conclusion they do not need a union. "We have decided we can do better without the union by working with the fire district to resolve any problems we might have," the men wrote.

Union officials could not be reached for comment on the remarks.

Those who signed the statement were Fire Capt. Michael Thompson, acting Lt. Harold E. Wilson, Frederick A. Lepage, Dennis C. Ahlf, Timothy Ecke, Guy E. Torrey, Michael T. Kildow and Jeffrey K. Newman.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said he did not sign the letter because he did not think it would "be appropriate" and another fireman could not be reached.

Two firemen, James Stephenson and Fred L. Foss, declined to sign. Foss said today he did not sign, not because he was pro-union, but because he did not wish to become involved in the controversy.

Nothing Taken

A thief who smashed the front door of Gem Auto Sales, 1530 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Monday or Tuesday apparently left empty handed, police reported yesterday.

Highway Plan Flayed By Bolinas Residents

The Bolinas Property Owners Association has opposed state Division of Highways plans to widen and straighten portions of Shoreline Highway between Tamalpais Valley and Bolinas Junction north of Stinson Beach.

The proposal, which has drawn fire from many West Marin residents, calls for widening and straightening about 12.8 miles of the road in two parts at a cost of about $5.3 million.

The first project, $3.5 million, would improve nine miles between Northern Avenue in Tamalpais Valley and Stinson Beach, to be completed over a 10-year period. A second project would widen and raise 3.8 miles of roadway adjacent to the Bolinas Lagoon and require approximately 15 acres of fill as far as 35 feet into the lagoon's main channel.

The highway division contends the improvements are necessary to make the winding highway safer.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Peter A. Evans, president of the property owners group, suggested the division could take "more imaginative steps" than those proposed.

Evans advised that the division should restore immediately centerline night indicators on the road, provide double yellow line markers where passing is unsafe and additional paved turnouts for slower traffic to pull out of the way of faster cars. He also recommended that signs instructing slower drivers to use the turnouts be installed.

Evans recommended, too, that the division provide "large, dramatic" "caution" and "slow" speed signs at the beginning of all sharp curves, along with passing lanes in several straight sections of the road.

In addition, the president said California Highway Patrol surveillance should be provided in locations selected at random to "enforce safe speeds and respect for the center line."

He told supervisors that a recent survey of Bolinas property owners had shown that 65 per cent were opposed to the highway division's projects.

Those who disapproved said the improvements now planned would:

1. Create more congestion in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area by making the two West Marin towns more accessible to traffic.

2. Encourage higher speeds and more accidents on Shoreline.

3. Not take into consideration the ecology of the area and the fill planned might damage the lagoon.

The property owners asked the board of supervisors to give careful consideration to their objections because "as residents and property owners who use this road frequently, we are affected more strongly than any visitors."

The supervisors are scheduled to consider the highway division plan next month.

Fairfax Planners Split On House Variance Vote

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night approved a variance application for a house already under construction at 100 Tamalpais Avenue amid concerns by a city councilman that the lot was "unbuildable."

"I didn't think it should be there," Councilman Frank J. Egger declared today, saying that a previous house built on the parcel had slid onto the street.

Construction of the house, which is now almost completed, required a variance because of a 10-foot setback, Egger said.

Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, said construction of the house was approved on a 3-2-1 vote, with commission chairman Hugh O. Winn abstaining. Voting for construction were commissioners John J. Hourihan, Harold S. Lezzeni and Charles Eckles, she said, adding commissioners Johannes Zeevat and Gloria Duncan opposed the measure.

The Fairfax Planning Commission also:

LOT SPLIT — Approved a lot split of a parcel on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Oak Manor Shopping center and Christ the Victor Church as requested by owner William Poeshl.

BOLINAS ROAD — Put over to Jan. 25 consideration of an application for two duplexes at Bolinas and Porteous avenues. Councilman Egger is appealing the application by Ken Solvason.

TREE COMMITTEE — Appointed commissioners Winn, Duncan and Eckles to a committee charged with studying a policy regulating the cutting of trees on private property.

ZONING ORDINANCE — Said commissioners will study the zoning ordinance at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 10 in the Fairfax Women's Club.

CREEKS — Appointed commissioner Duncan to participate on a city council committee charged with inspecting city creeks to seek solutions for drainage problems.

GENTRY — Approved a subdivision map changes as proposed by the Gentry Development Co. for six lots off Alamitos Way.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Jan. 10, with tne next regular meeting set for 8 p.m. Jan. 25, in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Rembrandt Stolen; Valued At $75,000

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) —Thieves cut a hole in the roof of an art gallery during the Christmas weekend and stole a Rembrandt painting titled "St. Philip Baptizing the Eunuch" with an insured value of $750,000, police disclosed Thursday.

Authorities said they withheld information about the theft hoping to facilitate payment of a possible ransom but no demand was made.

Suspect In Pot Sale Arrested

Paul Edward Kissinger, 32, of no known address, was booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale after he was arrested on a warrant in Sausalito.

An officer on patrol on Bridgeway about 2:25 a.m. saw Kissinger and recognized him as a man sought on a $150 Marin Municipal Court warrant for disturbing the peace.

When Kissinger stated he was unable to post bail, police arrested him. During a routine search, officers found bags of suspected marijuana under his belt, in his pocket and his boots. Approximately seven ounces were found in his possession, police said.

Bail had not yet been set for Kissinger, who was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Airline Tries A New Entertainment Idea

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — While some airlines serve champagne, show movies or offer a piano in the lounge, Pacific Southwest Airlines now presents cartoon characters to keep passengers happy.

PSA officials said Thursday they have begun using a troupe of actors and actresses in costumes of such cartoon characters as Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck to entertain passengers on flights.

The promotional stunt is the idea of Bob Claus of San Jose, who said he noticed that "90 per cent of the people in an airport aren't smiling."

So far, PSA is the only airline to use Claus and his 30-member staff. But Claus said his characters are for hire by any other airline.

Claus said all characters are from Warner Bros. films from which he contracted for their use. Mel Blanc, who does the cartoon movie voices, has recorded cassette tapes which the costumed characters play as they walk down aisles of PSA planes.

"You can't just put someone in a suit and let him ad lib," Claus said. "They have to learn how to walk and handle themselves. We have rehearsals and scripts to follow."

He said the performances have made children more relaxed about flying. "They're quieter and more relaxed now on the plane when they see us handing out mints and talking to them and shaking hands," he said.

Two Arrested In Burglary Of Sports Shop

Two San Rafael youths were arrested in Santa Venetia today on suspicion of burglarizing a San Rafael sports shop after police found an outboard motor in the trunk of a car used by the pair.

William Edward Petro, 18, of 16 Pilgrim Way, was booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear today in Marin Municipal Court. Petro's 17-year-old companion, whose identity was withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, was taken to juvenile hall.

San Rafael police said a witness supplied officers with the license number of a car traced to Petro after burglars smashed the window of the Western Sport Shop, 902 Third Street, and hauled away an outboard motor at about 2:30 a.m. today.

Picking Winners In College Soccer

Bog Braghetta of Ross is excellent at picking winners when it comes to soccer. Braghetta is the man responsible for bringing the St. Louis University soccer team to San Rafael last September in a match with University of San Francisco, which St. Louis won, 1-0.

St. Louis is in the finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) tournament in Miami's Orange Bowl and the team's foe tonight will be UCLA's Bruins, champion soccer team from the west.

That makes Braghetta smile because he has already obtained confirmation from UCLA: the Bruins' soccer team will schedule a game against USF on San Rafael High School's field next year. Although date has not been set, Braghetta said it would be either late September or early October.

To reach the finals, St. Louis edged Howard U. of Washington, D.C., 2-1 in overtime, and UCLA shaded Cornell, 1-0. So in successive years, Braghetta, chief organizer of the Marin Youth Soccer Association, has landed this year's two best college soccer teams for San Rafael matches. That's not bad picking.

ROY BOTH OF SAN RAFAEL, veteran high school and college umpire, is leaving tonight for a week-long series of baseball umpiring clinics in the Philippines. It's part of a Navy Special Services project that will take Roth to Subic Naval Station in Subic Bay. Roth, who has umpired baseball in the Bay Area for 11 years, is chairman of the rules committee of the Northern California Umpires Association.

FOR ALL YOU DRAKE High School basketball fans who can't make it to the Pirates' game tomorrow night at Petaluma High School, you can watch an instant replay of the entire game Sunday at 7 p.m. on Santa Rosa's Channel 50.

TIM NISSEN of San Rafael, 6-foot-3, 218-pound offensive tackle, made quite a nae for himself at Claremont Men's College in Southern California. He was named team captain, outstanding lineman and was also chosen second team All-Southern California Independent Athletic Conference. Said coach John Zinda about Nissen: "Tim has made a great contribution to our program. He was a leader both on and off the field." A 1968 graduate of Terra Linda High School, Tim was an All-Marin County Athletic League defensive tackle for the Trojans.

FINAL STATISTICS in Stanford football show that former Drake prep Don Alvarado was sixth in number of receptions, 16, but fourth in receiving yardage, 276 for a 17.3-yard per catch average, second highest on the team. Alvarado, ending his collegiate football playing, also scored two touchdowns for the Cardinals.

JIM NELSON of San Rafael was one of seven members of the Southern Colorado State College football team to compile a grade-point average of better than 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale) for the school's fall quarter. Like they say, those quarterbacks need brains.

EVERYBODY HAS his own way of celebrating the New Year, but the Olympic Club must have the most sobering one. Club members will take part in the 80th annual Hike and Dip Monday morning, a brisk three-mile hike along San Francisco's Ocean Beach followed by a plunge into the chilling Pacific surf. It all begins at 9 a.m. at Lincoln Way and the Great Highway.

I'll have my own Hike and Dip on New Year's Day. I'll hike from my bedroom to the living room and dip into a soft chair in front of a television set and watch some football.

Happy New Year.

Athletic Training Is Part Of Life At San Quentin

Baseball . . . softball . . . tennis . . . football . . . soccer . . . handball . . . weightlifting . . . volleyball . . . wrestling . . . boxing . . . basketball . . . and it g-o-e-s on and on.

Thus, it is not surprising that the San Quentin Prison sports theme is: "We've got something here for everybody."

About 40 per cent of the 1,793 inmates participate in the institution's athletic endeavors financed by the state.

The intramural sports schedule features: March-May — baseball, softball, tennis; June-August — football, soccer; September-October — handball, weightlifting, volleyball; November-January — boxing, basketball, wrestling; February — no sports, inventory.

This arrangement is heartily endorsed by participants. Inmates Al (Sugar) Conley and Pete Thompson are vociferous sports advocates. Conley, a former lightweight contender in the 1950s, handles the year-round boxing program and enjoys it.

Conley matches up the fighters according to skills and weight. "I don't want any of the guys to get hurt, so I'm careful. We have novice, junior and senior levels. Once in a while I might match a junior with a senior. I would do this with a promising junior in order to give him experience."

T. L. Baker, prison sports director, endorses Conley's efforts and adds: "Boxing helps keep the roof on the institution . . . guys work off their hostilities and it helps."

Conley, 34, says he has been running the boxing program "nearly five years" and shows no desire to give it up now. "I've been fighting since I was seven."

Like Conley, Thompson enjoys his work. "I just started coaching this season (Dec. 1)." Thompson, 32, oversees the basketball program from November through January. This sport is run like other prison athletics. "We have four intramural teams, and from this group, I pick the guys for the varsity team. The varsity plays (primarily) against junior colleges from around the Bay Area."

At this point, Baker interjected: "but all our games are played at home. Our players don't have any road games." Although San Quentin teams have little use for road uniforms, they manage to accumulate enthusiastic support from fellow inmates and the state government.

Inmates fill the stands in the 200-foot by 150-foot gym, considered the largest prison gym in California, according to Baker.

"They have great enthusiasm

Allen Surprised By Cowboys' Pick

WASHINGTON (AP) — "If you do the right things on defense, anybody can be playing quarterback and it won't much matter," Washington coach George Allen said.

Allen said Thursday he believed his Redskins would be facing Craig Morton Sunday in the game to decide the National Football Conference's entry into Super Bowl VII — but he figured wrong.

A few hours after the Redskins finished their closed workout, the Dallas Cowboys announced they would go with quarterback Roger Staubach in the game at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

The fact that Staubach, more of a threat to run, would start in place of Morton, prone to stay in the pocket, didn't concern the Redskins' coach.

"We are not preparing differently for either of them," Allen said.

Allen, who sprung a five-man front line on Green Bay to negate the Packer's running game, also said he didn't expect any surprises from the Dallas defense.

"We've played them twice this year and we pretty much know what they've got," he said. "It's just a matter of dealing with it."

Washington defensive tackle Bill Brundige didn't share his coach's lack of concern over Staubach's selection.

"I'd rather be facing Morton, Brundige said. "Staubach's more of a scrambler and I just don't like to run too much. We have to play more spread out to try and contain him. And we really can't use that five-man line as effectively against him."

Morton, who took over Dallas' signal calling when Staubach suffered a preseason injury, directed the Cowboys to a 10-4 record, one game back of Washington in the East Division, and into the playoffs with the NFC's wildcard berth.

But it was Staubach who got Dallas past San Francisco.

West Rests Easily: Star Sweeney Plays

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The West can rest easy today. Steve Sweeney is alright.

Sweeney, the talented wide receiver from California, gave everyone in the West camp a big scare Friday when he complained of a pulled calf muscle.

At first, it was feared he would be unable to play in tomorrow's 48th Shrine EastWest game but the fears were unfounded. Sweeney, one of the finest receivers in Pacific 8 Conference history and a sure fire first round pick in next year's pro draft, saw his personal physician and then told West Coach Dee Andros he would be able to play.

"All I need is to have the calf well taped and I'll be ready to go," Sweeney said.

The big wide receiver is an important part of the West offense, which is expected to be geared around the passing game. Everyone, including pro scouts watching the two teams in workouts, claims the West will be unable to run on the East and its only hopes for victory are in a passing game.

"I don't buy that," said Andros. "We'll have a balanced attack but we'd be crazy not to pass with the talent we have on our team."

The talent includes such other fine receivers as Greg Specht of Oregon and Isaac Curtis of San Diego State plus tight end John Brady of Washington. The West quarterbacks are Ty Paine of Washington State and George Amundson of Iowa State.

The East has a lot of talent to play the passing game, too, with Gary Huff of Florida State and Mike Wells of Illinois at quarterback, wide receivers Barry Smith of Florida State and Jim Lash of Northwestern and tight ends James Thanxton of Tennessee State and Gary Hrivnak of Purdue.

The East, though, has an edge in running backs with Otis Armstrong of Purdue, Dick Jauron of Yale and Steve Jones of Duke. The West running backs are Nathaniel Jones of Houston and Terry Metcalf of Long Beach State.

Both squads will work out briefly today at Candlestick Park, site of Saturday's game, and then rest up for the 1 p.m. PST kickoff. The game will be televised nationally and game officials report some tickets are still available. The contest benefits the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital in San Francisco.

EX-BOXER VALDEZ DEFENDS OLYMPICS

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jesse Valdez, Olympic bronze medalist boxer, said Thursday that the Olympic Games should be continued despite the politics involved in international competition.

Valdez, the former sergeant at Hamilton Air Force Base who hung up his gloves after capturing the medal in Munich this summer, received a trophy as the outstanding athlete in the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

"Although you've got politics, it's the Olympics that makes kids work harder," Valdez said.

He said he received substantial offers to turn pro after the Olympics, but said he was tired after 12 years in the ring.

"There are more politics in professional boxing than there is among amateurs," he said.

"My wife has been very patient with me and I made a vow that the Olympics would be it," he said. "I owe her that. I'll never put the gloves on again."

FISH AND GAME

A Busy Day For Fishing, Partying

By AL GIDDINGS

This is a day to talk about! Just before Christmas, Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond and I got together for a morning fishing trip. This just happened to be the same day that Bill Boyle was giving a little Christmas party at the bait shop there.

The party was to start at 1 p.m. Here was a rare setup. If Keith and I could just connect with a couple of big fish; then returning to the bait shop dock party with the crowd there would put us on top of the world. So off we started. I took a flyrod and Keith took his conventional rod. We arrived at our spot south of the Richmond Bridge about 10 a.m. We had three hours to go. At 11:05, I had a good hit, set the hook, and had a sturgeon on. At 12:25, we had the fish boated. Between 12:25 and 1:30 we boated three good stripers — two about 18 pounds and one about eight.

TO THE PARTY we went, arriving at the fish dock with things going in full progress. Naturally, we weighed and measured the sturgeon there; it was exactly six-feet long and weighed about 75 pounds. It was a slim fish, by standards; it should have hit the scales at about 90 pounds. The crowd was duly impressed.

At the party, we had smoked salmon, smoked sturgeon and some good Christmas drinks. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lauchenauer and Mrs. and Mrs. Sam Knoles were there, among others. This was an ideal time for me to approach these ladies for a little news for the column. I had called Locki (as we call him) several times this past week, but he was having some trouble with his throat, so all I got for answers were some croaking sounds. I asked Mrs. Locki about this. Her answer: "Oh, Bob has had the bourbon flu," created an uproar! So if you wondered about Bob's sickness, now you know what he had. It's a holiday season malady. Most fishermen catch it.

AFTER THAT, I talked to Mrs. Knoles for awhile, but she "doesn't know anything bad" about Sam. They've been married over 50 years, too. Boy! Has he got her trained or fooled?

About this time, Keith and I decided to go back to fishing. We headed back to our exact same spot. We had fished the morning incoming now it was the outgoing tide. Well, I caught another bass in jig time, so I had to shake up Keith a little by reminding him that I was now limited on both bass and sturgeon, and that now I was fishing for just founders. This is called, "using the needle." Eventually Keith got a second bass. It was the day's biggest, so we headed for home.

OH, ONE OTHER interesting thing happened on the bay. There was a couple fishing about 50 yards from us. I know they were both bugged, because we were catching fish and they weren't. (There's nothing worse than having this happen to a fisherman.) Finally, the girl got a bass on, which she landed after playing the fish in good style.

When the fish was netted and boated, the couple threw their arms around each other, and a great number of kisses were exchanged. It was a rare sight. Finally, Keith and I could stand it no longer, so we yelled over and asked her if she would like to come aboard our boat to fish for awhile. (After all, we were catching lots of fish!) They looked over, then quickly raised anchor and headed for Richmond. Keith and I howled.

NOW, WASN'T that a day? One sturgeon, five bass and being witnesses to a happy couple catching a much wanted fish. Keith thinks he will start the New Year by taking just girls fishing. (There's more to fishing than meets the eye.)

By Sunday, there were 30 boats anchored at our hot spot. Somebody talked!

A Sports Program For San Quentin

when watching boxing matches with some of the big names." "Names" such as heavyweight contender George Foreman and state champions Henry Clark, heavyweight, and Chuck Hamilton, light heavyweight, have boxed exhibitions at San Quentin in the Memorial Day card May 30.

Besides attracting a fine crowd of boxers and fans, the sports program has drawn financial support from the state. Baker adds: "We get $5,800 (yearly) in equipment" for football, basketball and gym uniforms, tennis shoes, boxing equipment, et al.

Both Thompson and Conley agree that the monetarial support has been gratifying.

"Some of the guys," Baker continues, "can see sports like boxing as a way out, so they work real hard at it."

Other inmates perform strictly for recreational purposes.

The program, run by Baker and his assistant, Terry Plant, is low-keyed, functioning around inmates athletic needs. "We try to get as many of the men involved as possible. We also try to fit them into leadership roles through intramurals.

"We see them play in intramurals ... we watch to see who the leaders are and eventually they pick their own teams. From these teams, we get some real spirited play. And they're pretty good, too."

This spirit carries over from the intramurals to the varsity teams where competitiveness is intense. "A lot of guys don't make the (varsity) teams, but they can always go out for the team again."

Though the competition is keen, the athletes find it satisfying. "The population here is stable ... the guys know they're going to be staying around here for a while, so they're indulging in sports."

For facilities, the inmates use the gym plus two fields, one for football, the other for baseball and track.

With such a diversified program available on good facilities, it is no surprise that the San Quentin prison athletic participants believe there is "something here for everybody."

Basketball: Marin 'Cats Get Revenge

Host Marin Catholic High School avenged an earlier two-point loss to St. Patrick's of Vallejo last night by whipping the Bruins, 70-41, to move into the consolation championship at 4:30 p.m., today in the Marin Catholic Freshman Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Wildcats' opponent will be Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, which broke open a close contest late in the game to smother San Rafael, 56-37. The Bulldogs played St. Patrick's today at 3 p.m. for seventh place.

Terra Linda lost in the semi-finals to Moreau of Hayward, 44-34, and will play San Francisco's Sacred Heart, loser to Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland, 36-32, at 6 p.m. for third place. Top seeded O'Dowd plays Moreau at 7:30 for the championship.

Local team high scorers included: Deke Welch, 13 for San Rafael; Greg Bullian, 17, and John Riccardi and Gary Johnson, 15 each for Marin Catholic; and Dan Wood, 12 for Terra Linda.

Seals Host Islanders Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) —To a man standing on his head, the California Golden Seals and New York Islanders lead their respective divisions in the National Hockey League.

But to the upright set, the Seals and Islanders occupy the basements of both divisions. Tonight the teams meet at the Coliseum-Arena with the Seals seeking vengeance.

It might be strange for California to seek revenge against a team that has won only four games. However, two of those victories were over the Seals last month.

California has five victories and eight ties for 18 points while the Islanders have 12 points built on their four wins and four deadlocks.

The Seals have been playing steady hockey of late and have been getting some fine offensive rushes from their No. 1 line of Walt McKechnie, Craig Patrick and Joey Johnston. In addition, rookie defenseman Ted McAneeley has scored three goals in his last two games.

After tonight, the Seals are idle until Wednesday when they entertain the Vancouver Canucks.

Bulldogs' record dropped to 7-5. Scott Brown and Kevin Gallivan came up with five assists each for the visitors.

Terra Linda's Mark Lowey scored 16 points and Scott Logan 14 as the varsity defeated the alumni, which were led by Eric Borcherding's 15 points.

Redwood (7-6) piled up a 49-33 lead on St. Ignatius and coasted the rest of the way. Mike Connor led the Giants with 19 points and Darrell Elder contributed 14. Redwood shot 48 per cent (23 of 48).

The game was part of a two-night affair called the Bay Area High School Holiday Season Doubleheader, which will be expanded next year to an eight-team tournament. Connor was chosen most valuable player and Elder was named to the five-man all-tournament team.

Warner Award To USC's Rae

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

PALO ALTO — Mike Rae, unsung quarterback of No. 1 ranked Southern California, yesterday was named winner of the Glenn (Pop) Warner Memorial Award, given annually to the most valuable senior college football player on the West Coast.

Rae, a 6-1, 186-pound athlete from Lakewood, Calif., edged out two quarterbacks who were named ahead of him on the All-Coast team, Ty Paine of Washington State and Oregon's Dan Fouts, and receiver Steve Sweeney of California.

In guiding the Trojans to the Rose Bowl, Rae completed 96 of 174 passes for 1,525 yards and rushed for another 276 yards.

More Football

DAYTON, Ohio — University of Dayton football player Matt Dahlinghaus, who suffered a broken neck in a game this season and was paralyzed from the neck down, died here yesterday of complications resulting from the injury.

Dahlinghaus, 20, a junior from Dayton, suffered a broken neck in the Flyers' next-to-last game of the season at Bowling Green State University on Nov. 11.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A young construction worker says two Miami Dolphin football players beat him up and inflicted wounds requiring 15 stitches in a barroom melee last August and he wants $10,000 in damages.

Harold Schroeder, 22, said in a law suit filed in Circuit Court that linebacker Bob Matheson and defensive tackle Manny Fernandez did the damage while tackles Doug Crusan and Jim Riley and retired running back Terry Cole egged them on.

Golf

LOS ANGELES — The Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open, first Professional Golfers Association tour event of the new year, has drawn 56 of the top 60 money winners of 1972, including Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino.

The $135,000 opening 1973 event will be held at the Riviera Country Club Jan. 4-7.

Boxing

INGLEWOOD — Welterweight boxing champion Jose Napoles will defend his title for the 10th time Feb. 28 in a rematch against Ernie (Indian Red) Lopez of Los Angeles at the Forum.

Promoter Don Fraser said yesterday Napoles, 32, of Mexico City had agreed to terms for a second meeting with the 27-year-old Lopez, the No. 2 ranked challenger. In their first meeting Feb. 15, 1970, at the Forum, Napoles kayoed Lopez in the 15th round.

Napoles, who won the crown from Curtis Cokes in 1969, is 68-5-0. Lopez has a 46-7-1 record.

The Pacific Coast Changes Bowl Trend

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Pacific Coast, which used to be a doormat for the Big Ten, has reversed that trend and now has one of its own.

When University of Southern California and Ohio State meet in the Rose Bowl Monday, the national champion Trojans will be two-touchdown favorites to give the Pacific-8 its fourth straight win here and sixth in the past eight New Year's Day classics.

The Big Ten still has a big edge since the signing of an exclusive contract in 1946 to play the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl.

Since the 1947 game in which Illinois walloped UCLA 45-14, teams from the Midwest have won 17 of the 26 meetings. However, the West Coast has been the dominant conference in the 1960s and 1970s.

Jim Owens' Washington teams won in 1960 (44-8 over Wisconsin) and 1961 (17-7 over Minnesota) and the Big Ten has won only five times since.

The Pac-8's string of five in the last seven Rose Bowls started with UCLA's memorable upset of unbeaten national champion Michigan State (1412), a victory which more than a few Midwesterners painfully admit did more to burst the Big Ten's bubble than any game played previously.

The last Big Ten win was provided by Woody Hayes and Ohio State in 1969. The Buckeyes' national titlist team stopped O.J. Simpson and USC 27-16.

A Rose Bowl victory by USC in 1970 and wins by Stanford the past two years may have prodded the Big Ten to rescind its "no repeat" rule. It now reportedly is considering to remove its self-imposed ban on red shirting.

Although the 1973 game matches the No. 1 and No. 3 (Ohio State) teams with a combined record of 20-1, there is a groundswell to drop the Big Ten.

Tournament of Roses officials deny they have any intention of doing so, though, pointing out that they expect a record crowd of 106,000 Monday although the game is televised locally.

John McKay, USC's wisecracking coach, is looking to reverse a trend against the sometimes-irascible Hayes. Including the 1969 Rose Bowl, Hayes holds a 3-1 edge over McKay.

Hayes' 1960 Ohio State team beat McKay's USC squad 20-0 and in 1964 the Buckeyes prevailed 17-0 against the Trojans. McKay's only victory over Hayes came in 1963 by a score of 32-3.

Steelers Seek Status Of Bradshaw

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who'll have their hands full taking on the unbeaten Miami Dolphins in the American Football Conference title game Sunday, find out today whether quarterback Terry Bradshaw will be available for duty.

Bradshaw and reserve tight end Larry Brown were hospitalized Thursday afternoon for treatment of a flu infection and the nature of the illness will be determined today.

Should Bradshaw have only a 24-hour infection, he could be available today when the Steelers take the practice field at 1:30 p.m. However, a more severe infection might force Terry Hanratty, the former Notre Dame star, into duty.

Reserve defensive tackle Ernie Holmes also was troubled with the flu Thursday but practiced and defensive end Dwight White, who turned in a standout performance against Oakland last Saturday, practiced for the first time this week despite two bad knees.

White said he should be close to 100 percent for the Sunday game against the Dolhpins, who set a National Football League record by winning all 14 regular season games and defeated Cleveland 20-14 in last Sunday's AFC semifinal game.

"We'll know Friday about Bradshaw," Steeler coach Chuck Noll said. "I really don't think it's that serious. We just want to make sure there's no complications."

The Dolphins arrive tonight and coach Don Shula will hold a 7 p.m. news conference. The Dolphins will workout Saturday at 2 p.m. at Three Rivers Stadium.

COACH OF YEAR

Hard Work Pays Off For Noll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Noll must have been wondering what he'd gotten himself into late in 1969 as he watched his Pittsburgh Steelers stumble to their 13th straight loss after an opening game victory.

But patience, hard work and dedication paid off for Noll and in just four years, he converted the Steelers from doormats to division champions and today finds himself as United Press International's American Football Conference Coach of the Year.

Noll was named on 20 ballots cast by the 39-member UPI panel of pro football writers, three from each AFC city, and nosed out former boss Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins by just four votes. Nick Skorich of Cleveland was third in the balloting, receiving the three remaining votes.

Noll, who was defensive coach under Shula at Baltimore in 1968 when the Colts obliterated opponents enroute to defensive records, replaced Bill Austin at Pittsburgh in 1969.

His first season was a disaster as the club opened with a victory against Detroit and then didn't win again until the second game of the following season.

Noll cleaned house, went with young players and molded his type of team—ball control offense and bone-jarring defense. The Steelers moved to 5-9 in 1970 and boosted that to 6-8 last season. Pittsburgh capped Noll's rebuilding program this year by winning 11 of 14 games and capturing the Central Division title, the Steelers' first divisional honor since they entered the league in 1933.

Pheasant Hunters Have Poor Season

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Pheasant hunters apparently had a poor season this year compared to last, the California Department of Fish and Game reported Wednesday.

Preliminary reports say hunters took 2,331 cock pheasants from 10 managed acres compared to 4,014 cocks during the 1971 season. The DFG said that weather was poor during the first two weeks of the 23-day season, which ended Dec. 10.

Four Marinites are ranked in the Northern California Tennis Association Class B and C rankings for 1972 released this week.

Russ Givin of Larkspur is ranked seventh in Mens B Singles. In Mens C Singles rankings, Keith Klussman, San Rafael, is sixth, while Mill Valley's Rich Creighton is 11th and Larry Petz is 17th.

IN WARRIOR WIN

Thurmond Help From 3 Mates

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors today believe the adage "one hand washes the other."

Nate Thurmond got into foul trouble early but Rick Barry, Clyde Lee and George Johnson all pitched in and picked up the slack to enable the Warriors to down the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-105 Thursday night.

Thurmond saw only limited action after picking up his fifth foul in the second quarter. The 6-11 center scored only eight points while playing 20 minutes.

Lee and Johnson then alternated in the pivot for Thurmond. Lee, who also played forward, hit on seven of nine from the floor and finished with 16 points in 46 minutes. Johnson didn't score but played a strong defensive game.

However, the hero was Barry, who topped all scorers with 35 points. He tallied 30 of those in the second and third periods and pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds.

Barry could hardly miss, hitting 13 of 19 field goal attempts and 9 of 11 free throws. His shooting helped the Warriors connect on 53.3 per cent of their shots.

Golden State's hot shooting balanced 29 fouls whistled against them. Officials called 57 fouls.

The Cavaliers, behind guard Len Wilkens, closed to whitin 81-77 late in the third period. Then Barry triggered a 12-7 stretch drive with eight points for a 93-84 advantage entering the final period.

Wilkens' output carried him past Dick Barnett of the New York Knicks as the 15th all-time scorer in the National Basketball Association with 15,236 points. The game was halted and Wilkens was presented the basketball.

Kansas City-Omaha, boasting the National Basketball Association's top scorer in Nate Archibald, invade the Coliseum-Arena Saturday night.

PREP CAGE PROSPECTS

San Rafael Mystery Squad Is Developing

By LEW CODDINGTON

(Last in a series on Marin County Athletic League varsity basketball prospects.)

The mystery guest has already signed in — with a heavy hand.

San Rafael High School, which lost all five starters and the coach off last year's basketball team, still has enough talent to compile a 7-5 record and buoy the optimism of its new mentor.

"In some ways, these kids are growing up," said Bret Tovani, who took over when Mike Diaz decided to devote his full time to being athletic director. "I'm really pleased with the way we've been able to handle pressure."

The Bulldogs have the physical tools to go with the poised attitude they try to attain. San Rafael currently is starting a front line with two 6-foot-7 players — Byron Stewart, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, and Pete Neuwald, replacing the ailing Guy Perry, who has just returned from a bout with pneumonia.

Six-foot-three senior Dan Zitek gets the call at forward and is the best rebounder behind Stewart. In the backcourt are 6-1 junior Steve D'Ambra and 5-5 senior Kevin Gallivan, the smallest player in the Marin County Athletic League.

"We really have nine or 10 guys who can be counted on," said Tovani. "Eric Ellingson has played three positions for us (guard, forward and post). Scott Brown has made the adjustment from a high scorer and played a fine game last week in which he didn't score but got eight assists. There's Mike Ellingson, Eric's younger brother, and Greg Campbell as well. And when Perry returns to form, it'll be a bonus."

Like Diaz, Tovani believes in tight defense, but unlike his predecessor, he prefers man-on-man alignment. "My philosophy is that if you can play man-on-man, you can play any kind of defense," he said. "The kids are beginning to enjoy playing defense and to be as pleased when they do something well on defense as when they do it on offense."

San Rafael plays a disciplined game on offense, and Tovani has made a team slogan of "patience and poise." "We're not going to score 70 or 80 points a game — that's not our plan," he said. "Anytime we hold a team under 50, though, we'll win."

Tovani also places great stock in conditioning. "It's been characteristic of this team to play great fourth quarters," he said. "Twice we have held our opponents under 10 points in the period while getting more than 20 ourselves. I like to think it's conditioning.

"I told the team at the start of the year they would have to do three things to win — be in better shape than the opponent, play as a team, and want it more than anybody else."

Last year, San Rafael finished third in the MCAL at 9-5, numbering among its victories a history-making upset of Redwood, ending the Giants' 41-game league winning streak. The Bulldogs' overall mark was 15-13.

Golfer Botts Leads Pro-Am

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Rafe Botts rode the tricky winds of the Monterey Peninsula to a two-stroke lead entering today's third round in the $25,000 Laguna Seca-Delmonte Hyatt Pro-Am Invitational.

Botts, one of the few blacks on the pro tour, fired a four-under-par 67 at Laguna Seca Golf Ranch Thursday to go with his opening round 70 at Delmonte for a 36-hole total of 137.

The veteran touring pro from Los Angeles went two strokes up on Mike Reasor of San Diego who shot par 71 to go with a first-round 68.

Dick Lotz, Danville, Calif., the first-round leader, stumbled with a two-over-par 73 to fall into seven-way tie for third at 140.

Others at 140 were Californians Artie McNickle of Sacramento, Bob Eastwood of Lodi, Dick McClean of Carmel and touring pros Pete Brown of Los Angeles, Jim Wiechers of Napa and Forrest Fezler of San Jose. All had rounds of 68-72.

FISH AND GAME

A Busy Day For Fishing, Partying

By AL GIDDINGS

This is a day to talk about! Just before Christmas, Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond and I got together for a morning fishing trip. This just happened to be the same day that Bill Boyle was giving a little Christmas party at the bait shop there.

The party was to start at 1 p.m. Here was a rare setup. If Keith and I could just connect with a couple of big fish; then returning to the bait shop dock party with the crowd there would put us on top of the world. So off we started. I took a flyrod and Keith took his conventional rod. We arrived at our spot south of the Richmond Bridge about 10 a.m. We had three hours to go. At 11:05, I had a good hit, set the hook, and had a sturgeon on. At 12:25, we had the fish boated. Between 12:25 and 1:30 we boated three good stripers — two about 18 pounds and one about eight.

TO THE PARTY we went, arriving at the fish dock with things going in full progress. Naturally, we weighed and measured the sturgeon there; it was exactly six-feet long and weighed about 75 pounds. It was a slim fish, by standards; it should have hit the scales at about 90 pounds. The crowd was duly impressed.

At the party, we had smoked salmon, smoked sturgeon and some good Christmas drinks. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lauchenauer and Mrs. and Mrs. Sam Knoles were there, among others. This was an ideal time for me to approach these ladies for a little news for the column. I had called Locki (as we call him) several times this past week, but he was having some trouble with his throat, so all I got for answers were some croaking sounds. I asked Mrs. Locki about this. Her answer: "Oh, Bob has had the bourbon flu," created an uproar! So if you wondered about Bob's sickness, now you know what he had. It's a holiday season malady. Most fishermen catch it.

AFTER THAT, I talked to Mrs. Knoles for awhile, but she "doesn't know anything bad" about Sam. They've been married over 50 years, too. Boy! Has he got her trained or fooled?

About this time, Keith and I decided to go back to fishing. We headed back to our exact same spot. We had fished the morning incoming now it was the outgoing tide. Well, I caught another bass in jig time, so I had to shake up Keith a little by reminding him that I was now limited on both bass and sturgeon, and that now I was fishing for just founders. This is called, "using the needle." Eventually Keith got a second bass. It was the day's biggest, so we headed for home.

OH, ONE OTHER interesting thing happened on the bay. There was a couple fishing about 50 yards from us. I know they were both bugged, because we were catching fish and they weren't. (There's nothing worse than having this happen to a fisherman.) Finally, the girl got a bass on, which she landed after playing the fish in good style.

When the fish was netted and boated, the couple threw their arms around each other, and a great number of kisses were exchanged. It was a rare sight. Finally, Keith and I could stand it no longer, so we yelled over and asked her if she would like to come aboard our boat to fish for awhile. (After all, we were catching lots of fish!) They looked over, then quickly raised anchor and headed for Richmond. Keith and I howled.

NOW, WASN'T that a day? One sturgeon, five bass and being witnesses to a happy couple catching a much wanted fish. Keith thinks he will start the New Year by taking just girls fishing. (There's more to fishing than meets the eye.)

By Sunday, there were 30 boats anchored at our hot spot. Somebody talked!

when watching boxing matches with some of the big names." "Names" such as heavyweight contender George Foreman and state champions Henry Clark, heavyweight, and Chuck Hamilton, light heavyweight, have boxed exhibitions at San Quentin in the Memorial Day card May 30.

Besides attracting a fine crowd of boxers and fans, the sports program has drawn financial support from the state. Baker adds: "We get $5,800 (yearly) in equipment" for football, basketball and gym uniforms, tennis shoes, boxing equipment, et al.

Both Thompson and Conley agree that the monetarial support has been gratifying.

"Some of the guys," Baker continues, "can see sports like boxing as a way out, so they work real hard at it."

Other inmates perform strictly for recreational purposes.

The program, run by Baker and his assistant, Terry Plant, is low-keyed, functioning around inmates athletic needs. "We try to get as many of the men involved as possible. We also try to fit them into leadership roles through intramurals.

"We see them play in intramurals . . . we watch to see who the leaders are and eventually they pick their own teams. From these teams, we get some real spirited play. And they're pretty good, too."

This spirit carries over from the intramurals to the varsity teams where competitiveness is intense. "A lot of guys don't make the (varsity) teams, but they can always go out for the team again."

Though the competition is keen, the athletes find it satisfying. "The population here is stable . . . the guys know they're going to be staying around here for a while, so they're indulging in sports."

For facilities, the inmates use the gym plus two fields, one for football, the other for baseball and track.

With such a diversified program available on good facilities, it is no surprise that the San Quentin prison athletic participants believe there is "something here for everybody."

Basketball: Marin 'Cats Get Revenge

Host Marin Catholic High School avenged an earlier two-point loss to St. Patrick's of Vallejo last night by whipping the Bruins, 70-41, to move into the consolation championship at 4:30 p.m., today in the Marin Catholic Freshman Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Wildcats' opponent will be Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, which broke open a close contest late in the game to smother San Rafael, 56-37. The Bulldogs played St. Patrick's today at 3 p.m. for seventh place.

Terra Linda lost in the semifinals to Moreau of Hayward, 44-34, and will play San Francisco's Sacred Heart, loser to Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland, 36-32, at 6 p.m. for third place. Top seeded O'Dowd plays Moreau at 7:30 for the championship.

Local team high scorers included: Deke Welch, 13 for San Rafael; Greg Bullian, 17, and John Riccardi and Gary Johnson, 15 each for Marin Catholic; and Dan Wood, 12 for Terra Linda.

Seals Host Islanders Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) —To a man standing on his head, the California Golden Seals and New York Islanders lead their respective divisions in the National Hockey League.

But to the upright set, the Seals and Islanders occupy the basements of both divisions. Tonight the teams meet at the Coliseum-Arena with the Seals seeking vengeance.

It might be strange for California to seek revenge against a team that has won only four games. However, two of those victories were over the Seals last month.

California has five victories and eight ties for 18 points while the Islanders have 12 points built on their four wins and four deadlocks.

The Seals have been playing steady hockey of late and have been getting some fine offensive rushes from their No. 1 line of Walt McKechnie, Craig Patrick and Joey Johnston. In addition, rookie defenseman Ted McAneeley has scored three goals in his last two games.

After tonight, the Seals are idle until Wednesday when they entertain the Vancouver Canucks.

Bulldogs' record dropped to 7-5. Scott Brown and Kevin Gallivan came up with five assists each for the visitors.

Terra Linda's Mark Lowey scored 16 points and Scott Logan 14 as the varsity defeated the alumni, which were led by Eric Borcherding's 15 points.

Redwood (7-6) piled up a 49-33 lead on St. Ignatius and coasted the rest of the way. Mike Connor led the Giants with 19 points and Darrell Elder contributed 14. Redwood shot 48 per cent (23 of 48).

The game was part of a two-night affair called the Bay Area High School Holiday Season Doubleheader, which will be expanded next year to an eight-team tournament. Connor was chosen most valuable player and Elder was named to the five-man all-tournament team.

Warner Award To USC's Rae

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

PALO ALTO — Mike Rae, unsung quarterback of No. 1 ranked Southern California, yesterday was named winner of the Glenn (Pop) Warner Memorial Award, given annually to the most valuable senior college football player on the West Coast.

Rae, a 6-1, 186-pound athlete from Lakewood, Calif., edged out two quarterbacks who were named ahead of him on the All-Coast team, Ty Paine of Washington State and Oregon's Dan Fouts, and receiver Steve Sweeney of California.

In guiding the Trojans to the Rose Bowl, Rae completed 96 of 174 passes for 1,525 yards and rushed for another 276 yards.

More Football

DAYTON, Ohio — University of Dayton football player Matt Dahlinghaus, who suffered a broken neck in a game this season and was paralyzed from the neck down, died here yesterday of complications resulting from the injury.

Dahlinghaus, 20, a junior from Dayton, suffered a broken neck in the Flyers' next-to-last game of the season at Bowling Green State University on Nov. 11.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A young construction worker says two Miami Dolphin football players beat him up and inflicted wounds requiring 15 stitches in a barroom melee last August and he wants $10,000 in damages.

Harold Schroeder, 22, said in a law suit filed in Circuit Court that linebacker Bob Matheson and defensive tackle Manny Fernandez did the damage while tackles Doug Crusan and Jim Riley and retired running back Terry Cole egged them on.

Golf

LOS ANGELES — The Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open, first Professional Golfers Association tour event of the new year, has drawn 56 of the top 60 money winners of 1972, including Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino.

The $135,000 opening 1973 event will be held at the Riviera Country Club Jan. 4-7.

Boxing

INGLEWOOD — Welterweight boxing champion Jose Napoles will defend his title for the 10th time Feb. 28 in a rematch against Ernie (Indian Red) Lopez of Los Angeles at the Forum.

Promoter Don Fraser said yesterday Napoles, 32, of Mexico City had agreed to terms for a second meeting with the 27-year-old Lopez, the No. 2 ranked challenger. In their first meeting Feb. 15, 1970, at the Forum, Napoles kayoed Lopez in the 15th round.

Napoles, who won the crown from Curtis Cokes in 1969, is 68-5-0. Lopez has a 46-7-1 record.

The Pacific Coast Changes Bowl Trend

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Pacific Coast, which used to be a doormat for the Big Ten, has reversed that trend and now has one of its own.

When University of Southern California and Ohio State meet in the Rose Bowl Monday, the national champion Trojans will be two-touchdown favorites to give the Pacific-8 its fourth straight win here and sixth in the past eight New Year's Day classics.

The Big Ten still has a big edge since the signing of an exclusive contract in 1946 to play the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl.

Since the 1947 game in which Illinois walloped UCLA 45-14, teams from the Midwest have won 17 of the 26 meetings. However, the West Coast has been the dominant conference in the 1960s and 1970s.

Jim Owens' Washington teams won in 1960 (44-8 over Wisconsin) and 1961 (17-7 over Minnesota) and the Big Ten has won only five times since.

The Pac-8's string of five in the last seven Rose Bowls started with UCLA's memorable upset of unbeaten national champion Michigan State (1412), a victory which more than a few Midwesterners painfully admit did more to burst the Big Ten's bubble than any game played previously.

The last Big Ten win was provided by Woody Hayes and Ohio State in 1969. The Buckeyes' national titlist team stopped O.J. Simpson and USC 27-16.

A Rose Bowl victory by USC in 1970 and wins by Stanford the past two years may have prodded the Big Ten to rescind its "no repeat" rule. It now reportedly is considering to remove its self-imposed ban on red shirting.

Although the 1973 game matches the No. 1 and No. 3 (Ohio State) teams with a combined record of 20-1, there is a groundswell to drop the Big Ten.

Tournament of Roses officials deny they have any intention of doing so, though, pointing out that they expect a record crowd of 106,000 Monday although the game is televised locally.

John McKay, USC's wisecracking coach, is looking to reverse a trend against the sometimes-irascible Hayes. Including the 1969 Rose Bowl, Hayes holds a 3-1 edge over McKay.

Hayes' 1960 Ohio State team beat McKay's USC squad 20-0 and in 1964 the Buckeyes prevailed 17-0 against the Trojans. McKay's only victory over Hayes came in 1963 by a score of 32-3.

Steelers Seek Status Of Bradshaw

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who'll have their hands full taking on the unbeaten Miami Dolphins in the American Football Conference title game Sunday, find out today whether quarterback Terry Bradshaw will be available for duty.

Bradshaw and reserve tight end Larry Brown were hospitalized Thursday afternoon for treatment of a flu infection and the nature of the illness will be determined today.

Should Bradshaw have only a 24-hour infection, he could be available today when the Steelers take the practice field at 1:30 p.m. However, a more severe infection might force Terry Hanratty, the former Notre Dame star, into duty.

Reserve defensive tackle Ernie Holmes also was troubled with the flu Thursday but practiced and defensive end Dwight White, who turned in a standout performance against Oakland last Saturday, practiced for the first time this week despite two bad knees.

White said he should be close to 100 percent for the Sunday game against the Dolhpins, who set a National Football League record by winning all 14 regular season games and defeated Cleveland 20-14 in last Sunday's AFC semifinal game.

"We'll know Friday about Bradshaw," Steeler coach Chuck Noll said. "I really don't think it's that serious. We just want to make sure there's no complications."

The Dolphins arrive tonight and coach Don Shula will hold a 7 p.m. news conference. The Dolphins will workout Saturday at 2 p.m. at Three Rivers Stadium.

COACH OF YEAR

Hard Work Pays Off For Noll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Noll must have been wondering what he'd gotten himself into late in 1969 as he watched his Pittsburgh Steelers stumble to their 13th straight loss after an opening game victory.

But patience, hard work and dedication paid off for Noll and in just four years, he converted the Steelers from doormats to division champions and today finds himself as United Press International's American Football Conference Coach of the Year.

Noll was named on 20 ballots cast by the 39-member UPI panel of pro football writers, three from each AFC city, and nosed out former boss Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins by just four votes. Nick Skorich of Cleveland was third in the balloting, receiving the three remaining votes.

Noll, who was defensive coach under Shula at Baltimore in 1968 when the Colts obliterated opponents enroute to defensive records, replaced Bill Austin at Pittsburgh in 1969.

His first season was a disaster as the club opened with a victory against Detroit and then didn't win again until the second game of the following season.

Noll cleaned house, went with young players and molded his type of team—ball control offense and bone-jarring defense. The Steelers moved to 5-9 in 1970 and boosted that to 6-8 last season. Pittsburgh capped Noll's rebuilding program this year by winning 11 of 14 games and capturing the Central Division title, the Steelers' first divisional honor since they entered the league in 1933.

Pheasant Hunters Have Poor Season

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Pheasant hunters apparently had a poor season this year compared to last, the California Department of Fish and Game reported Wednesday.

Preliminary reports say hunters took 2,331 cock pheasants from 10 managed acres compared to 4,014 cocks during the 1971 season. The DFG said that weather was poor during the first two weeks of the 23-day season, which ended Dec. 10.

Four Marinites are ranked in the Northern California Tennis Association Class B and C rankings for 1972 released this week.

IN WARRIOR WIN

Thurmond Help From 3 Mates

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors today believe the adage "one hand washes the other."

Nate Thurmond got into foul trouble early but Rick Barry, Clyde Lee and George Johnson all pitched in and picked up the slack to enable the Warriors to down the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-105 Thursday night.

Thurmond saw only limited action after picking up his fifth foul in the second quarter. The 6-11 center scored only eight points while playing 20 minutes.

Lee and Johnson then alternated in the pivot for Thurmond. Lee, who also played forward, hit on seven of nine from the floor and finished with 16 points in 46 minutes. Johnson didn't score but played a strong defensive game.

However, the hero was Barry, who topped all scorers with 35 points. He tallied 30 of those in the second and third periods and pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds.

Barry could hardly miss, hitting 13 of 19 field goal attempts and 9 of 11 free throws. His shooting helped the Warriors connect on 53.3 per cent of their shots.

Golden State's hot shooting balanced 29 fouls whistled against them. Officials called 57 fouls.

The Cavaliers, behind guard Len Wilkens, closed to whitin 81-77 late in the third period. Then Barry triggered a 12-7 stretch drive with eight points for a 93-84 advantage entering the final period.

Wilkens' output carried him past Dick Barnett of the New York Knicks as the 15th all-time scorer in the National Basketball Association with 15,236 points. The game was halted and Wilkens was presented the basketball.

Kansas City-Omaha, boasting the National Basketball Association's top scorer in Nate Archibald, invade the Coliseum-Arena Saturday night.

PREP CAGE PROSPECTS

San Rafael Mystery Squad Is Developing

By LEW CODDINGTON

(Last in a series on Marin County Athletic League varsity basketball prospects.)

The mystery guest has already signed in — with a heavy hand.

San Rafael High School, which lost all five starters and the coach off last year's basketball team, still has enough talent to compile a 7-5 record and buoy the optimism of its new mentor.

"In some ways, these kids are growing up," said Bret Tovani, who took over when Mike Diaz decided to devote his full time to being athletic director. "I'm really pleased with the way we've been able to handle pressure."

The Bulldogs have the physical tools to go with the poised attitude they try to attain. San Rafael currently is starting a front line with two 6-foot-7 players — Byron Stewart, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, and Pete Neuwald, replacing the ailing Guy Perry, who has just returned from a bout with pneumonia.

Six-foot-three senior Dan Zitek gets the call at forward and is the best rebounder behind Stewart. In the backcourt are 6-1 junior Steve D'Ambra and 5-5 senior Kevin Gallivan, the smallest player in the Marin County Athletic League.

"We really have nine or 10 guys who can be counted on," said Tovani. "Eric Ellingson has played three positions for us (guard, forward and post). Scott Brown has made the adjustment from a high scorer and played a fine game last week in which he didn't score but got eight assists. There's Mike Ellingson, Eric's younger brother, and Greg Campbell as well. And when Perry returns to form, it'll be a bonus."

Like Diaz, Tovani believes in tight defense, but unlike his predecessor, he prefers man-on-man alignment. "My philosophy is that if you can play man-on-man, you can play any kind of defense," he said. "The kids are beginning to enjoy playing defense and to be as pleased when they do something well on defense as when they do it on offense."

San Rafael plays a disciplined game on offense, and Tovani has made a team slogan of "patience and poise." "We're not going to score 70 or 80 points a game — that's not our plan," he said. "Anytime we hold a team under 50, though, we'll win."

Tovani also places great stock in conditioning. "It's been characteristic of this team to play great fourth quarters," he said. "Twice we have held our opponents under 10 points in the period while getting more than 20 ourselves. I like to think it's conditioning.

"I told the team at the start of the year they would have to do three things to win — be in better shape than the opponent, play as a team, and want it more than anybody else."

Last year, San Rafael finished third in the MCAL at 9-5, numbering among its victories a history-making upset of Redwood, ending the Giants' 41-game league winning streak. The Bulldogs' overall mark was 15-13.

Golfer Botts Leads Pro-Am

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Rafe Botts rode the tricky winds of the Monterey Peninsula to a two-stroke lead entering today's third round in the $25,000 Laguna Seca-Delmonte Hyatt Pro-Am Invitational.

Botts, one of the few blacks on the pro tour, fired a four-under-par 67 at Laguna Seca Golf Ranch Thursday to go with his opening round 70 at Delmonte for a 36-hole total of 137.

The veteran touring pro from Los Angeles went two strokes up on Mike Reasor of San Diego who shot par 71 to go with a first-round 68.

Dick Lotz, Danville, Calif., the first-round leader, stumbled with a two-over-par 73 to fall into seven-way tie for third at 140.

Others at 140 were Californians Artie McNickle of Sacramento, Bob Eastwood of Lodi, Dick McClean of Carmel and touring pros Pete Brown of Los Angeles, Jim Wiechers of Napa and Forrest Fezler of San Jose. All had rounds of 68-72.

In fourth place with 70-71—141 was Rick Jetter of San Jose. Tied for fifth at 71-71—142 were John Jacobs of San Diego, Ray Leach of Novato, Calif., and Victor Regalado of San Ysidro, Calif.

Inmont Interesting As A Cyclical Issue

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 85 and own 900 shares of Inmont (NYSE), which I have held for a long time. Can you advise me whether to hold or sell? — O.S.

A. Reflecting the improved year-to-year earnings comparisons of the past seven quarters, shares have recovered from their earlier low levels. This uphill climb in both profits and share price should continue in line with the current economic recovery. Because Inmont serves a broad spectrum of industries including transportation equipment, packaging, printing, construction, textile and shoe manufacturing, its fortunes are closely tied to economic trends. A pickup in sales to all of the above industries except textiles was apparent in the first nine months, although recently orders from this segment began to increase.

Particularly notable has been the widening profit margins on the higher level of sales. For the September quarter, 2.1 per cent of sales were taken down to earnings versus only 1.5 per cent in the year earlier period. Given a return to earlier price earnings multiples, contingent of course on continued profit recovery, Inmont should be an above-average performer in coming months.

Q. My mother, a citizen of Belgium, recently purchased shares of American Home Products. Will she have to file a U.S. income tax or pay other U.S. taxes? — A.F.

A. Foreign investors who are not "engaged in trade or business" in the U.S. — Class I investors — are generally taxed at a 30 per cent rate on income from investments. However, certain nations have negotiated tax treaties. Belgium, being one of the latter, enjoys a 15 per cent rate. No U.S. income tax return need be filed by your mother, since the tax is deducted at the source.

In order to qualify as a Class I investor she must not perform personal services, sell merchandise in the U.S. or benefit from a trust which is "engaged in trade or business" in this country. Class I foreign investors are not taxed on capital gains unless more than 183 days annually are spent in the U.S.

SPLASH OF COLOR — Heavy-duty trucks are getting as colorful as new cars and smaller trucks these days, as evidenced by this brightly decorated new International heavy construction unit.

Truck Business Outlook Is Bright As New Paint

By CHARLES E. DOLE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

ANTIOCH — Heavy-duty trucks are getting more arty by the year.

"No longer is color confined to the small truck," says William E. Callahan, executive vice-president of the International Harvester Company.

Even the big trucks are going the color route now. Owner-operators of single trucks specially are opting for color striping more than the fleet buyer.

It's all part of a booming market in big-truck sales, not just the pickups, and the outlook is as bright as the paint on the truck cabs. The heavy and extra-heavy vehicles, in short, are sailing not only along the highways but up the sales charts as well.

Looking ahead; the truckmakers see more and more good news.

It is in this mood of booming sales and brighter-than-ever prospects for the future that truck manufacturers in the United States focus on their new wares for 1973.

Even though the makers of the really big rigs don't tie their new-model announcements to any particular model year the way the car manufacturers and pick-up truckmakers do, many manufacturers are touting big changes in their heavies. Chevrolet, Ford, GMC, Diamond Reo, Dodge, and International all have come up with significant news for the truck industry.

International, for example, has come out with a brand new supertruck, the 5000 Series Paystar, designed for the heavyweight jobs in the construction industry.

When the company launched its new super-heavy line it predicted major gains in its share of the market, particularly in the construction area.

It makes no secret of its aim to achieve the No. 1 spot in construction trucking, now held by Mack.

The new 5000 Series Paystar comes in five models and is rated for up to 85,000 pounds gross vehicle weight. Only diesel power is available.

"We spent a long time designing and engineering this truck," says Robert L. McCaffrey, truck division marketing manager, "testing every step of the way." The new truck line, he adds, "has the kind of versatility that the industry wants."

International has been No. 1 in heavy-duty trucks for at least the last 10 years with about 30 per cent of line-haul sales — trucks of 26,000 gross vehicle weight and over. "But we have not been as strong on the construction side as we have been on the highway side of the market," explains Callahan.

The construction-equipment industry is enormous and contracts are said to total $45 to $50 billion a year. In the 1970 census, some 1,444,000 trucks reportedly were being used in the construction industry, plus 420,000 by governmental agencies and material producers — about 10 per cent of all trucks on the road at that time.

The construction-equipment industry itself is growing at a compounded rate of about 10 per cent a year. No heavy-truck manufacturer is about to ignore figures such as these.

What's behind this growth in highway trucks? According to Callahan:

A good and rising economy.

Increase in the intercity movement of freight by truck.

Brighter prospects for a Teamsters Union trucker contract next year without a strike.

"The freight movement is moving up in line with the rest of the economy," declares Callahan.

"Too, trucks have been getting an increasing share of the dollar volume of the intercity transportation of goods and supplies to the disadvantage of the railroads." He points to continued suburbanization of the population and the location of more and more plants away from railroad sites.

This growth of the truck industry ought to continue, he goes on, "even if not quite at the same velocity as in 1972."

Peering down the pike, the International executive sees some major challenges shaping up for the heavy-truck industry, especially in the areas of emissions, noise, and braking.

There are more than 100 regulations proposed or on the books in the heavy-truck area alone. Not only are trucks facing about the same kind of controls on safety and emissions as cars, but the curbs on noise pollution are getting tougher and tougher.

Trucks now are required to meet an 88-decibel level in some communities and states but there is not yet a federal anti-noise standard. California has an 86-decibel law for 1973.

"The 1973 law is not the one concerning us," declares Donald E. Peterson, Ford vice-president for truck operations. "It's the 1975 California law which requires an 83-decibel level. This sounds like a 5 per cent drop, but is, in fact, a 44 per cent reduction in noise energy. The U.S. law is likely to follow the California one. That's when the going gets rough."

Tougher, and indeed necessary, federal braking standards are due Sept. 1, 1974, both for air-brake equipped vehicles as well as those with hydraulic brakes. The standards had been intended to take effect next year but were postponed.

As for alternate power plants in the big trucks, the turbine will have a major impact over the next 10 years. It will be produced in some volume by 1975 and will be a major force in long-distance operations by 1980.

Keith Mazurek, president of International Harvester's truck division, says "we're ready to go with the turbine at the proper time." The company had built several turbine engines earlier but the technology already has passed them by. It now is using Ford and General Motors turbines in test vehicles on the road.

Meanwhile, business is tremendous.

Prices Take Big Jump On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices boomed higher in typical year-end fashion today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was heavy.

Analysts said there was little news in the background to spark the buying. Many corporate executives have issued reports this week predicting a booming economy in 1973, which may have caused some optimism.

Others noted traditionally the market rises in the last two sessions of the year. They said the market had only two previous trading sessions this week, and some investors may have found issues at good prices.

American Telephone & Telegraph warrants were most actively traded and up ⅛ to 9 on volume of 208,600, including a block of 110,000 at 9.

Prices were slightly higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Champion Home Builders was the most active Amex issue, up ⅜ at 13 ⅛ on 65,000 shares.

Many electronics, computers and glamors paced the Big Board rise. Texas Instruments gained 3 ⅝, IBM 3, Burroughs 2 ⅛ and General Electric, Westinghouse, Motorola and Honeywell around a point. Westinghouse received an order from Carolina Power & Light for a gas turbine.

Corning Glass advanced 3 ¾, and Polaroid, Walt Disney, Ara Services, Johnson & Johnson and Black & Decker around a point. Wrigley and Schlumberger were point-sized losers.

Chemicals generally headed higher, paced by Dupont, up 2 ¾.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Inmont Interesting As A Cyclical Issue

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 85 and own 900 shares of Inmont (NYSE), which I have held for a long time. Can you advise me whether to hold or sell? — O.S.

A. Reflecting the improved year-to-year earnings comparisons of the past seven quarters, shares have recovered from their earlier low levels. This uphill climb in both profits and share price should continue in line with the current economic recovery. Because Inmont serves a broad spectrum of industries including transportation equipment, packaging, printing, construction, textile and shoe manufacturing, its fortunes are closely tied to economic trends. A pickup in sales to all of the above industries except textiles was apparent in the first nine months, although recently orders from this segment began to increase.

Particularly notable has been the widening profit margins on the higher level of sales. For the September quarter, 2.1 per cent of sales were taken down to earnings versus only 1.5 per cent in the year earlier period. Given a return to earlier price earnings multiples, contingent of course on continued profit recovery, Inmont should be an above-average performer in coming months.

Q. My mother, a citizen of Belgium, recently purchased shares of American Home Products. Will she have to file a U.S. income tax or pay other U.S. taxes? — A.F.

A. Foreign investors who are not "engaged in trade or business" in the U.S. — Class I investors — are generally taxed at a 30 per cent rate on income from investments. However, certain nations have negotiated tax treaties. Belgium, being one of the latter, enjoys a 15 per cent rate. No U.S. income tax return need be filed by your mother, since the tax is deducted at the source.

In order to qualify as a Class I investor she must not perform personal services, sell merchandise in the U.S. or benefit from a trust which is "engaged in trade or business" in this country. Class I foreign investors are not taxed on capital gains unless more than 183 days annually are spent in the U.S.

SPLASH OF COLOR — Heavy-duty trucks are getting as colorful as new cars and smaller trucks these days, as evidenced by this brightly decorated new International heavy construction unit.

Truck Business Outlook Is Bright As New Paint

By CHARLES E. DOLE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

ANTIOCH — Heavy-duty trucks are getting more arty by the year.

"No longer is color confined to the small truck," says William E. Callahan, executive vice-president of the International Harvester Company.

Even the big trucks are going the color route now. Owner-operators of single trucks specially are opting for color striping more than the fleet buyer.

It's all part of a booming market in big-truck sales, not just the pickups, and the outlook is as bright as the paint on the truck cabs. The heavy and extra-heavy vehicles, in short, are sailing not only along the highways but up the sales charts as well.

Looking ahead; the truckmakers see more and more good news.

It is in this mood of booming sales and brighter-than-ever prospects for the future that truck manufacturers in the United States focus on their new wares for 1973.

Even though the makers of the really big rigs don't tie their new-model announcements to any particular model year the way the car manufacturers and pick-up truckmakers do, many manufacturers are touting big changes in their heavies. Chevrolet, Ford, GMC, Diamond Reo, Dodge, and International all have come up with significant news for the truck industry.

International, for example, has come out with a brand-new supertruck, the 5000 Series Paystar, designed for the heavyweight jobs in the construction industry.

When the company launched its new super-heavy line it predicted major gains in its share of the market, particularly in the construction area.

It makes no secret of its aim to achieve the No. 1 spot in construction trucking, now held by Mack.

The new 5000 Series Paystar comes in five models and is rated for up to 85,000 pounds gross vehicle weight. Only diesel power is available.

"We spent a long time designing and engineering this truck," says Robert L. McCaffrey, truck division marketing manager, "testing every step of the way." The new truck line, he adds, "has the kind of versatility that the industry wants."

International has been No. 1 in heavy-duty trucks for at least the last 10 years with about 30 per cent of line-haul sales — trucks of 26,000 gross vehicle weight and over. "But we have not been as strong on the construction side as we have been on the highway side of the market," explains Callahan.

The construction-equipment industry is enormous and contracts are said to total $45 to $50 billion a year. In the 1970 census, some 1,444,000 trucks reportedly were being used in the construction industry, plus 420,000 by governmental agencies and material producers — about 10 per cent of all trucks on the road at that time.

The construction-equipment industry itself is growing at a compounded rate of about 10 per cent a year. No heavy-truck manufacturer is about to ignore figures such as these.

What's behind this growth in highway trucks? According to Callahan:

A good and rising economy.

Increase in the intercity movement of freight by truck.

Brighter prospects for a Teamsters Union trucker contract next year without a strike.

"The freight movement is moving up in line with the rest of the economy," declares Callahan.

"Too, trucks have been getting an increasing share of the dollar volume of the intercity transportation of goods and supplies to the disadvantage of the railroads." He points to continued suburbanization of the population and the location of more and more plants away from railroad sites.

This growth of the truck industry ought to continue, he goes on, "even if not quite at the same velocity as in 1972."

Peering down the pike, the International executive sees some major challenges shaping up for the heavy-truck industry, especially in the areas of emissions, noise, and braking.

There are more than 100 regulations proposed or on the books in the heavy-truck area alone. Not only are trucks facing about the same kind of controls on safety and emissions as cars, but the curbs on noise pollution are getting tougher and tougher.

Trucks now are required to meet an 88-decibel level in some communities and states but there is not yet a federal anti-noise standard. California has an 86-decibel law for 1973.

"The 1973 law is not the one concerning us," declares Donald E. Peterson, Ford vice-president for truck operations. "It's the 1975 California law which requires an 83-decibel level. This sounds like a 5 per cent drop, but is, in fact, a 44 per cent reduction in noise energy. The U.S. law is likely to follow the California one. That's when the going gets rough."

Tougher, and indeed necessary, federal braking standards are due Sept. 1, 1974, both for air-brake equipped vehicles as well as those with hydraulic brakes. The standards had been intended to take effect next year but were postponed.

As for alternate power plants in the big trucks, the turbine will have a major impact over the next 10 years. It will be produced in some volume by 1975 and will be a major force in long-distance operations by 1980.

Keith Mazurek, president of International Harvester's truck division, says "we're ready to go with the turbine at the proper time." The company had built several turbine engines earlier but the technology already has passed them by. It now is using Ford and General Motors turbines in test vehicles on the road.

Meanwhile, business is tremendous.

Prices Take Big Jump On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices boomed higher in typical year-end fashion today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was heavy.

Analysts said there was little news in the background to spark the buying. Many corporate executives have issued reports this week predicting a booming economy in 1973, which may have caused some optimism.

Others noted traditionally the market rises in the last two sessions of the year. They said the market had only two previous trading sessions this week, and some investors may have found issues at good prices.

American Telephone & Telegraph warrants were most actively traded and up ⅛ to 9 on volume of 208,600, including a block of 110,000 at 9.

Prices were slightly higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Champion Home Builders was the most active Amex issue, up ⅜ at 13 ⅛ on 65,000 shares.

Many electronics, computers and glamors paced the Big Board rise. Texas Instruments gained 3 ⅝, IBM 3, Burroughs 2 ⅛ and General Electric, Westinghouse, Motorola and Honeywell around a point. Westinghouse received an order from Carolina Power & Light for a gas turbine.

Corning Glass advanced 3 ¾, and Polaroid, Walt Disney, Ara Services, Johnson & Johnson and Black & Decker around a point. Wrigley and Schlumberger were point-sized losers.

Chemicals generally headed higher, paced by Dupont, up 2 ¾.

NEW SNOW FOR THE NEW YEAR

Holiday skiers at South Lake Tahoe happily greeted a Wednesday night storm that deposited from five to seven inches of fresh powder snow on the slopes, bringing very good to excellent ski conditions. Cold temperatures are forecast for the rest of the week to keep the new snowpack at its best. Though it's fun on the slopes, getting there is not quite so jolly. See another picture, page 15)

Democrats Eye Conference On Bomb Protest Strategy

Two Republicans Among Critics Of Renewed Raids

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twenty-two House Democrats urged today that a special party strategy conference be called to organize opposition in the new Congress to President Nixon's bombing raids against North Vietnam.

In addition, two Republican senators declared their opposition to the heavy bombings and one of them, Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, said the President "appears to have left his senses."

The House members wrote Speaker Carl Albert and Democratic National Chairman Robert Strauss to endorse a campaign opposing the bombing.

They asked Strauss to call a special meeting of the Democratic National Committee to discuss the Vietnam developments. And they suggested to Albert that the Democratic caucus at the outset of the new Congress adopt a resolution calling for "an immediate halt to the bombing of Vietnam and the prompt signing of a peace agreement."

Their letter said: "We believe this is a crucial moment for the leadership of the Democratic Party and for the Congress. As the majority party in Congress, we must respond swiftly and decisively to the rising demand that our government halt the bombing and get back to the peace table."

Saxbe said in Springfield, Ohio, that the renewed bombing is subjecting the United States to "world ridicule."

"I think it's time this country said 'enough' to the President and this one-man vendetta," he declared. "Only two or three weeks ago we were talking about spending millions and billions in rehabilitating the North and now we're bombing it back to the Stone Age.

"I have followed President Nixon through all his convolutions and specious arguments, but he appears to have left his senses on this. I can't go along with him on this."

Saxbe said the renewed bombing would lead to, "the complete destruction of North Vietnam, the loss of hundreds of American lives, the loss of numerous planes and probably some type of truce but no final solution."

Nixon, Saxbe said, is "holding the United States up to world ridicule."

Saxbe, a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he had not been contacted by the administration on the renewed bombing and "I understand that none of the other committee members have been contacted either."

Saxbe said he would support end-the-war legislation that may be introduced when Congress reconvenes next week.

Resumption of the bombing "appears like pettishness", Saxbe said, because of a failure to negotiate a satisfactory peace agreement with North Vietnam.

"The only thing I can consider is that he (Nixon) is determined to make them say uncle," said Saxbe. "I thought we passed this milestone of complete destruction in 1965 or 1966 and herewe are committing everything we have again.

"I can't put a reasonable explanation on it and he (Nixon) is making no attempt to.

"If I read it right the people want to know what's going on over there. What are our objectives, how we will achieve them, and what this has got to do with our getting out."

Saxbe, a former Ohio attorney general who maintains a farm at the nearby hamlet of Mechanichsburg, went to Washington four years ago opposed to the war. However, after his first two years in office he became a staunch supporter of Nixon's handling of it.

Sen. Clifford P. Case Jr., R-N.J., said the B52 raids were "wihout justification" and said Congress should act to cut off funds to continue the war at a specified date.

"In the past, we have come close to passing such legislation," Case said. "This time, surely, the American public will demand that this be done."

A New York House member said he would introduce new end-the-war legislation when the new Congress convenes Jan. 3.

Nixon Orders Holiday Bomb Halt

SAIGON (UPI) — Informed U.S. sources said today President Nixon has ordered a brief New Year's Day pause in the bombing of North Vietnam and will extend it if the North Vietnamese return to the negotiating table. Hanoi failed to respond to a similar pause at Christmas.

The massive bombing of North Vietnam entered its 11th day today, with more air losses. The North Vietnam Foreign Ministry said in a statement broadcast by Hanoi Radio that Thursday's raids carried out "extermination attacks on many populous areas in Hanoi" and that "hundreds" of persons were killed.

The U.S. Command today reported the loss of four more planes, including a 15th B52 strategic bomber, bringing to 26 the number of planes reported lost with 85 fliers killed, captured or missing over North Vietnam. In addition, 16 Americans were missing in the loss of an AC130 Spectre gunship shot down over Laos in a support mission.

Hanoi Radio claimed 76 American planes have been shot down since the heavy attacks began Dec.1, 33 of them B52s. Hanoi Radio and Communist dispatches from Hanoi said some of the B52s crashed inside Hanoi and that some pilots were killed, others captured. Hanoi listed the names of 10 more captive fliers today.

President Nixon ordered the heaviest raids of the war against Hanoi and Haiphong on Dec. 18 after talks between his envoy, Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, and the Communist negotiator, Le Duc Tho, broke down.

The North Vietnamese have said a number of times that bombing will not force them back to the conference table, and there were defiant words today from Peking where the North Vietnamese pledged not to negotiate under threat and Chinese Premier Chou En-lai told an antiwar rally of 10,000 persons that China gave Hanoi its firm support.

The Communists said they will observe a 24-hour New Year's truce starting at 1 p.m. (midnight EST) New Year's Eve. the South Vietnamese are expected to announce a similar plan. Both sides called truces at Christmas.

The Soviet news agency Tass reported North Vietnamese antiaircraft gunners shot down two B52s over Hanoi Thursday night. It said "the wreckage of one of the B52s which crashed near the Hanoi Zoo was shown to foreign pressmen in the morning."

Tass said that a textile mill, a confectionery factory, three schools and over 50 houses in the workers districts of Myhuong and Quinhloi were destroyed.

The East German news service, ADN , said the American air raid Tuesday night destroyed Kham Thien Street that was the heart of Hanoi. It said B52s virtually left no stone standing in a stretch of the city 1.2 miles long and a quarter of a mile wide.

American sources in Saigon said political developments between now and New Year's Eve could change the length of the New Year's bombing pause. But they said barring such developments as a sign from Hanoi that North Vietnam wants to resume the peace talks in Paris, only a one-day halt will be carried out.

The Saigon command has yet to announce a New Year's cease-fire, but is expected to repeat the 24-hour truce it declared at Christmas. Although it did not formally announce it, the U.S. command also ordered a 24-hour halt in offensive operations in South Vietnam at Christmas in line with the Saigon declaration. It is expected to follow suit again for the new year.

A U.S. command spokesman said a B52 and an F4 Phantom jet fighter-bomber were shot down over Hanoi Wednesday night. Another Phantom was lost Wednesday to "unknown causes in an unknown location in North Vietnam," spokesmen said.

A U.S. Navy RA5C reconnaissance jet was also reported down in the North Thursday, spokesmen said.

The B52 had at least six crewmen aboard, while each of the smaller jets carried two-man crews, spokesmen said. All 12 or more Americans aboard the four planes were killed or captured, they said.

U.S. spokesman said that in addition to the loss of four planes over North Vietnam, a U.S. Army OH6 Loach observation helicopter was shot down in the Mekong Delta Thursday about 125 miles from Saigon. One American died and another was wounded in the incident.

Marin Home Ravaged By Vandals

A Kent Woodlands woman who returned home last night from a vacation discovered that paint and salad oil had been smeared over her house and many valuable, irreplaceable objects had been stolen or destroyed.

Sheriff's deputies today had no estimate of the damage and loss suffered by Marianne Hetherington of 224 Evergreen Avenue.

They said the destruction was primarily to objects which she prized and that articles belonging to her children had not been disturbed.

Mrs. Hetherington's jewelry had been taken and valuable pieces of china removed from a cabinet and smashed. A painting and antique clock were wrecked, apparently with an axe.

Tan paint had been smeared on the living room walls, furniture and carpet and salad oil slopped onto other carpets. A peace symbol was painted on the hall floor.

Mrs. Hetherington discovered the vandalism and burglary when she returned home about 11 p.m., officers said.

GETTY, ONASSIS PARTY

Hughes Could Take A Few Lessons

LONDON (AP) — While Howard Hughes stayed locked in his London hotel fortress today, two fellow members of the Billionaire Brigade were pouring champagne to greet the New Year.

"I believe in living as full a life as anybody else," said J. Paul Getty, reputedly richer than Hughes the recluse.

With Getty at Sutton Place south of London was another tycoon who leads the good life, shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, husband of the former Jacqueline Kennedy.

Onassis arrived unannounced yesterday from Paris and went straight to Getty's mansion in Surrey. His visit, following quickly on Hughes' sudden arrival from Nicaragua, brought speculation that big deals might be in the making.

But aides insisted it was strictly a social call. Getty and Onassis are personal friends from way back.

Getty broke away from his house party to talk about his philosophy of living with riches at the age of 80.

"I'd have liked you to come down and see me here but the house is full of guests and I haven't a minute to spare," he said. "So let's talk on the telephone."

Getty said his one big dislike is being photographed. Most of his pictures come out long-faced, giving rise to the widespread belief in London that despite his wealth he isn't really happy.

"I'm always told to pose," he said. "The result is that I come out looking sad on pictures.

"I'm not sad."

Another thing he doesn't like is being thought of as a big walking bundle of greenbacks.

"I've other interests," he said.

"Collecting works of art is one of my main hobbies. And I love going to the theater. As for television, I watch it like anyone else if the program is good."

Asked whether he was afraid in this violent age of anything happening to him, Getty replied:

"I take my chance like anyone else. I don't like to lock myself up and I like meeting people."

Getty conceded he was missing the open beaches and the sea of his native California.

"I love walking in the sand and swimming. I have a swimming pool right here," he said.

His parting words were: "I wish you a happy New Year."

Over at the Inn on the Park, Hughes stayed inside his ninth-floor hideout locked off behind bodyguards, three sets of locked doors and closed-circuit security television.

U.S. Among Pact Signers To Safeguard The World's Oceans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and Mexico were among about 20 countries that signed an international convention today for prevention of pollution of the world's oceans.

"The convention marks a unique step by nations to protect our global ocean resources from further pollution due to dumping," acting Secretary of State U. Alexis Johnson said on signing for the United States.

The convention was drafted at an international conference of 92 countries in London in November.

About 20 countries were expected to sign the convention Friday in ceremonies in four capitals —Washington, London, Moscow, and Mexico City. The United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and Mexico signed at each other's capitals. Other parties to the convention are expected to sign early in 1973.

Officially known as the Convention on the Prevention of Marine Pollution by Dumping of Wastes and Other Matter, the treaty specifically prohibits the dumping of mercury and cadmium and their compounds, organohalagen compounds such as DDT, persistent plastics, oil, high level radioactive wastes and chemical and biological warfare agents.

Although it does not blacklist them, the treaty also requires that countries take special care in the dumping of heavy metals, copper, lead, zinc, cyanides and fluorides that could present serious obstacles to fishing or navigation.

Countries must also ensure that their flagships and aircraft observe the terms of the treaty.

President Nixon on Oct. 23 signed domestic legislation for control of ocean dumping. A State Department announcement said that this will require only minor modification to be fully consistent with the treaty which the administration is expected to ask the Senate to ratify early in the new year.

Avalanche Buries Skiers In France

GRENOBLE, France (UPI) — An avalanche buried a group of skiers today near the Deux-Alpes skiing resort.

First police reports said three persons were killed, two were missing and five were injured.

The avalanche swept down a steep slope at an altitude of 10,700 feet in the Oisans Massif, now covered by a thick layer of freshly fallen snow, police said.

Marin, Southern Sonoma Gear For A Three-Day New Year's

Most Marin and Southern Sonoma residents will close out the old year and ring in the new on an extended, three-day holiday this weekend.

Except for scattered businesses and essential services, community activity will come to a virtual halt Monday, New Year's Day, as residents welcome 1973 by watching football bowl games on television or recuperating from the night before.

City halls and county offices in both Marin and Sonoma will be shut, while sessions of governmental bodies set for Monday night have been canceled or postponed.

In Novato, many city employees are enjoying a four-day weekend since city hall was closed today.

The Independent-Journal will not publish Monday.

Although major stores will close, some neighborhood facilities are to remain open.

No library service will be available on the holiday.

Parking meters will not be in operation, including Sausalito meters.

Monday night meetings postponed are the Sausalito School District board, Corte Madera Town Council, Mill Valley City Council, San Rafael City Council and Petaluma and Rohnert Park city councils, all to Tuesday; San Anselmo Planning Commission and Tamalpais High School District board, both to Jan. 8, and the Belvedere City Council and Tiburon Planning Commission, to Thursday.

In addition, the Monday meeting of the Sonoma County Board of Supervisors has been canceled and the Tuesday session of the Petaluma Planning Commission postponed to Wednesday.

Commandos Who Seized Embassy Arrive In Cairo

CARIO (UPI) — Four Palestinian guerrillas who seized the Israeli Embassy in Bangkok and six Israeli hostages, later released, arrived here today aboard a Thai International Airways DC9 with the Egyptian ambassador to Thailand and 10 Thai government officials who said the commandos were their "guests."

Air Chief Marshal Dawee Chulasap, the Thai minister of communications who came to Cairo with the guerrillas, told newsmen he had done all he could to avoid violence with the four Black September Palestinian guerrillas because he had been in Munich and "learned the lesson" from the Olympics massacre in which 11 Israeli Olympic team members and five Arabs were killed.

He said the Palestinians agreed to leave the country when they were told they had acted on what Thailand considers a holy day, the investiture of its crown prince. He quoted them as saying they had decided that friendship with Southeast Asia was more important than a few hostages.

The guerrillas took the six hostages to the Bangkok airport with them but released them before boarding the plane for Cairo. The hostages held for 19 hours were four Israeli diplomats, including the ambassador to Cambodia, Simon Avimor, and two Israeli wives. The hostages had been bound together with ropes but aside from minor injuries caused by their bindings were not hurt.

(In Tel Aviv Prime Minister Golda Meir and her cabinet waited until they actually heard the voices of the six hostages before they raised a toast to their safe deliverance. They had toasted the safety of the Israelis at Munich only to learn later they were dead.)

The four Palestinians were accompanied to Cairo by the Egyptian Ambassador to Thailand, Mustafa El Tawi, who helped negotiate the release of the hostages and safe conduct for the Palestinians out of the country. The Thais aboard included Dawee and Deputy Foreign Minister Chartchai Chunahawan. The others were an army colonel and seven junior officials, Thai officials said in Cairo.

HOSTAGES SAFE — Israeli embassy attache Dan Beeri and his wife of two months, Rachel, both held hostage by Black September Palestinian guerrillas, talked to friends and newsmen after they were released early today, Bangkok time. The four guerrillas who had seized the Israeli embassy in Bangkok and threatened to blow it up, released the six Israelis they had held captive and then flew to Cairo on a special flight. (UPI Telephoto)

The four Palestinians entered the Israeli Embassy in Bangkok at height of the celebrations, seized the building and the six hostages and hung a Palestinian flag out of the window. They demanded the release of 36 prisoners held by Israel, eight of them female guerrillas, and Kozo Okamoto, the Japanese youth who was sentenced to life imprisonment for his part in the massacre last May at Lod International Airport in Tel Aviv where 28 persons died. Okamoto's two accomplices were killed in the battle.

The guerrillas identified themselves as members of the Black September group which killed 11 Israeli Olympians at Munich. They also demanded the return of the bodies of two Black September members who were killed by Israeli soldiers in the attempted hijack of a Sabena airliner at Lod Airport last May 8.

Israeli Hostages Tell Of Long Ordeal With Guerrilla Captors

BANGKOK (UPI) — Israeli hostages held by self-described Arab guerrillas of the Black September organization said today they were prepared to die during their 19-hour ordeal. But, one said, they never lost their sense of humor.

Mrs. Ruth Hadass, 30, wife of embassy first secretary Nitzan Hadass, who was also held hostage, told how the six even managed to laugh among themselves during the long night, prompting one of their captors to ask at one point what they had to laugh about.

"We told him that somebody had just told a good Jewish joke," said Mrs. Haddas.

But there were grim moments. The hostages described the men who held them at gunpoint as skittish types who clutched grenades in their hands throughout the vigil and nervously fingered their weapons.

"I was sure they were going to shoot us," said Hadass, 35. "They were more scared than us. Besides, we were prepared to die."

The hostages were trussed together with nylon cord that bit into wrists and ankles and left wounds that required medical treatment in some cases. They were placed together on the floor of a second floor corridor and kept constantly under guard, usually by two of the guerrillas.

It was a Thai holiday and most of the hostages had simply dropped in to pick up mail when the guerrillas, clad in dark suits, burst through the front door.

"They said 'We are from the Black September,'" said Pianhas Lavie, 37, an embassy attache.

Lavie said they rounded up the six from rooms on the ground floor and told them "Our aim is only one. We want your government to release 36 hostages including 12 girls. We are not murderers— we will treat you well."

Although they were tied, the guerrillas, gave them cigarettes and water. After 12 hours, they brought their prisoners food.

"Some of them were almost nice guys," said Hadass, a former Israeli army officer. "I don't know how they come to this. It is not easy to kill and get killed. They did not maltreat us."

Several of the hostages credited both the Thais and Egyptian ambassador Mustafa El Tawi with saving them.

Lavie said the Thais established a firm position of neutrality but also made it clear that although they wanted no bloodshed on their soil, the guerrillas could expect violence themselves if the hostages came to harm.

Although he did not speak personally to the hostages, El Tawi was credited with relaying an appeal from King Bhumipol Adulydej that there be no violence in such insistent terms that the guerrillas were swayed.

"Much of the credit goes to the Egyptian ambassador," said Simon Avimor, the Israeli ambassador to Cambodia who was visiting Bangkok at the time of the embassy seizure and who also was taken hostage. "He deserves praise for his efforts."

3 San Rafael Teens Rescued

SANTA ROSA (AP) — Three 16-year-old San Rafael boys spent an unscheduled chilly night on a tiny Russian River island four miles north of here before being rescued by a Coast Guard helicopter.

Sonoma County Sheriff's deputies said Thursday that Kevin P. Campion, Paul Freitas and Michael A. Maritzen had set out in a canoe from Alexander Valley near Geyserville Wednesday, but swift current swept them against an island which was described as "more like a pile of brush in the river."

Water swamped the boat so it could not be dislodged and the trio had to spend Wednesday night on the island.

Their plight finally became known the next morning when Sheriff's Sgt. Ed Wilkinson and one of the boy's fathers spotted them after an all night search along the river.

Gibbons Out Of Leadership Bid

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Adverse results from a poll of House Democrats has prompted Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., to withdraw from the race for House Democratic leader.

Gibbons' decision virtually assures the election of Rep. Thomas P. O'Neill of Massachusetts to the post. O'Neill, 60, served as party whip in the last Congress.

Burglary Case To Higher Court

An 18-year-old San Rafael youth, arrested last Friday after a burglary attempt at a San Rafael home, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court.

Gerald Beryl Bagley was then ordered to return to court Jan. 9 for a preliminary hearing on the felony burglary charge.

Bagley and three younger youths were arrested after Richard P. Tomblin arrived at his house at 122 Southern Heights Boulevard and surprised them in and around his dwelling.

Names of two 16-year-old San Anselmo youths and a 17-year-old from San Rafael were withheld on a standing order from Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Open Space For San Anselmo; Planning Goes On And On

I just spent an hour listening to Julie Andrews and Robert Goulet and I hope you did too. What a charming treat it was! Two gracious people with delightfully matched voices.

It was so nice to know so many of you enjoyed the column last week. One lady who phoned in, as a teen-ager, lived in Tacoma and spent many happy days at Point Defiance Park — in the winter during snowfall days, coasting down a fine slope there, and during summer wandering through the wooded area and around the adjoining zoo. She remembers Polly, a most unusual, brilliant plumage type. When we offered her to the zoo people, they were delighted to have such a beauty.

It's good to know that the folks down at City Hall of my home town are earnestly working on the submission of a bond issue to buy "open space". Note the quote marks. Like in San Rafael and Tiburon, they are frankly calling it just what it is — not a park district.

SUPPOSE WE CONSIDER this county-wide general plan situation a bit. When we hear the plaintive cry of the planning director and the advance planning assistant of his — Werner von Gundell and Sol Silver, respectively — in their letters to the editor, it's pretty obvious that the editorials they are moaning about are touching a sensitive nerve or two.

Their maneuvering reminds one of a bizarre dance that some of the London street people, during World War II, used to perform. It was called the Lambeth walk — three steps forward and then two steps back.

They came waltzing out with the general plan — all smiles, saying look what a nice batch of goodies we've cooked up for you, you lucky people. When the editorials started probing and calling attention to what is really being promoted, comes then their letters to the editor: "No, you're wrong, we didn't say that. This is what we meant!" It must have been two other guys who said it.

This then is followed with more letters to the editor, giving parative assumptions of cost factors made up of nine-figure amounts. I hear the questions being asked, "Who are these people? What is their background in financial affairs? Who hired them to come here and organize and promote another life style of living?"

SOMEONE SHOULD answer those questions. There is considerable evidence in their own words that they don't believe that they can put it over.

From von Gundell's letter of the 27th this: "The financing gaps, which exist between some of the plan's goals and the assumed revenue sources, are a cause for concern . . . We have to work hard to close these gaps, or if unsuccessful, to revise the goals of the plan in the future."

The music goes round and round and the planning goes on and on.

Youth Center Movie Schedule Announced

"Woman of Affairs," the 1929 screen classic starring Greta Garbo, John Gilbert and Douglas Fairbanks Jr., will begin the Sausalito Youth Center's 1973 Friday night at the movies series at 8 p.m. Jan. 5 at a center in the old Central School.

Other films planned are: Jan. 12, "The Return of Frank James," with Henry Fonda and Gene Tierney; Jan. 19, "Girl Crazy," Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland; Jan. 26, "The Sun Shines Bright," Charles Winninger, Stepin Fetchit and Francis Ford; Feb. 2, "The Lost World," Wallace Beery and Bessie Love, and "Knight of the Trail," William S. Hart.

Feb. 9, "Stage Door," Katherine Hepburn, Ginger Rogers and Adolph Menjou, and "Me and My Pal," Laurel and Hardy; Feb. 16, "Romance," Greta Garbo, plus "Hedda Hopper's Hollywood"; March 2, "The Winslow Boy," Robert Donat, Sir Cedric Hardwicke and Margaret Leighton; March 9, "Rose Marie," Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy; March 16, "The Plough and the Stars," Barbara Stanwyck and Preston Foster, plus "The Second Hundred Years," Laurel and Hardy; March 23, "Little Lord Fauntleroy," Freddie Bartholomew and Mickey Rooney; March 30, "Monkey Business," the Marx Brothers, and "It's a Gift," with Snub Pollard.

All movies will be screened at 8 p.m. at the youth center.

Many Programs Are Scheduled

Recreational activities ranging from quilting and belly dancing to ballet, yoga and Japanese cooking are included in San Anselmo's winter recreation program, according to Gary S. Howell, parks and recreation director.

A special highlight of this year's program are two trips to see the Golden State Warriors play, he said.

Program flyers may be obtained from the San Anselmo School District office on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard or from city hall, he said.

Pallets Taken

Thirty-one wood pallets valued at $209 were taken sometime over the past four days from a storage area at La Ville Foods, 118 Carlos Drive, San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

USSR's 50th Anniversary

Although the Bolshevik, or Soviet, Revolution took over the Russian government in 1917, the revolutionaries had to fight the anti-soviet forces for several years before they were able to gain complete control of the country. Fifty years ago this month, representatives of the various Communist-controlled regions in Russia met in the Bolshoi Theater in Moscow. During this congress, the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics was established as a federation. Today, the USSR, or Soviet Union, encompasses 15 different "republics" and 100 different nationalities.

CENTRAL AREA BEING SEALED OFF

Members of the National Guard (right) on foot and in a Jeep begin moving everyone from the downtown area of Managua, hardest hit by the recent earthquake. This section of the city is being sealed off to stop looting, keep residents from sources of contaminated water and to clear the area for demolition work. Meanwhile today, a Red Cross spokesman said his organization has only enough food to feed survivors for another 72 hours despite foodstuffs sent from around the world.

Newsman Immunity Bill Gets Reagan's Signature

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Legislation granting newsmen immunity from grand jury orders to disclose confidential sources of information was signed into law yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, is author of the bill (AB 1848), which closes loopholes in existing California law to protect newsmen from revealing their sources.

The law previously protected newsmen only from subpoenas issued by a court, administrative body or Legislature, but Bagley's bill broadened it to include "any other body having power to issue subpoenas."

Bagley introduced the bill in late Nvember after the jailing of Los Angeles Herald-Examiner reporter William Farr for refusing to tell a judge where he got exclusive information about the Manson murder case. The new law, however, came too late to help Farr, and does not cover all the legal issues in Farr's case.

His bill also protects newsmen from subpoenas issued by the mayor of Los Angeles, who is among a host of obscure persons with such power, Bagley noted.

Bagley, commending the governor's action, said that "when the law fails to protect the media from invasion of its privacy, this society will cease to enjoy the 'right to know' so clearly fostered by a free press."

"That any governmental body could so intimidate the media as to restrain it from discovering newsworthy material in which the public has an interest is certainly contrary to time-honored freedoms in this country," the assemblyman declared.

He said he will push in the legislative session opening next month for a law to prevent subpoenas of newsmen's notes for information useful in law enforcement.

Lutherans Name Temporary Chief

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) —The Rev. Dr. David Preus of Minneapolis, vice president of the American Lutheran Church, temporarily took over the duties of seriously ill church President Dr. Kent S. Knutson Thursday.

D. Knutson, 48, elected to the ALC presidency in 1970 for a six-year term, has been in St. Mary's Hospital at Rochester, Minn., under care of Mayo Clinic physicians since Oct. 23.

Folk Singer's Activities Told

TOKYO (UPI) —The Communist newspaper Akahata said today that folk singer Joan Baez gives impromptu concerts during night time American air raids over Hanoi and tours the wreckage of the city by day.

The newspaper also said Miss Baez sings a new anti-war song that uses the names of President Nixon and his security adviser, Henry A. Kissinger.

The folk singer is a member of a group of Americans caught in Hanoi at the time of the resumption of full-scale U.S. bombing Dec. 18. She was among a group which went to Hanoi to deliver Christmas mail to American prisoners.

Reagan Selects Coastline Panelists; 13 Republicans

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has named two Democrats and 13 Republicans, including Sunset Books publisher Melvin B. Lane of Atherton, to newly created state and regional coastline protection commissions.

Lane and Roger T. Osenbaugh, an Alhambra insurance executive, were appointed yesterday to a statewide coastal protection commission.

Melville Owen, 40, of Kentfield, an attorney, was appointed to the North Central Coast Regional Commission.

(Owen told the Independent-Journal today he will resign immediately from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, on which he serves as one of the governor's five appointees. His resignation from BCDC automatically will take him off the Metropolitan Transportation Commission, where he is the BCDC representative.

(Owen said his new duties on the coastal commission will not leave him enough time for the other regional agencies.)

Reagan chose 13 other Californians to serve on six regional panels.

The coastal commissions the created by the Nov. 7 passage of a ballot proposition aimed at slowing down coastal development.

Last week, the Senate Rules Committee appointed former state Sen. Fred Farr of Carmel and Bernard J. Ridder Jr., a Long Beach newspaper executive, to the statewide commission along with its 13 selections to the regional panels.

Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti, D-Van Nuys, has until Saturday to name his choices for the coastal commissions.

Reagan, Moretti, and Senate Rules each name two members to the statewide commission. The regional commissions each select one member to complete the 12-member statewide panel.

The ballot proposition, opposed by Reagan, created the statewide commission and the regional commissions and gave them the power to regulate construction along a strip of land 1,000 yards inland from the water's edge.

The commissions at the same time must draft a masterplan for coastline conservation and development and submit it to the 1976 Legislature. They are then scheduled to go out of business.

Lane, 50, is executive vice president of Lane Magazine and Book Co. He just resigned as chairman of the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

Osenbaugh, 42, a Republican, is president of Osenbaugh Associates in Pasadena and a Sierra Club member.

Reagan's appointees to the regional commissions include:

North Coast — Donald W. Hedrick, 55, dean of the School of Natural Resources, California State University at Humboldt, and John M. Mayfield Jr., 36, of Ukiah, executive vice president of Microphor, Inc., in Willits and former director of the state Department of Conservation.

North Central Coast — Ellen J. Johnck, 28, San Francisco, an environmental planning student at the University of California at Berkeley; Kenneth M. Stocking, 61, provost of the Environmental Studies School, California State College at Sonoma.

Central Coast — Charles B. Kramer, 65, Pebble Beach, a member of the Monterey County Planning Commission, and Frank J. Lodato, 46, Menlo Park, president of Action Films, Inc.

South Central Coast — M. Bruce Johnson, 39, Goleta, chairman of the economics department at the University of California at Santa Barbara, and Emmons Blake, 51, vice mayor of San Luis Obispo.

South Coast — Donald B. Bright, 42, La Habra, chairman of the biological science department at California State University at Fullerton, and Donald W. Phillips, 47, a Long Beach city councilman.

San Diego — Evan V. Jones, 53, San Diego, president of Ace Auto Parks, Inc., and Malcolm A. Love, 68, San Diego, former president of San Diego State College.

The two Democratic appointees are Bright and Stocking. The other regional commission appointees are Republicans.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

New Year's Eve Or Not, Ondine's Will Offer Top Quality Cuisine

By tradition, New Year's Eve seems to be a time for "letting go," canceling out inhibitions, bridging across from the frustrations and disappointments of the old year to the hopes and expectations of the next 12 months.

There are scores of dineries and night spots quite willing to help those who require a certain amount of hoopla to experience complete fulfillment.

But there are also scores of lighthearted persons who do not appear to need this ultra-stimulation, nor do they especially seek it. At the same time, tradition is strong and New Year's Eve does call for some sort of celebration, simply because it's a milepost, a time division in our pattern of living. So the more self-sufficient usually concede that "it would be nice to go out for dinner" but where they can enjoy the food rather than the fanfare.

One of the Marin dineries that observes its own New Year's traditions and draws this latter group to its tables is Ondine in Sausalito. Here there is plenty of gaiety, but possibly not much more pronounced than on certain other weekends.

And having been credited rather widely with certain standards, this restaurant is one that is obliged to maintain them, for discriminating food buffs are not inclined to make allowances simply because it's New Year's Eve. Chef Alfred Roblin's poulet saute Patricia, his quenelles and souffles must be no less appealing than they are on the quiet evenings.

Of course, you'll have to make reservations.

AND GALLI'S at Ignacio is another place that makes less ado over the day of the year than the food of the day. As long as I have been acquainted with this family operation it has not budged one centimeter from its "dinners as usual" policy on New Year's Eve.

That means thick, juicy steaks, sumptious Italian dishes and side dishes. But you can, if you like, bring along your own spirit of auld lang syne.

BUSINESS AS USUAL, regular menu and regular prices will also prevail New Year's at Ramona's on downtown C Street, San Rafael. It will be closed on New Year's Day.

THE GROTTO on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, will be open New Year's Eve from 4 p.m., also serving its regular seafood menu, but will close Monday, New Year's Day.

DEER PARK VILLA in Fairfax will be open Sunday from 4 p.m. serving a special New Year's Eve menu priced from about $5.25 to $7.50. You should definitely make reservations. Deer Park will also serve dinners on New Year's Day from 4 p.m.

SCOMA'S OF SAUSALITO is open again after a few days of refurbishing and house-cleaning, with its gourmet seafood specialties.

But manager Terence Fischer, who was five years at Ernie's in San Francisco, believes in variety and has added a dish which is a departure from seafood — veal parmigiana, cooked in the true Italian style.

Scoma's is another place serving its regular menu on New Year's Eve. It will be closed New Year's Day.

THE EXECUTIVE LOUNGE at the top of the Reynold C. Johnson Building in San Rafael is planning a gala New Year's Eve, with three dinner seatings at 6, 8 and 10 p.m. Reservations should be made ahead.

ALFRED ROBLIN
Ondine's foodmaster

Early diners who want to stick around for the activity will find lots of room in the cocktail lounge after eating. Dinners are priced at $19.50 per couple (including tax and tip). This offers a relish tray, salad, prime rib, vegetables, Yorkshire pudding, dessert and beverage —and champagne during the meal.

Entertainment will feature music for dancing and a vocalist.

FOR THE NEXT TWO WEEKS you will continue to find the Rice Table in San Rafael closed while owner Leonie Hool and husband Bill enjoy a vacation in Indonesia. They expect to return on Jan. 13.

This is a well deserved Christmas holiday for them — but it's also their third anniversary, which they are celebrating in Leonie's home town.

THERE IS A NEW ATTRACTION these days at Lark Creek Inn in Larkspur. She is Madame Tanya, fortune teller and palmist, who gives hand or card readings every lunchtime and on Wednesday, Thursday and Sunday evenings during the dinner hours. (Her charge is $2). She was at the Mexican Room in the Fairmont Hotel, San Francisco, about a year and also for a time at the Four Seasons in Chinatown. During this time she stirred up a lot of interest, which apparently she is now well on her way to doing in Marin.

Marin Dining And Wining

Look for her New Year's Eve, when Lark Creek Inn is expected to play to a full house. Reservations are now being taken, though Skip Sommer will attempt to seat everyone with or without a reservation. Champagne (on the house) will be served at midnight.

YORK FISCHER, who operates the Fondue Pot in the Paradise Shopping Center, Corte Madera, is expanding.

He plans another establishment to be known as the Fondue Kitchen and located at 455 Magnolia Avenue in downtown Larkspur. If everything moves along as quickly as he anticipates, this should be open about the middle of February. Wines and beers will be served and it will be open for both lunches and dinners.

The Corte Madera restaurant will be open New Year's Eve. York tells me he has a special on champagne running that night.

A NICE TESTIMONIAL to the quality of its food has been received at the Marin Pizza Pub in San Rafael by Dino Santrizos, in the form of a plaque from the French government marketing officer in behalf of the Roquefort Association of that country for "outstanding use of Roquefort and original salad dressing." It seems, too, that this pub is the largest user of Roquefort among comparable operations in Northern California.

Marin Pizza Pub will be open New Year's Eve. Bill McCoy will be at the large Roger Morton pipe organ.

Not by this Sunday night, but sometime in January, look for wine to be served here. Application for a license is pending.

BOLINAS ARCHITECT Victor Borgstrom is now finishing plans for restoring the old Olema Hotel in West Marin for Ron Brandes, and work will get down to earnest next month. It's too soon to tell when this project will be completed, but Ron is hoping it will be in the spring.

THE SLEEPING LADY RESTAURANT at 58 Bolinas Road, Fairfax, has announced plans to have comedian Frank Kidder and pop singer Kendall Kerdt at 9 p.m. tomorrow night.

And Frank, along with Bronze Hog, will also appear at the Inn of the Beginning, 2801 Old Redwood Highway at 9 p.m. New Year's Eve.

CERTAINLY WORTHY of serious consideration for your New Year's Eve pleasure is New Joe's No. 2 in Corte Madera — where the Rafters used to be in the Edgewater Inn.

New Joe owners have gone to considerable effort in redecorating both dining rooms, lounge and entry in this place with very pleasing results.

On New Year's Eve there will be a special menu from 5 to 11 p.m. featuring such entrees as veal cutlet, scallopini, scampi, prime rib, New York strip and filet mignon. Food will also be served after that up to about 2 a.m. according to a less extensive menu.

Bernie Whaley will be at the Baldwin organ that night, spelling Doris Gurley, who plays Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Fairfax Driver Is Arrested On Drug Charge

A Fairfax man was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of possessing heroin, narcotics paraphernalia and driving under the influence of drugs after he was stopped by a highway patrolman who observed him driving erratically.

Officers said Charles Alfred Wilson, 22, of 27 Mariele Drive, was stopped about 12:45 a.m. on Bellam Boulevard near Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael.

The highway patrol said Wilson exhibited symptoms of intoxication, but no odor of alcohol and a check revealed fresh needle marks on his arm. A search of his auto turned up a hypodermic needle and syringe and a plastic bag containing suspected heroin, officers reported.

Wilson was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Attorney Booted By State Court

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The state Supreme Court has indefinitely disbarred a San Francisco attorney sentenced to prison earlier this month for bribing a witness.

Michael Hanley was sentenced to six months to 10 years in prison after pleading guilty to paying a murder witness $200 to leave town during his client's preliminary hearing.

The court's action was announced Wednesday.

HER ELDERLY RINGERS ARE IN DEMAND

Handbells Have Special Appeal To Greenbrae Woman

By BETTY FROST

When the New Year bells peal, they will have a special significance for Mrs. Paul H. Buchholz of Greenbrae.

Mrs. Buchholz is a handbell expert. She is the founder and director of the San Francisco Senior Center's Handbell Ringers. The organization, composed of 13 women from the center, has appeared on television programs and is in demand for concerts at civic and charitable functions. The Ringers appeared in Marin at the Sausalito Woman's Club Christmas program recently.

Handbell ringing, popular in Europe for centuries, is relatively new to the United States, according to Mrs. Buchholz. The best bells are hand cast in England and have flexible leather straps. In England, the technique of "change ringing," using progressive musical tones, has been perfected. In the United States most ringers use harmonic ringing.

Some 50 years ago Mrs. Margaret Shurcliff of the United States went to England to learn more about the melodious bells. She became so interested in the music of the bells that when she returned to Boston she organized the Beacon Hill Bell Ringers, which Mrs. Buchholz said was the first organization of ringers formed in the United States.

THE HANDBELLS used by the San Francisco choir were manufactured by the Schulmerich Company of Sellersville, Pa. This firm has made carillons for many years, but they began manufacturing handbells less than 10 years ago. The bells are made of an alloy, with firm plastic straps, and have been electronically tuned. The 25 bells, costing $900, were delivered to the Senior Center at Aquatic Park in January, 1964.

"The board had voted to pay for the bells out of capital," Mrs. Buchholz recalled, "but memorial gifts, more than adequate to pay for the bells, were contributed, so they are known as the 'memorial handbells.'"

Mrs. Buchholz had joined the handbell group at the First Presbyterian Church in San Anselmo, where she worked with Will Russell, church organist who teaches at the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo, and who directs the church handbell choir.

She was familiar with the bells. She had also been working with the San Francisco Senior Center since 1955, as program director. There she was associated with Miss Florence Vickery of Mill Valley, who was the director of the center. The two Marin women felt a need for adding to the program. The Glee Club, directed by Mrs. Buchholz, was popular, and a group of 16 center members were active in the Madrigal Singers. By the summer of 1963 they had decided that a handbell choir would be a useful addition to the program.

Working with elderly people, some of whom suffer impairment of vision, hearing or movement, provided interesting challenges for the new enterprise. Their director cannot say enough about "the spirit and courage of the ringers. They insist that the show must go on, regardless of any ailments. They are punctual for rehearsals and performances, and their loyalty is an inspiration."

Establishing the choir required the cooperation of others in the center. The men in the woodshop made special music racks and portable tables with special padded tops to stop the ringing when the bells are put down. Special skirts for the tables were also made at the center.

THE BELLS are held with the open end up for ringing. A number of musical effects can be obtained by holding them for short and long notes. They are graduated in size. The women wear gloves while ringing, to prevent blisters and bruises as the bell collar can chafe with constant use.

The choir practices once a week and averages three performances a month. The holiday season is especially busy for them. They are available for organizations, but transportation for the heavy equipment is needed. There is no charge for their appearances. However many organizations make a gift to the ringers to express appreciation for their programs.

"These honorariums enable us to buy more music," Mrs. Buchholz said.

Mrs. Buchholz brings to her work a solid musical background. As a child, she learned to play the piano from her mother in Beason, Ill., where she grew up. She showed such progress that her parents arranged for her to go by train from Beason to Lincoln, Ill., each Saturday for instruction from Max Swarthout at the Conservatory of Music at Milliken College. Swarthout was from the same musical family as opera star Gladys Swarthout, Mrs. Buchholz explained.

The music student attended Lindenwood College at St. Charles, Mo., for one year. She returned to Milliken, where she obtained the bachelor of science degree and the master's degree, as well as a credential to teach in the public schools of Illinois.

She taught in high schools in Hoopeston, and Springfield, Ill., in high schools, directed a capella choirs, became involved with choral groups and did solo work on the piano. Later Mrs. Buchholz went to work with the Young Men's Christian Association in Springfield. There she worked with boys and girls, conducting youth choirs.

THE YMCA assigned her to San Francisco to direct the metropolitan young adult program. In 1955 she began her association with the San Francisco Senior Center. Last year she retired from full time activities, but continues to work with the handbell choir once a week.

Her husband is a Presbyterian minister who, she said, "has retired several times." He is assistant minister of St. John's Presbyterian Church in San Francisco, devoting much of his time to visiting the ill and elderly of the congregation, and is chaplain of the Heritage, a home for the aged in San Francisco. Mrs. Buchholz is the organist for the Heritage.

The Reverend and Mrs. Buchholz have lived in Greenbrae for 10 years. In their home Mrs. Buchholz plays the piano for her own pleasure and enjoys knitting.

The two love to travel and have taken leisurely cruises to the Orient and the South Pacific, and to Northern Europe. They enjoy British Columbia and are considering a trip to Victoria during 1973.

"RING OUT the old," ring in the new. Mrs. Paul H. Buchholz of Greenbrae, rings the melodious handbells. She is the director of the Handbell Ringers of the San Francisco Senior Center. The group, organized 10 years ago, is in frequent demand for holiday programs. She wears gloves to protect her hands while ringing.

EQUAL RIGHTS, POLITICS

Another Year Of Changes Seen

By BARBARA HOSMER

Heavy changes may be in the air for women in the New Year, continuing much that happened in 1972.

The Equal Rights Amendment building legal equality for women into the U.S. Constitution, passed Congress last April after a 49 year struggle, and has been ratified by 22 of the 38 states needed to make it law. California ratified early last month after months of log-jam in the Senate Rules Committee.

Already some states began to study laws that will need to be changed to eliminate inequalities on the basis of sex, and some passed state ERAs. Following full ratification, a two-year period will allow states and the federal government to bring current laws into compliance before the amendment goes into effect.

ERA passage by Congress came only after a concerted and skillfully organized effort by women's groups and strong leadership by Rep. Martha Griffiths, who managed to get it reported out of committee.

The fact that it was an election year was thought to have helped its passage, as women were seen as a more important voter block than ever before.

THE ERA'S successful launch was indicative of the greater emphasis women put on participation in the legislative and the political arenas. Women became a more skilled and organized lobby both in Washington and at state level, and the ERA drew a large number of the influential women's groups under one umbrella. The ERA support list read like a who's who of women's groups, ranging from the old, established General Federation of Women's Clubs to the frankly feminist organizations.

The tide of the women's liberation movement was causing women, who claimed no affiliation with it, to stand and be counted wherever they were across the country, and many women broke ground into previously male job areas while others found themselves elevated to new job titles.

Much of it was the result of federal laws and new regulations which had been systematically lobbied by women's groups. A legislative landmark called Revised Order 4 of the Department of Labor took effect in April, requiring federal contractors to "take affirmative action to remedy effects of past discrimination and to counteract barriers to equal employment opportunities." Since most large corporations, universities and colleges receive federal monies, required affirmative action began to open job opportunities to women.

Also earlier laws were more frequently implemented for sex discrimination complaints: the Equal Pay Act of 1963 and the Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. To date some $42 million has been awarded in back pay in discrimination cases, largely by women. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission won greater jurisdiction and more effectively administered Title VII, and the Office of Contract Complaince, Department of Labor, enforced Revised Order 4.

WITH THE legal handwriting written, employers increasingly are having to deal with active recruitment of women and improvement of their upward mobility. It means changes in sex discriminatory job descriptions and possible restructuring of the work to give part-time work to women and men alike.

Some break for women with children came in a new tax law. Married women and single head-of-household women may deduct up to $4,800 a year for child care and household help if they return to fulltime jobs. But Uncle Sam's gift may immediately prove more benevolent than useful for women who as a group had a median income of only $5,323 in 1970 and seemed unlikely to afford to spend much on child care anyway.

The news wasn't entirely hopeful for women. Volunteers, though encouraged by the administration, were given no tax break for their efforts, women faced strong discrimination in the world of credit and finance, job ads continued to seek salesmen and "gal Fridays" in many places and equal pay and equal job opportunities were still difficult.

Worse, as nearly one-half of all women worked, wages of women continued to be only 59 per cent of what men earned for fulltime work — a wider gap from 15 years ago when women earned at a rate of 64 cents for every dollar men did, the Department of Labor reported. Also, the unemployment rate for women of all races remained substantially higher than for men.

California bills to alleviate finance and credit discrimination failed passage. A congressional committee held hearings in Washington, D.C., and Rep. Bella Abzug's bills are still pending in Congress. Meantime, the Federal Trade Commission sought to apply its existing regulations to such cases of discrimination against women.

COMMUNITY PROPERTY laws in California which give the husband control of the joint property failed revision this year, although an interim committee studied the situation, and legislation is likely to be introduced next session in Sacramento.

The California Commission on the Status of Women held statewide hearings on women's problems and may recommend new legislation also.

Big things for women could happen in the courts. The Supreme Court said it would rule on two abortion cases and on newspaper help-wanted ads that designate male and female job columns.

The court also said it would review the case of Air Force Lt. Sharron A. Frontierro, who claimed that the Defense Department denied her full housing and medical benefits although she was partially supporting her husband while it granted them to military men and their wives.

The more publicized case of Capt. Susan R. Struck, dismissed from the Air Force because of pregnancy in 1970, the Supreme Court sent back to the U.S. Court of Appeals because the government claimed that circumstances have changed since Captain Struck's discharge and that question must be determined by the appeals court.

Women have filed class action suits against public and private employers, many of them the nation's largest corporations, and many cases are currently wending their way through the legal processes. As more women were admitted to law schools, the future looked brighter for more women's rights lawyers to press anti-discrimination cases.

CALIFORNIA'S SUPREME Court struck down the part of the Therapeutic Abortion Act of 1967 that required hospital board approval for abortions, leaving California women able to obtain abortion through a willing doctor and an accredited hospital. Clinic abortion is still illegal, however.

Pro and anti abortion advocates began to face off in California earlier this year as Pro Life organized in every state and here attempted to turn back the clock with stricter abortion legislation. It was killed in committee. Look for the controversy to be renewed in the coming year with further proposed legislation.

Nationally, court cases were pending and some states attempted to make laws stricter or more liberal, but little change was enacted. The Commission on Population Growth and the American Future's report stated that half of Americans surveyed believed that abortion should be a decision left to a woman and her physician.

The political conventions side-stepped the issue as too hot to handle. The heavy reaction of television viewers to the "Maude" series in which the matronly Maude underwent an abortion sent the show to top 10 ratings, a portent of further action and controversy in 1973 concerning abortion.

WELFARE RECIPIENTS, 90 per cent of whom are mothers and children, didn't fare too well. In California welfare mothers and prospective mothers were targets of measures to curtail their child-bearing. The governor's welfare advisory board recommended that the state take away the third illegitimate child born to any woman and place it for adoption on the legal assumption that she had shown herself "morally depraved." If the unwed mother were 16 or under, the first child could be taken from her. A storm of protest emerged and some legislators said the plan stood no chance. Revision was underway.

New regulations for the pregnant woman on the Aid to Families with Dependent Children program cut her monthly allowance back drastically, reasoning that until a child is born it needs no food, shelter or extra household allotment.

In 1972 women were entering job areas at both managerial and also at blue collar level in trades such as carpentry and plumbing, but in very small numbers. The trend will continue next year as women push into new job areas.

This year, too, Lucinda Franks became the first woman to win the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting; Joan Leopold was the first woman selected as a Rhodes scholar in 71 years of the award; three women won the top prizes at Columbia Law School, and female students won top science awards.

A court ruling stated that California girls could be newspaper carriers, and confirming legislation is expected to be introduced in Sacramento next year. New Jersey just passed such a bill.

A national honor committee was set up to name prominent American women of the past and present to a new national Women's Hall of Fame in Seneca Falls, N.Y., site of the first women's rights convention in 1848.

Some 800 women's studies courses were being held, and books about women's rights and women's plight were numerous this year. Ms. Magazine was successfully launched by Gloria Steinem and is just about running in the black.

The Ford Foundation granted money to develop a resource center to counter sex bias in elementary and secondary education and also to study households headed by women, many of which are in the poverty income level.

THE NATIONAL Education Association embarked on a nationwide campaign to "reduce the negative effects" of sex role stereotypes put on small girls and boys and the mental pictures of "male" and "female" in public attitudes. By 1972 feminists had Dr. Spock changing his mind about the way children should be reared and saying that everything possible should be done to counteract sex prejudice in bringing up boys and girls.

The U.S. birth rate dropped to nearly zero population growth, 2.1 children per family, and studies showed that women in the future will work. A bride's magazine survey showed 94 per cent of brides-to-be expected to work fulltime after marriage. A Stanford survey concurred.

POLITICALLY, WOMEN made just under a 20 per cent rise in numbers elected to state legislatures this year, said the National Women's Political Caucus, and Doris Messner of NWPC said, "We're beginning to create a climateof acceptance of women in public office. We'll be doing a lot of building at state and local levels in 1973... that's the base on which national leadership builds."

Just this month, after pressure from women's groups all year, President Nixon appointed Anne Armstrong to cabinet rank as counselor to the President and among her duties will be advocacy of an increased role for women in the government. Mrs. Armstrong was Republican National Committee co-chairman, while Jean Westwood was the first woman to head the Democratic National Committee, until deposed last month. California sent its first black woman to Congress in the person of Yvonne Braithwaite Burke, former Assemblywoman, where she will join prominent black Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, Presidential candidate in the primary.

The military gave new recognition to its women and the Navy appointed its first woman admiral, while female personnel were allowed to apply for sea duty in noncombat jobs. Women also became FBI agents, one won a court battle to umpire baseball and a few were elected to corporate boards of directors including the New York Stock Exchange and General Motors.

NONE OF the gains, token or larger, came without concerted campaigns by women themselves, whether feminist groups, women's caucuses within a profession or company, or through non-discrimination laws, lobbied and implemented by women.

Many filed class action suits against public and private agencies and employers, many of the suits grinding their way through the legal processes with some results due next year. More women studied law with plans to take up the cudgels on behalf of women's rights.

Generally, this year brought a greater awareness to women themselves of the inequities and problems they face and an avowal on the part of organized groups to press the common issues of job equality, reproductive and other health concerns, welfare reforms, social security inequities, child care aids, equality and fair treatment in education, political participation and full ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment.

THe next 12 months promise plenty of action for women.

Special Book For Children Is Published

A book on photographs of children that focuses on them as "human ecology" — the conservation of human beings — is based upon the photographic collection of Save the Children Federation of Norwalk, Conn.

In its 40th year, the nonprofit agency in the field of child sponsorship emphasizes that the book is not on war, famine or despair but stresses the common humanity and common needs of the world's children through 128 pages of pictures.

If children fail, the world becomes an "endangered species," is the message.

Growth Of Divorce Listings Gives Her Cause For Concern

DEAR HELEN:

In our city, the divorce listings in the vital statistics columns of the paper have recently been almost as long as the marriage listings. Likewise other cities.

Does this mean that every marriage will now end in divorce? — TOO RISKY, THO WED EIGHT YEARS

DEAR TRTWEY:

No! The divorce listings in your paper represent marriages dissolved after anywhere from one week to 50 years' duration. Marriage statistics are for that one particular day. Moreover, many people uncouple several times each —and they raise the odds for the happily-weds.

A U.S. Government survey (made in 1967 but still fairly valid) indicates that 17 per cent of marriage-age women and 15 per cent of men in the same under-70 bracket are now divorced. You've still got a fighting chance. — H.

P.S. Here's my strictly nonscientific "divorce probability test," based on the theory that we tend to adopt the life styles of our associates:

Check your Christmas card list. How many persons on it are divorced? If over half of your friends have experienced a marriage break-up, it's quite logical to assume their actions might be "catching," should your battles start. But if only one out of every eight or ten people listed have hit the courts, then maybe you too will work a little harder to preserve your union. N'est ce pas?

DEAR HELEN:

I have a problem with my husband's insecurity and incapability to make decisions. When he was young, his father always called him dumb. This must have affected his self-confidence. He has a good job — we have a lovely apartment and a beautiful son — but he still downgrades himself.

I want him to be the decision maker, not me. It seems that I'm the strong one, and that's the man's role — to stand up and fight for his family.

He's sweet and loving and good at his work, but why can't he be forceful? I want someone to lean on, too. How can a man change his personality? — TROUBLED

P.S. This is threatening our marriage.

DEAR TROUBLED:

Basic, born-in-the-genes traits seldom reverse themselves, but they can be tempered with the right amount of ego-building. Criticism won't do it, as your husband's father discovered, nor will expecting the impossible — followers hardly ever become all-out leaders, no matter how they're prodded.

(And, really, would you want a total "leader?" I suspect you married this man for his kindness and gentleness, while he may have been drawn to the forcefulness in you. Opposites often attract because they need each other.)

Group therapy might help you both to realize how well-matched you are. Meanwhile, you can build self-esteem in dozens of ways: honest compliments, approval of a man for what he is, pride in his accomplishments, understanding of his failures, humor over your mutual "goofs," large portions of love, confidence, trust. . .Even though they don't change him completely, they'll make your marriage a lot better. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

When you'd like to tell your stinker of a boss to go to hell but don't dare, and you're about to explode, what do you do? — BUGGED, BOTHERED AND BOGGLED

DEAR B.B. AND B.:

Find a better job first, then tell your boss — whatever seems appropriate. — H.

P.S. It's said that tact is being able to tell someone to go to hell in such a way that he'll enjoy the trip. Are you tactful enough to try it?

ON BEING BLACK

A Montage Of The Events Of 1972

By SANDRA HAGGERTY
(Distributed by Los Angeles Times Syndicate)

1972, the year. . .

Jackie Robinson, a symbol of courage and talent to a whole generation of black folks, died.

Eleven-year-old Gregory, black and crippled (hence, hard to place), left the last of a lifelong series of foster homes to be legally adopted by an adoring family. He now has four ("Yeah, four!" he grins) sisters who are delighted to have a brother.

A mixup in timetables deprived two of our most promising black sprinters of the opportunity to demonstrate their athletic prowess on the track field at the Olympic Games.

ANGELA DAVIS, after almost 22 months of worldwide attention, was acquitted.

Far too many brothers continued to rip off other brothers. Said one such brother (I use the word questioningly): "A hustle is a hustle. When you spend a dollar, don't nobody ask you where you got it."

Africa became even closer to our shores, with record numbers of blacks touring the motherland under the auspices of the African-American Institute.

A national political convention was chaired by a black woman for the first time in history.

A full-scale race riot erupted aboard an American military vessel. According to black military personnel, such racial conflicts are not unusual, just unpublicized.

Billy Holiday was eulogized via the cinema.

All the black national political incumbents were re-elected to office.

Drug pushers were glamorized in the name of black image.

LOCAL BLACK Expos made significant contributions informing the public of the various efforts being made on the part of blacks in all professions and on all levels of interest.

"Sounder" was presented to the public. This is one of the few black movies thus far that all blacks (and whites) can relate to.

A black teacher committed suicide over the racial strife at his school. He left a three-page suicide note to the student body of Beechr High School.

Wayne Collett and Vince Matthews, without a hearing, were banned for life from further Olympic competition by the International Committee for what it called a "disgusting display."

Newspaper reporters were threatened with imprisonment for failure to disclose sources of information — the year of freedom of the press?

Prichard, Ala., elected its first black mayor, Algernon (Jay) Cooper.

"He may be a nigger, but he's the smartest mayor we ever had," said one of the white residents of the 50 per cent blue-collar white and 50 per cent impoverished black locality.

A black pilot was among the three POWs released and returned to the States. The war continues to continue to continue.

BLACK SEPTEMBER referred not to the integration of white schools by black children but rather an international Arab terrorist group.

Two black college students were shot and killed during a campus demonstration. Why?

Skyjacking became a regular occurrence, with a fair share of blacks joining the ranks of the infamous.

The U.S. Public Health Service disclosed it had (for 40 years) conducted a study in which poor uneducated Alabama black males were not treated for syphilis in an attempt to study the long-term effects of untreated syphilis. The horror is that treatment was withheld even after penicillin was found to be almost totally effective against syphilis.

Incentive for participation in the study is a poignant social commentary of conditions for black folks in America. These men were offered free medical treatment for any other illness, free hot lunches and free burial after autopsy. That was "mighty white" of somebody. Today, 74 of the original 425 syphilitics are alive —average age is 74. Black genocide a baseless phrase?

Richard Pryor should receive the Here and Now Black Man of the moment award. His social commentary is heavy and funny. Don't miss him in the soon-to-be-released "Wattstax."

Record numbers of blacks exercised their right to vote and became politically involved.

We bring to a close to make space for '73, knowing there is much work yet to be done, knowing that no matter what we must "keep on caring."

DR. AND MRS. Charles Galt of the Marin Country Club Estates in Novato will honor Mrs. Lawrence Morel of Mazatlan, Mexico, at a cocktail party New Year's Eve. Mrs. Morel is the mother of Mrs. Herbert L. Marsh of Mill Valley. Following the cocktail party, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Marsh of the Country Club Estates will have a dinner party for the guests.

A CHAMPAGNE brunch is planned on New Year's Day from 10 a.m. to noon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Bennington of Belvedere Lagoon.

They moved to their lagoon house from Piedmont on Thanksgiving, having chosen the spacious home to accommodate Josephine Bennington's grand piano and small pipe organ.

Their guests will be new Marin friends and friends connected with Children's Hosptial where Dr. Bennington is a pathologist.

SIX DEL MAR families have planned a progressive dinner for New Year's Eve in Tiburon.

Their French meal will begin at 7 p.m. at the home of Dr. and Mrs. James Shepard with cocktails and at 8 p.m. guests will walk to Dr. and Mrs. Paul Ogden's house for the soup course.

Salad will be served by Mr. and Mrs. John Asby at 9 p.m. and then Dr. and Mrs. Richard Baringer will seat guests at 10 p.m. at their home for the entree prepared with the help of Mr. and Mrs. William Bergmann.

The dinner will end at midnight with dessert at Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson's house, where the friends will play games.

FORTY FRIENDS will gather at the Tiburon home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barsimantos to welcome the new year. They plan a buffet and cocktails for their guests from the Tiburon and Belvedere area.

THE WILLIAM Brennans of San Anselmo decided to share their family Christmas celebration Monday with a group of foreign visitors from the International Hospitality Center. Their guests were from Tunisia, Korea, Thailand, Tanzania, Ethiopia and Vietnam.

THE CHARLES Turkingtons of San Rafael are parents of a son, Charles E. Turkington Jr., born Dec. 19 in San Francisco.

The infant, who will be called Ted, is the brother of Tom, 11, and Anne, 5. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Turkington of Atherton and Mr. and Mrs. Harold King of Kentfield.

THE CLARENCE Hands of San Rafael hosted the Marinwood Community Center Junior Carolers at their home after the young singers made their annual rounds singing for shut-ins and at convalescent hospitals.

Visit By Groom's Parents Proper

Soon after an engagement is announced it is proper for the bridegroom's parents to call upon the parents of the bride.

Perhaps the person who feels most left out of the wedding excitement is the bridegroom's mother. Thoughtful brides try to include her in as many activities as possible.

Two Accidents, Stalled Car Snarl 101 Traffic

Two minor accidents on the Waldo Grade and a stalled car on the Golden Gate Bridge yesterday brought southbound commuter hour traffic to a crawl for almost an hour.

Traffic, confined to two lanes because of the reverse bus lane, was stop-and-go between the Richardson Bay Bridge and the toll plaza of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Bridge crews pulled up lane dividers for the reverse bus lane at 5 p.m. in an attempt to free the jam. The dividers normally are pulled up at 6:30 p.m.

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, acknowledged it was "questionable" whether the reverse lane should have been used last evening. Southbound traffic was heavier than usual, he said, because many people did not work on the memorial day for former President Harry S Truman, thus increasing recreational traffic.

Ignacio Woman Said Winner In Sweepstakes

An Ignacio woman was reported Wednesday to have won $24,000 in the Irish Sweepstakes hurdle race.

Mrs. T. Bergeret of 199 Posada Del Sol was listed by the Associated Press as one of 11 third-place winners in the race, run at Leopardstown in Dublin.

Mrs. Bergeret's horse in the sweepstakes was Brendon's Road.

Mrs. Bergeret refused to comment on her win today, saying only that "it's causing a lot of problems; we don't want any more publicity."

Apartment Complex Approved

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission last night approved plans for a 100-unit apartment complex to be built by Condiotti Enterprises on Lancaster Drive near East Cotati Avenue.

Commission secretary Sandra Nelson said the commission reduced the requested units from 110 to 100 to reduce density and asked that 15 parking spaces also be removed.

Commissioners also ordered that the swimming pool and cabana be relocated to the center of the 4.7 acres to allow more open space.

The Rohnert Park Planning Commission also:

MOBILE HOMES — Approved the use permit for a mobile home park on 40 acres requested by Codding Enterprises. The park will limit occupancy by families with children to 30 per cent.

SCHOOLS — Called for passage of the Cotati-Rohnert Park School District's $1.5 million bond election on March 6.

HOME JOB — Approved a home occupation permit for David Hurst to distribute home care products from his home at 1296 Camino Coronado.

2 Cotati Apartment Developments Backed

Plans for two apartment developments were approved last night by the Cotati Planning Commission.

Richard Sievert received approval on the architecture of his proposed 40-unit apartment at 351 East Cotati Avenue.

Commission secretary Donna Olson said the commission also approved plans by Forhim Corp. to build 15 duplexes on Lincoln Avenue.

The Cotati Planning Commission also:

MORATORIUM — Discussed but took no position on the building moratorium being considered by the city council. A three-month halt in building permits has been proposed to allow time to study sewage capacity.

CHURCH — Approved renewal of the use permit for the Assembly of God Church, 810 East Cotati Avenue.

MASTER PLAN — Heard planner Melvin Pedersen review the Sonoma State College area master plan, but deferred action.

COMMITTEE — Heard City Councilman Stephen Laughlin report the council is considering forming a committee to study the Plaza area.

VD Education Project Slated

A team of state education and public health experts will start work on a venereal disease education project with county schools office personnel next month, the Marin County Board of Education will be told at its meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the county schools office.

Marin County is one of 22 counties in the state selected on the basis of high VD incidence for the education project, said administrative assistant Roger Falge. The state officials will conduct workshops for schools personnel.

Also before the board will be a first reading on the Stull Act guidelines. Draft proposals met some opposition from teachers' organizations, with claims that while administrators get to evaluate teachers' performances, in no cases will teachers be able to evaluate administrators.

Two Boys Find Missing Bonds

Two metal boxes containing $1,600 in savings bonds that had been stolen from a San Anselmo residence on Dec. 17 were found yesterday by two 9-year-old San Rafael boys in a wooded lot near 95 Racquet Club Drive, San Rafael, police reported today.

Owner Martin J. Austin said the pair, Kevin Bender of 59 Racquet Club Drive and Hans Vogel of 132 Solano Street, will each receive a reward for returning the metal boxes, which contained the bonds as well as personal papers.

Austin said that $100 worth of old coins was missing from the boxes.

$12,393 Raised By Goldenaires

Trying to raise $200,000 for a recreation activity center, the San Rafael Goldenaires have collected $12,393, according to the group's January newsletter.

An additional $1,823 has been pledged to the building drive, begun in May.

The 730-member organization of the elderly began the push to finance a building on San Rafael-owned land at Fourth and Union streets after two San Rafael bond issues to build a center for community groups were rejected by voters.

Environment And Elections Made 1972 Headlines

This was the year of environment and elections, in the headlines of Marin County and Southern Sonoma.

Actually, it was a relatively quiet year on the local front. There was little of the drama and violence of a courthouse shoot-out or a San Quentin battle that focused nationwide attention on Marin during 1970 and 1971.

The weather made much local news — 1972 at one time or another was the driest, hottest, wettest, snowiest, and coldest year in a long, long time.

Citizens put their ecological concerns into their votes — and their taxes — to begin preserving fast-dwindling undeveloped lands as public open space. A long series of moratoriums by cities on developments, by regional agencies on sewer connections, slowed the rush to build homes and shopping centers.

City governments acquired a new catch-word — redevelopment. School districts and county officials began to lose sleep over its implied threat to their tax bases.

The controversy was not settled by year's end — nor were the seemingly endless debates over the proposed countywide general plan, low and moderate-income housing, more highways, and dozens of other issues.

Marin County and San Rafael lost two mainstay political figures when Supervisor John F. McInnis and City Councilman Harry A. Barbier died in office.

After the longest series of hearings ever held in a Marin County city, the Fairfax Board of Review voted 3-2 to uphold the firing of Police Chief James R. Orr by Town Mgr. Robert E. Crowe and the town council.

Gov. Ronald Reagan announced that San Quentin Prison would be phased out. This sparked a mental land rush by developers interested in the prime property.

The Courthouse Square in San Rafael finally was sold to a private developer.

The commercial empire of William Penn Patrick, San Rafael merchandising tycoon, was assailed by lawsuits. It was further shaken when a Patrick-owned World War II warplane slammed into a Sacramento ice cream parlor with fiery, fatal results.

The carryover controversy over possible joint civilian-military use of Hamilton Air Force Base still wasn't resolved by year's end.

The Golden Gate Bridge District supplanted Greyhound Lines in the commute bus business.

President Richard M. Nixon signed the Golden Gate National Recreation Area into existence.

Campaigns before the municipal elections in April, the primary in June and the general election in November spawned millions of words and hundreds of headlines.

It was also a year of continuing struggle for the people's right to know, including legal action to force the county Board of Education to abandon its policy of secrecy on who was seeking a seat on the board, and the threat of legal action to get a similar reversal of policy by the Novato City Council with regard to applicants for a seat on the planning commission.

The North Marin County Water District early in the year lost a long and hard-fought legal battle over the district board's refusal to make public names and salaries of employees and toward the year's end the City of Petaluma heeded its legal counsel's advice to release the results of a special commission's decision as to which of numerous developers would be permitted to build housing within the city's total limit of 500 units per year.

The Independent-Journal's files for 1972 revealed these highlights, by months:

JANUARY

New Golden Gate Bridge District buses carried 4,600 commuters the morning of Jan. 3, the year's first working day — but homebound service was snarled in the evening.

CROCHETING — Georgie Balke shows girls at Marin Juvenile Hall some new stitches during her weekly visit to the hall. Mrs. Balke, a busy mother and working woman, gives some of her little spare time to volunteering for the probation department.

'Busiest People' Are Volunteers

By MARY LEYDECKER

A San Quentin guard who is also a College of Marin student and who "spends what little time he has left working with kids" is typical of volunteers in Marin's probation department.

"It seems to be the busiest people" who will take time for the often-demanding volunteer work, according to Gloria Melbostad, coordinator of volunteers for the department.

Furthermore, she said, a high level of commitment is demanded of probation department volunteers. When a youngster at juvenile hall or a jail inmate inmate is for a volunteer to take him to an appointment, "It's different from not showing up to lick stamps."

The volunteers do a steadily increasing variety of jobs. The program started about 15 years ago with a group of women who formed the Juvenile Court Auxiliary to help with fund-raising and other activities at juvenile hall.

The auxiliary still performs these functions, but "there is more of a cross-section" of the community represented now among the volunteers, who perform many additional duties, Mrs. Melbostad said.

The Children's Treatment Center on the juvenile hall grounds draws the biggest number of volunteers, with about two dozen persons helping with general supervision, recreational activities, tutoring and job finding for youngsters.

Sometimes they even get drafted into such duties as searching youngsters when they return from weekend leaves to make sure they're not bearing any drugs or other contraband.

Other volunteers work at juvenile hall itself.

"At first I was a little scared, but the girls have all been wonderful to me," said Georgie Balke, who teaches needlework one evening a week at the girls' unit at juvenile hall.

Mrs. Balke, who works at Penney's, donates her time in addition to her job and her own family.

"She didn't know how to sew a stitch before she came here," one of the juvenile hall girls said about another, proudly showing off a complicated crocheted poncho she had made. Mrs. Balke had taught her how to make it.

Other girls crowded around Barbara Zrnich, a volunteer from San Rafael who also shares her talents with the youngsters. Mrs. Zrnich, who makes banners professionally, often brings scraps she has gleaned from factories to the hall, where bright banners now adorn the new girls' unit.

VOLUNTEER — Barbara Zrnich, a volunteer for the Marin County Probation Department, bends to help a young girl at juvenile hall with a felt banner she is making. Mrs. Zrnich each week shares her talents (she makes banners professionally) with the girl inmates at the hall.

In addition to the juvenile hall work, other volunteers act as drivers, picking up jail inmates and driving them to doctor or job-hunting appointments. Some drive either juvenile offenders or adults to places like Open House for therapy.

"The 14-year-old boy I drive three days a week loves my dog. I always bring it along," one volunteer told a group meeting recently.

Still other volunteers assist with clerical work in the probation department or help probation officers supervise those persons on probation or in preparing presentencing probation reports.

In addition to making a firm commitment to be certain places at certain times, probation department volunteers must abide by more stringent rules than volunteers in many other fields.

First, a state law requires "absolute confidentiality" regarding names of clients, both juvenile and adults, with whom the volunteers deal, Mrs. Melbostad said.

Second, volunteers have to go along with regulations which prevent them from acting like "lady bountifuls" with the clients.

Volunteers are told never to comply with requests for extra stops or treats.

Drivers must not succumb to impulses to buy treats for clients or make extra stops for refreshments, she said.

Although Mrs. Melbostad did not see the volunteer program as one which will ever involve great numbers of people (there are now under 100 volunteers), there are still unmet needs in the department.

Behind her desk in the Hall of Justice is a blackboard listing such current needs. One is for a driver for a juvenile hall youngster who needs a ride to a vocational class four times a week. Another is for a tutor to a jail inmate, who needs help with reading.

"Mainly we look for good judgment and maturity (in volunteers) — and you can find maturity in an 18-year-old," Mrs. Melbostad said.

Former Nudist Camp For Sale

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) —For sale: a 15-acre mountain retreat used as a center for the study of nudism.

John Williamson, director of the Sandstone Retreat in Topanga Canyon, closed the center Thursday and put it up for sale because of "financial problems."

The center became a subject of controversy two years ago when the Los Angeles County Public Welfare Commission denied a business license to allow the retreat to operate as a nudist camp.

Williamson said at the time his center was no ru-of-themill nudist camp but rather a science-oriented club for the study of nudism with members paying a $100 fee to belong.

San Pedro Ridge Rezoned

Marin County supervisors yesterday ordered low density rezoning of San Pedro Ridge — an area planned for development by property owners but being considered for open space acquisition by Santa Venetia residents.

The board's unanimous rezoning came after the Las Gallinas Valley Master Plan Committee, a citizens' group, requested a six-month building moratorium be placed on the land.

Herbert C. Belben, chairman of the planning committee, told supervisors the moratorium was needed to allow time for the Santa Venetia community to decide how the area should be developed, if at all.

As reported earlier, Supervisor Robert A. Roumiguiere has proposed 407 acres of forested slopes overlooking the community be purchased as public open space.

Two landowners, Jack and Ron Fierman of Philadelphia, meanwhile, have proposed five cluster villages of about 200 townhouses each in the heart of the area being considered for open space.

Currently, the land is zoned for single-family residences on 10,000-square-foot lots (four homes per acre), but an old Las Gallinas Valley master plan shows one-acre zoning.

Supervisors flatly rejected imposing a moratorium but agreed the land could be rezoned without infringing on the landowners' property rights.

The Fierman brothers, meanwhile, already have invested thousands of dollars in planning and engineering studies for their townhouse villages, which are due to come before the county planning commission once environmental impact studies are complete.

Asst. Planning Director Harvey Bragdon told the Independent-Journal he thought the Martinelli Farms subdivision controversy, which raged from March to December of this year, could prove to be "only a warmup" for the fight over San Pedro Ridge.

Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino told the board it should not give the "implication that we are rezoning a specific parcel. . . planned for development or acquisition" but rather a general area of the ridge.

Such a "implication" could lead to charges the county is initiating rezoning to reduce the value of the land (in the case of acquisition) or attempting to block development.

The rezoning will be heard by the county planning commission late next month or in February and then returned to the board of supervisors.

Historic Olema Hotel Is Being Restored; Abatement Order Lifted

A county abatement order against the historic Olema Hotel was lifted yesterday by Marin County supervisors, who were told the owners are in the process of restoring the aging building.

Early this year, the 80-year-old building was condemned as a fire trap and ordered demolished but the owner, Ruth M. Ruoff, managed to rally financial backers to refurbish the old structure.

Yesterday's reprieve was not the first for the once popular inn. In 1965 and again in 1966, county officials ordered the two-story hotel razed because the long-vacant building was a drawing point for transients.

Each time Mrs. Ruoff won a stay of the order by boarding up the building. However, then and in the years following, the boards were repeatedly removed by trespassing lodgers.

Herbert F. Wimmer, the county's chief building inspector, told the board yesterday an old dwelling behind the hotel had been removed and building permits obtained for installation of foundations under the hotel.

"Because the owner has removed the fire hazard, has obtained permits for new foundations, and has verbally indicated to us that architectural plans will be submitted within two weeks, we recommend that the abatement action be rescinded," Wimmer wrote.

His recommendation passed unanimously.

New Health Center For West Marin

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday authorized opening a "store front" mental health center at Point Reyes Station as part of a major reorganization approved earlier this month.

As outlined by Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, head of county health services, the West Marin office will serve as headquarters for one of four teams scattered about the county "to bring mental health services to the people."

Decentralization of community mental health services through the setting up of satellite offices was approved unanimously by the board Dec. 12.

The new office, to be located on A Street between Mary's Gift Shop and Station House Cafe, will serve as a meeting place and communications center for health, mental health and social service workers.

Cost of renting and equipping the office is estimated at about $160 per month. It will include an answering service, since the office will not be manned around the clock but rather as a check in station for county employees.

Cooke said he planned to open the new office in January.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

BLOOD — Approved a $15,000 contract with Clinical Technologists Medical Laboratories of San Rafael to provide blood drawing services during off hours (5 p.m. to 8 a.m.) for the next six months. Blood drawing is needed as court evidence in drunken driving cases. It was previously performed by Marin Medical Laboratories which notified the county it was withdrawing from its contract Jan. 1.

LANDSCAPING — Approved a $151,000 contract with Neil Shooter Co. for landscaping around the Hall of Justice. The Shooter bid was the lowest of three submitted.

LIGHTING — Approved the annexation of the Sinaloa Park subdivision near Novato to the Marin County Highway Lighting District.

Baar Feted As Outgoing Supervisor

More than 100 friends and associates of Marin County Supervisor Louis H. Baar honored him with a luncheon yesterday at Nero's restaurant in Novato.

The other four members of the county board of supervisors, along with Assemblyman William T. Bagley and San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini, made short speeches of tribute to Baar, who will step down from the board at next week's meeting. Bella H. Aaron, who heads the county's police-community relations program, presented him with a barometer-thermometer-weather gauge as a gift from the assemblage.

The affair, arranged by County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell, was kept in lighthearted vein. Baar himself injected a sobering note when he expressed regret that the late Supervisor John F. McInnis and San Rafael City Councilman Harry A. Barbier could not be present.

Gary T. Giacomini will succeed Baar on the board of supervisors.

What he needs is a way to look at all of the hands of a session so that he can look them over at leisure. Today's hand is taken from just such an answer to the bridgeplayer's prayer.

RUBBER BRIDGE

At rubber bridge, South would be allowed to play the hand at two spades. He would probably make that contract, and his opponents might (or might not) notice that they could have entered the bidding without getting their heads chopped off.

At duplicate bridg, West does not dream of selling out to two spades, as John Swanson and Rhoda Walsh point out in the analysis of the hand in their service, called "Recap Bridge" (P.O. Box 91930, Los Angeles, Calif. 90009).

ODDS VERY GOOD

If North-South are willing to pass after South's suit has been raised, the odds are very good that North-South have only about half of the high cards in the deck. East-West have the other half and should have a fit in one minor or the other. West therefore bids the "unusual" no-trump to ask East to choose a minor.

CHOOSES CLUBS

East obediently chooses clubs, and North-South must go on to three spades. (Otherwise East would make three clubs, losing only one spade and three hearts.)

East and West now pass, satisfied with what they have accomplished. They have pushed South from a makable to an unmakable contract.

West opens the ace of clubs and continues with a club to the king. East leads the ace of diamonds and continues the suit, giving West two more diamond tricks. West then leads a fourth diamond, allowing East to kill dummy's good diamond. Now South is down one, even if he later guesses the queen of hearts.

RECAP SHEETS

Swanson and Mrs. Walsh furnish their recap sheets to duplicate bridge clubs. The players get the sheets at the end of the session and can study all the hands with the aid of expert analysis. A fine product that deserves to succeed.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opends with one club, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - K 10 7
♥ - A J 10
♦ - 10 9 5 2
♣ - 5 4 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one no-trump.

This promises about eight to 10 points in high cards, with no suit worth bidding. If North had only six or seven points he would respond one diamond with this hand rather than one no-trump.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Which name best fits the thumbnail sketch of these birthday celebrities?

1. LYNDON B. JOHNSON or ANDREW JOHNSON was born today. He was the 16th Vice President of the United States when the sudden, unexpected assassination of the chief executive put this controversial southerner in the White House, where he was nearly impeached for his inability to settle the war. Can you pick the right prexy?

2. MARY TYLER MOORE or DORIS DAY is 35 this day. A bright-eyed brunette with lots of bounce, she is entitled to smile constantly because everything about her looks good, especially her teeth, which she shows at every opportunity to her TV friends, Valerie Harper, Cloris Leachman, and Edward Asner. Can you name the dame?

3. PABLO CASALS or CARLOS MONTOYA celebrates his 96th birthday today. This remarkable composer, conductor, and master cellist still wins bravo's and cheers for his performances but not in Franco's Spain, which he boycotts for its dictatorship, even though it's the country of his birth. Who's who is true?

4. CHARLES ATLAS or CHARLES GOODYEAR (1800-1860) was a 19th century American inventor. This Connecticut Yankee failed in the hardware business, then accidentally discovered the process called "vulcanizing," which led to the establishment of our rubber-manufacturing industry. Despite his invention, he died in poverty. Which name deserves this fame?

ANSWERS: 1 - Andrew Johnson; 2 - Mary Tyler Moore; 3 - Pablo Casals; 4 - Charles Goodyear.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, STATE OF CALIFORNIA, DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Chapter 16.16 of the Marin County Code is hereby added to read

SECTIONS: 16.16.010 ADOPTION OF UNIFORM FIRE CODE.

There is hereby adopted by the COUNTY OF MARIN for the purpose of prescribing regulations governing conditions hazardous to life and property from fire or explosion, that certain Code known as the Uniform Fire Code recommended by the Western Fire Chiefs Association and the International Conference of Building Officials being particularly the 1971 edition thereof and the whole thereof, save and except such portions as are hereinafter deleted, modified or amended by Section 16.16.040 of which Code not less than three (3) copies have been and are now filed in the office of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of the County of Marin and the same are hereby adopted and incorporated as fully as if set out at length herein, and from the date on which this ordinance shall take effect, the provision thereof shall be controlling on all lands in the County of Marin which are not included within incorporated cities or towns or within incorporated fire districts, or on lands within said county which are recognized by the state as areas of state administrative jurisdiction, unless administrative jurisdiction has been assumed by the board of supervisors through agreement or contract.

(b) The Assistant Chief in charge of the Bureau of Fire Prevention shall be appointed by the Chief.

(c) The Chief of the Fire Department may detail such members of the Fire Department as inspectors as shall from time to time be necessary.

In addition to any other applicable laws or regulations, all burning within the jurisdiction of the Marin County Fire Department shall be in accordance with the regulations of the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

16.16.050 APPEALS.

Whenever the Chief shall disapprove an application or refuse to grant a permit applied for, or when it is claimed that the provisions of the Code do not apply or that the true intent and meaning of the Code have been misconstrued or wrongly interpreted, the applicant may appeal from the decision of the Chief within 30 days from the date of the decision appealed to the Board of Appeals, as specified in Marin County Code, Sec. 19.04.945, except that when hearing matters pertaining to this Code, the Fire Chief shall act as Secretary of the Board.

Film Is Taped By Humphrey For Nixon Unity

WASHINGTON (UPI) —At the request of President Nixon's Inaugural Committtee, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey has filmed a one-minute television appeal for Americans to back Nixon during his second term.

The announcement is being offered to the three major networks and the 50 largest television markets for broadcast as a public service around the time of inauguration day Jan. 20.,

In the film, the Minnesota Democrat urges the nation to join him "in a reaffirmation of America's ideals and promise, of freedom and equality, opportunity and security, peace and justice" by backing Nixon.

"The genius of our political system is that all Americans unite following our national election," said Humphrey, a narrow loser to Nixon in the 1968 presidential election

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Facial Neuralgia Is Painful To Point Of Being Torture

Trigeminal neuralgia (tic douloureux) is torture. Intense facial pain comes and goes and only the victim can appreciate how wonderful it feels to be free of pain. The wife of a victim described the problem in a letter and it is worth repeating. "My husband is a rugged, powerful man until a nerve in the right side of his face goes on a rampage. He develops bouts of shooting pain lasting from three days to two months.

"While his face is 'alive' (period of activity), he lies motionless in bed, afraid to move, eat, wash, or shave. The painful attacks strike like bullets, affecting his forehead, eye, cheek, and jaw. He looks miserable and haggard; his face is dirty and unshaven, and he refuses to see anyone. Our physician thinks the nerve should be cut."

THE PAIN of trigeminal neuralgia has been described as sharp, lancinating, burning, and shocklike. It is precipitated by moving or touching a certain area of the face (trigger zone). Thru experience, the sufferer learns that any movement of the face, jaws, or tongue is likely to produce an immediate paroxysm. During the bout, he cannot yawn, eat, shave, spit, or even pray out loud for relief.

Then suddenly, and for no apparent reason, the nerve stops misbehaving. During the respite from pain, these people can do what they please with their face.

BUT WEEKS or months later, the paroxysms recur. Dozens of medical remedies including vitamin B12, Dilantin, Tegretol, and Nephenesin have been advocated. When these conservative measures fail, surgery is recommended.

Before this is done, the surgeon may inject alcohol into the affected nerve. He does this so the victim can determine whether he prefers a numb face to an active face with pain. If he decides he can live with the numbness, the nerve is severed. This brings relief, but numbness of the face and tongue follows. An alternate method is to remove the covering of the trigeminal's nerve center and massage the tissues. This is less likely to produce numbness.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered my mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

CHANGE IN WATER

H.A.B. writes: Whenever I go on a trip and drink the local water, I develop diarrhea. Would you know why this happens?

REPLY

This occurs occasionally and is blamed on drinking or eating fluids or foods containing different chemicals. However, other factors worth considering are excitement, anxiety, or fatigue. Our leaflet on diarrhea can be obtained by sending stamped, self-addressed envelope with request.

RODENT ULCER

A reader writes: What is a rodent ulcer?

REPLY

A slow-growing but relentless, malignant lesion, usually on the face. Mice or rats have nothing to do with it, but the gnawed appearance of its edges is suggestive of nibbling by rodents.

GALLSTONE TERMS

P.B. writes: What is the medical term for gallstones?

REPLY

Biliary calculi, cholelithiasis, or cholecystolithiasis. How does that grab you? Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on gallstones.

John Heiskell, Paper Editor, Succumbs At 100

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — John Netherland Heiskell, who as editor of the Arkansas Gazette for the past 70 years helped the newspaper win two Pulitzer Prizes during the Little Rock integration crisis, died Thursday at the age of 100.

Heiskell and the Gazette, itself the oldest newspaper west of the Mississippi River, gained national recognition with the coverage and editorial policy established during the 1957 integration crsis.

The paper took the stand that the federal court order that central high school be integrated must be obeyed, but many residents of the state took the opposite viewpoint.

The Gazette lost millions of dollars in potential advertising income but ended up winning two Pulitzer prizes—one for public service and another for its editorials.

Judge Rules Out An Appointment

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) —Superior Court Judge Edmund Burke ruled Thursday that the Democratic State Central Committee did not have the power to select the party's candidate for Alaska's lone congressional seat left vacant with the disappearance of Rep. Nick Begich.

Burke's decision may force the party to hold a state convention to name its candidate, but Democratic State Chairman Emil Notti said the ruling would be appealed to the state Supreme Court.

Begich and House Majority Leader Hale Boggs, D-La., have been missing since Oct. 16 when their small plane disappeared between Anchorage and Juneau.

Farr Begins His 31st Day In Jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Reporter William Farr spent his 31st day in jail today, the longest incarceration of any American newsman for refusal to disclose news sources.

The previous record for confinement was held by Vi Murphy who was jailed for 30 days in 1961 for refusing to reveal the source of a story about corruption in the Colorado state government.

Novato Council Will Consider Rezone Request

The Novato City Council will consider rezoning seven acres on Hill Road, owned by Jack Kinney, when it meets at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Novato Community House.

The Novato Planning Commission has recommended rezoning a portion of the property from limited agriculture to lots of 10,000 square feet, 20,000 square feet and one acre.

Kinney has in the past proposed townhouse and apartment development and once a convalescent hospital. The proposed present development would be a much lower density. The planning commission's recommendation was based on the proposed general plan.

The council will also consider awarding a contract for a leaf sweeper, acquiring some of the Heifetz property in Scottsdale, the heritage tree ordinance, landscaping on Highway 101 and will receive the fiscal report as of Nov. 30

Highway Plan Flayed By Bolinas Residents

The Bolinas Property Owners Association has opposed state Division of Highways plans to widen and straighten portions of Shoreline Highway between Tamalpais Valley and Bolinas Junction north of Stinson Beach.

The proposal, which has drawn fire from many West Marin residents, calls for widening and straightening about 12.8 miles of the road in two parts at a cost of about $5.3 million.

The first project, $3.5 million, would improve nine miles between Northern Avenue in Tamalpais Valley and Stinson Beach, to be completed over a 10-year period. A second project would widen and raise 3.8 miles of roadway adjacent to the Bolinas Lagoon and require approximately 15 acres of fill as far as 35 feet into the lagoon's main channel.

The highway division contends the improvements are necessary to make the winding highway safer.

In a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors, Peter A. Evans, president of the property owners group, suggested the division could take "more imaginative steps" than those proposed.

Evans advised that the division should restore immediately centerline night indicators on the road, provide double yellow line markers where passing is unsafe and additional paved turnouts for slower traffic to pull out of the way of faster cars. He also recommended that signs instructing slower drivers to use the turnouts be installed.

Evans recommended, too, that the division provide "large, dramatic" "caution" and "slow" speed signs at the beginning of all sharp curves, along with passing lanes in several straight sections of the road.

In addition, the president said California Highway Patrol surveillance should be provided in locations selected at random to "enforce safe speeds and respect for the center line."

He told supervisors that a recent survey of Bolinas property owners had shown that 65 per cent were opposed to the highway division's projects.

Those who disapproved said the improvements now planned would:

1. Create more congestion in the Bolinas-Stinson Beach area by making the two West Marin towns more accessible to traffic.

2. Encourage higher speeds and more accidents on Shoreline.

3. Not take into consideration the ecology of the area and the fill planned might damage the lagoon.

The property owners asked the board of supervisors to give careful consideration to their objections because "as residents and property owners who use this road frequently, we are affected more strongly than any visitors."

The supervisors are scheduled to consider the highway division plan next month.

Eight Say Ouster Not Over Union

Eight firemen in the Alto-Richardson Bay Fire District have signed a statement disputing a probationary fireman's claim that he was dismissed from the department last week for union activity.

The eight — two-thirds of the 12-man firefighting force — said that Ray Giacomino, 28, did not lose his job because he was trying to gain collective bargaining rights for other Alto firemen.

Giacomino, who had been employed for seven months as a probationary fireman, charged last week that he was dismissed after a letter arrived from local 400 of the city and county employees union in San Francisco asking to meet with district board members to discuss the possibility of unionizing the department.

Giacomino claimed it was the letter that prompted his firing.

"We all know this is not true," the statement said. "It was the individual's (Giacomino's) lack of performance, poor attitude on the job. . .(and) inability to pass the required probationary tests" that led to his dismissal.

"We stand behind the commissioners' right to dismiss a probationary fireman if he does not live up to the standards set for all probationary personnel," the firemen said.

The eight also said most of the firemen have come to the conclusion they do not need a union. "We have decided we can do better without the union by working with the fire district to resolve any problems we might have," the men wrote.

Union officials could not be reached for comment on the remarks.

Those who signed the statement were Fire Capt. Michael Thompson, acting Lt. Harold E. Wilson, Frederick A. Lepage, Dennis C. Ahlf, Timothy Ecke, Guy E. Torrey, Michael T. Kildow and Jeffrey K. Newman.

Chief Carl O. Heynen Jr. said he did not sign the letter because he did not think it would "be appropriate" and another fireman could not be reached.

Two firemen, James Stephenson and Fred L. Foss, declined to sign. Foss said today he did not sign, not because he was pro-union, but because he did not wish to become involved in the controversy.

Nothing Taken

A thief who smashed the front door of Gem Auto Sales, 1530 Fourth Street, San Rafael, on Monday or Tuesday apparently left empty handed, police reported yesterday.

Case Sent To Superior Court

Ordered to appear Wednesday by Judge Peter Allen Smith was Steven Douglas Drown.

Drown was arrested on a warrant Dec. 7. Novato police sought the warrant in connection with the burglary at the Marin Country Club Golf shop Nov. 25 after investigating Drown's claims.

Police responding to the shop's alarm had found Drown there, but did not arrest him after he said he found the door ajar. Novato police said a test with the alarm disproved the story.

Marin Airman Is Viet Prisoner

A Rohnert Park man has been listed as a prisoner of war in North Vietnam, according to the Department of Defense.

Air Force First Lt. Paul L. Granger was reportedly aboard an airplane downed over North Vietnam last Friday. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clement R. Granger, 441 Arlen Drive.

Initially the Department of Defense listed Granger simply as a casualty and did not indicate if he was injured.

Big Marijuana Raid Staged In Sacramento

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Authorities seized an estimated $300,000 worth of marijuana in a drug raid Thursday night and arrested eight persons suspected of being wholesale pot dealers.

State narcotics agents and local police combined to make what was described as the largest marijuana haul ever in the Sacramento County area.

A spokesman for the State Narcotics Bureau said Robert Wells, 29, and Neil Martin, 26, both of San Diego, were arrested at a parking lot when they sold some marijuana to an undercover agent.

Richard Valdivia, 27, and his wife, Linda, 24, were arrested in their Sacramento residence. Also arrested were Manuel Valdivia, 29, Sacramento, Allen Aloyian, 26, Montebello, Ivan Collier, 49, Santa Ana, and Resugio Salazar, 35, Santa Ana.

Pot Is Seized In Santa Cruz

SANTA CRUZ (UPI) —A total of 350 pounds of marijuana shipped from Honolulu has been confiscated by authorities.

Santa Cruz County sheriff's deputies, Honolulu police and federal narcotics agents arrested Ray Stout, 23, at a home after he retrieved one of two packages containing the marijuana at an air freight station in Mountain View Thursday.

Authorities said the second package was not claimed and was also confiscated. The total worth was estimated at more than $50,000.

Officers said Stout mailed one package from Honolulu Tuesday and a short time later an unidentified woman shipped the other.

Safety Move

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Greyhound Lines-West announced Thursday that its Peninsula drivers would not carry change starting Monday as security against holdups.

Company officials said many municipal and private bus lines have adopted an exact-fare system for the same reason.

Fairfax Planners Split On House Variance Vote

The Fairfax Planning Commission last night approved a variance application for a house already under construction at 100 Tamalpais Avenue amid concerns by a city councilman that the lot was "unbuildable."

"I didn't think it should be there," Councilman Frank J. Egger declared today, saying that a previous house built on the parcel had slid onto the street.

Construction of the house, which is now almost completed, required a variance because of a 10-foot setback, Egger said.

Ernestine Healy, commission secretary, said construction of the house was approved on a 3-2-1 vote, with commission chairman Hugh O. Winn abstaining. Voting for construction were commissioners John J. Hourihan, Harold S. Lezzeni and Charles Eckles, she said, adding commissioners Johannes Zeevat and Gloria Duncan opposed the measure.

The Fairfax Planning Commission also:

LOT SPLIT — Approved a lot split of a parcel on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard between Oak Manor Shopping center and Christ the Victor Church as requested by owner William Poeshl.

BOLINAS ROAD — Put over to Jan. 25 consideration of an application for two duplexes at Bolinas and Porteous avenues. Councilman Egger is appealing the application by Ken Solvason.

TREE COMMITTEE — Appointed commissioners Winn, Duncan and Eckles to a committee charged with studying a policy regulating the cutting of trees on private property.

ZONING ORDINANCE — Said commissioners will study the zoning ordinance at a special meeting at 8 p.m. Jan. 10 in the Fairfax Women's Club.

CREEKS — Appointed commissioner Duncan to participate on a city council committee charged with inspecting city creeks to seek solutions for drainage problems.

GENTRY — Approved a subdivision map changes as proposed by the Gentry Development Co. for six lots off Alamitos Way.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Jan. 10, with tne next regular meeting set for 8 p.m. Jan. 25, in the Fairfax Women's Club.

Rembrandt Stolen; Valued At $75,000

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) —Thieves cut a hole in the roof of an art gallery during the Christmas weekend and stole a Rembrandt painting titled "St. Philip Baptizing the Eunuch" with an insured value of $750,000, police disclosed Thursday.

Authorities said they withheld information about the theft hoping to facilitate payment of a possible ransom but no demand was made.

Suspect In Pot Sale Arrested

Paul Edward Kissinger, 32, of no known address, was booked into Marin County Jail today on suspicion of possessing marijuana for sale after he was arrested on a warrant in Sausalito.

An officer on patrol on Bridgeway about 2:25 a.m. saw Kissinger and recognized him as a man sought on a $150 Marin Municipal Court warrant for disturbing the peace.

When Kissinger stated he was unable to post bail, police arrested him. During a routine search, officers found bags of suspected marijuana under his belt, in his pocket and his boots. Approximately seven ounces were found in his possession, police said.

Bail had not yet been set for Kissinger, who was to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Airline Tries A New Entertainment Idea

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — While some airlines serve champagne, show movies or offer a piano in the lounge, Pacific Southwest Airlines now presents cartoon characters to keep passengers happy.

PSA officials said Thursday they have begun using a troupe of actors and actresses in costumes of such cartoon characters as Bugs Bunny and Daffy Duck to entertain passengers on flights.

The promotional stunt is the idea of Bob Claus of San Jose, who said he noticed that "90 per cent of the people in an airport aren't smiling."

So far, PSA is the only airline to use Claus and his 30-member staff. But Claus said his characters are for hire by any other airline.

Claus said all characters are from Warner Bros. films from which he contracted for their use. Mel Blanc, who does the cartoon movie voices, has recorded cassette tapes which the costumed characters play as they walk down aisles of PSA planes.

"You can't just put someone in a suit and let him ad lib," Claus said. "They have to learn how to walk and handle themselves. We have rehearsals and scripts to follow."

He said the performances have made children more relaxed about flying. "They're quieter and more relaxed now on the plane when they see us handing out mints and talking to them and shaking hands," he said.

Two Arrested In Burglary Of Sports Shop

Two San Rafael youths were arrested in Santa Venetia today on suspicion of burglarizing a San Rafael sports shop after police found an outboard motor in the trunk of a car used by the pair.

William Edward Petro, 18, of 16 Pilgrim Way, was booked into Marin County Jail and held to appear today in Marin Municipal Court. Petro's 17-year-old companion, whose identity was withheld on a standing order of Superior Court Judge Joseph G. Wilson, was taken to juvenile hall.

San Rafael police said a witness supplied officers with the license number of a car traced to Petro after burglars smashed the window of the Western Sport Shop, 902 Third Street, and hauled away an outboard motor at about 2:30 a.m. today.

Picking Winners In College Soccer

Bog Braghetta of Ross is excellent at picking winners when it comes to soccer. Braghetta is the man responsible for bringing the St. Louis University soccer team to San Rafael last September in a match with University of San Francisco, which St. Louis won, 1-0.

St. Louis is in the finals of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) tournament in Miami's Orange Bowl and the team's foe tonight will be UCLA's Bruins, champion soccer team from the west.

That makes Braghetta smile because he has already obtained confirmation from UCLA: the Bruins' soccer team will schedule a game against USF on San Rafael High School's field next year. Although date has not been set, Braghetta said it would be either late September or early October.

To reach the finals, St. Louis edged Howard U. of Washington, D.C., 2-1 in overtime, and UCLA shaded Cornell, 1-0. So in successive years, Braghetta, chief organizer of the Marin Youth Soccer Association, has landed this year's two best college soccer teams for San Rafael matches. That's not bad picking.

ROY BOTH OF SAN RAFAEL, veteran high school and college umpire, is leaving tonight for a week-long series of baseball umpiring clinics in the Philippines. It's part of a Navy Special Services project that will take Roth to Subic Naval Station in Subic Bay. Roth, who has umpired baseball in the Bay Area for 11 years, is chairman of the rules committee of the Northern California Umpires Association.

FOR ALL YOU DRAKE High School basketball fans who can't make it to the Pirates' game tomorrow night at Petaluma High School, you can watch an instant replay of the entire game Sunday at 7 p.m. on Santa Rosa's Channel 50.

TIM NISSEN of San Rafael, 6-foot-3, 218-pound offensive tackle, made quite a nae for himself at Claremont Men's College in Southern California. He was named team captain, outstanding lineman and was also chosen second team All-Southern California Independent Athletic Conference. Said coach John Zinda about Nissen: "Tim has made a great contribution to our program. He was a leader both on and off the field." A 1968 graduate of Terra Linda High School, Tim was an All-Marin County Athletic League defensive tackle for the Trojans.

FINAL STATISTICS in Stanford football show that former Drake prep Don Alvarado was sixth in number of receptions, 16, but fourth in receiving yardage, 276 for a 17.3-yard per catch average, second highest on the team. Alvarado, ending his collegiate football playing, also scored two touchdowns for the Cardinals.

JIM NELSON of San Rafael was one of seven members of the Southern Colorado State College football team to compile a grade-point average of better than 3.0 (on a 4.0 scale) for the school's fall quarter. Like they say, those quarterbacks need brains.

EVERYBODY HAS his own way of celebrating the New Year, but the Olympic Club must have the most sobering one. Club members will take part in the 80th annual Hike and Dip Monday morning, a brisk three-mile hike along San Francisco's Ocean Beach followed by a plunge into the chilling Pacific surf. It all begins at 9 a.m. at Lincoln Way and the Great Highway.

I'll have my own Hike and Dip on New Year's Day. I'll hike from my bedroom to the living room and dip into a soft chair in front of a television set and watch some football.

Happy New Year.

ACTION ABOUNDS — The massive 200 by 150-foot gym inside San Quentin prison offers inmates a variety of sporting activities. The gym, considered the largest in the California prison system, accommodates boxing, basketball, weightlifitng and other athletics. Inmates say the gym equipment in general, and the boxing material in particular, is excellent. (Independnet-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

GYMNASIUM FOR INMATES

Athletic Training Is Part Of Life At San Quentin

By RON LENT

Baseball . . . softball . . . tennis . . . football . . . soccer . . . handball . . . weightlifting . . . volleyball . . . wrestling . . . boxing . . . basketball . . . and it g-o-e-s on and on.

Thus, it is not surprising that the San Quentin Prison sports theme is: "We've got something here for everybody."

About 40 per cent of the 1,793 inmates participate in the institution's athletic endeavors financed by the state.

The intramural sports schedule features: March-May — baseball, softball, tennis; June-August — football, soccer; September-October — handball, weightlifting, volleyball; November-January — boxing, basketball, wrestling; February — no sports, inventory.

This arrangement is heartily endorsed by participants. Inmates Al (Sugar) Conley and Pete Thompson are vociferous sports advocates. Conley, a former lightweight contender in the 1950s, handles the year-round boxing program and enjoys it.

Conley matches up the fighters according to skills and weight. "I don't want any of the guys to get hurt, so I'm careful. We have novice, junior and senior levels. Once in a while I might match a junior with a senior. I would do this with a promising junior in order to give him experience."

T. L. Baker, prison sports director, endorses Conley's efforts and adds: "Boxing helps keep the roof on the institution . . . guys work off their hostilities and it helps."

Conley, 34, says he has been running the boxing program "nearly five years" and shows no desire to give it up now. "I've been fighting since I was seven."

Like Conley, Thompson enjoys his work. "I just started coaching this season (Dec. 1)." Thompson, 32, oversees the basketball program from November through January. This sport is run like other prison athletics. "We have four intramural teams, and from this group, I pick the guys for the varsity team. The varsity plays (primarily) against junior colleges from around the Bay Area."

At this point, Baker interjected: "but all our games are played at home. Our players don't have any road games." Although San Quentin teams have little use for road uniforms, they manage to accumulate enthusiastic support from fellow inmates and the state government.

Inmates fill the stands in the 200-foot by 150-foot gym, considered the largest prison gym in California, according to Baker.

"They have great enthusiasm

Allen Surprised By Cowboys' Pick

WASHINGTON (AP) — "If you do the right things on defense, anybody can be playing quarterback and it won't much matter," Washington coach George Allen said.

Allen said Thursday he believed his Redskins would be facing Craig Morton Sunday in the game to decide the National Football Conference's entry into Super Bowl VII — but he figured wrong.

A few hours after the Redskins finished their closed workout, the Dallas Cowboys announced they would go with quarterback Roger Staubach in the game at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium.

The fact that Staubach, more of a threat to run, would start in place of Morton, prone to stay in the pocket, didn't concern the Redskins' coach.

"We are not preparing differently for either of them," Allen said.

Allen, who sprung a five-man front line on Green Bay to negate the Packer's running game, also said he didn't expect any surprises from the Dallas defense.

"We've played them twice this year and we pretty much know what they've got," he said. "It's just a matter of dealing with it."

Washington defensive tackle Bill Brundige didn't share his coach's lack of concern over Staubach's selection.

"I'd rather be facing Morton, Brundige said. "Staubach's more of a scrambler and I just don't like to run too much. We have to play more spread out to try and contain him. And we really can't use that five-man line as effectively against him."

Morton, who took over Dallas' signal calling when Staubach suffered a preseason injury, directed the Cowboys to a 10-4 record, one game back of Washington in the East Division, and into the playoffs with the NFC's wildcard berth.

But it was Staubach who got Dallas past San Francisco.

Garner Triggers Tars' Win

I-J Special Report

BEND, Ore. — The surroundings were unfamiliar, but the script wasn't. Forward Wil Garner scored 27 points and hauled down 14 rebounds and College of Marin won another basketball game last night.

The Tars (11-1) defeated Big Bend Community College of Moses Lake, Wash., 81-74, in the opening night of the Central Oregon Community College Invitational tournament here, and will play the hosts for the championship tonight at 8:30.

Central Oregon beat Yuba College of Marysville, 102-90, in the other game.

"We experimented with a couple of different types of zone defenses," said Tar coach John Panagakis. Evidently they worked, since Big Bend was held to 3 per cent from the floor (31 of 94) while Marin shot 48 per cent (37 of 77).

Guard Joe DeMaestri scored 16 points, forward Joe Casteel 12 and center Dana La Ferriere 10 for the Tars. La Ferriere grabbed 10 rebounds and guard Len Smith snatched 9 as Marin outrebounded its rival, 54-47.

Tam, Redwood Grab Wins; San Rafael Cagers Beaten

Tamalpais High School sent out haunting notice to other Marin County Athletic League basketball squads last night, as the Indians drubbed Lincoln of San Francisco, 69-50, on the losers' court.

In other action involving teams from Marin, San Rafael was beaten by Armijo in Fairfield, 48-45; Terra Linda defeated its alumni, 62-56; and Redwood defeated St.Ignatius of San Francisco, 59-54.

Defending MCAL champion Tamalpais put together something last night coach Bernie Schneider hopes will last, as the injury riddled Indians won their fourth game in 12 outings. For the first time this season, they threw out their patient playing style, and discovered they had an offense. It was the highest point total Tam has rolled up this year, and only the second game it has scored over 50 points.

Schneider was very pleased with the play of Hollis Owens, who scored 20 points and grabbed an intimidating 24 rebounds.

Pete Neuwald scored 15 points and pulled down nine rebounds for San Rafael, as the

SHRINERS' GRID

West Rests Easily: Star Sweeney Plays

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The West can rest easy today. Steve Sweeney is alright.

Sweeney, the talented wide receiver from California, gave everyone in the West camp a big scare Friday when he complained of a pulled calf muscle.

At first, it was feared he would be unable to play in tomorrow's 48th Shrine EastWest game but the fears were unfounded. Sweeney, one of the finest receivers in Pacific 8 Conference history and a sure fire first round pick in next year's pro draft, saw his personal physician and then told West Coach Dee Andros he would be able to play.

"All I need is to have the calf well taped and I'll be ready to go," Sweeney said.

The big wide receiver is an important part of the West offense, which is expected to be geared around the passing game. Everyone, including pro scouts watching the two teams in workouts, claims the West will be unable to run on the East and its only hopes for victory are in a passing game.

"I don't buy that," said Andros. "We'll have a balanced attack but we'd be crazy not to pass with the talent we have on our team."

The talent includes such other fine receivers as Greg Specht of Oregon and Isaac Curtis of San Diego State plus tight end John Brady of Washington. The West quarterbacks are Ty Paine of Washington State and George Amundson of Iowa State.

The East has a lot of talent to play the passing game, too, with Gary Huff of Florida State and Mike Wells of Illinois at quarterback, wide receivers Barry Smith of Florida State and Jim Lash of Northwestern and tight ends James Thanxton of Tennessee State and Gary Hrivnak of Purdue.

The East, though, has an edge in running backs with Otis Armstrong of Purdue, Dick Jauron of Yale and Steve Jones of Duke. The West running backs are Nathaniel Jones of Houston and Terry Metcalf of Long Beach State.

Both squads will work out briefly today at Candlestick Park, site of Saturday's game, and then rest up for the 1 p.m. PST kickoff. The game will be televised nationally and game officials report some tickets are still available. The contest benefits the Shrine Crippled Children's Hospital in San Francisco.

EX-BOXER VALDEZ DEFENDS OLYMPICS

HOUSTON (UPI) — Jesse Valdez, Olympic bronze medalist boxer, said Thursday that the Olympic Games should be continued despite the politics involved in international competition.

Valdez, the former sergeant at Hamilton Air Force Base who hung up his gloves after capturing the medal in Munich this summer, received a trophy as the outstanding athlete in the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union.

"Although you've got politics, it's the Olympics that makes kids work harder," Valdez said.

He said he received substantial offers to turn pro after the Olympics, but said he was tired after 12 years in the ring.

"There are more politics in professional boxing than there is among amateurs," he said.

"My wife has been very patient with me and I made a vow that the Olympics would be it," he said. "I owe her that. I'll never put the gloves on again."

Mennucci has a 1928 Ford two-door sedan; Apostoli, a 1972 Hydroflight boat with a Chrysler engine; Silvestri, a 1973 Corvette coupe "funny car;" and Ellis, a 1967 Cobra roadster.

FISH AND GAME

A Busy Day For Fishing, Partying

By AL GIDDINGS

This is a day to talk about! Just before Christmas, Keith Fraser of Loch Lomond and I got together for a morning fishing trip. This just happened to be the same day that Bill Boyle was giving a little Christmas party at the bait shop there.

The party was to start at 1 p.m. Here was a rare setup. If Keith and I could just connect with a couple of big fish; then returning to the bait shop dock party with the crowd there would put us on top of the world. So off we started. I took a flyrod and Keith took his conventional rod. We arrived at our spot south of the Richmond Bridge about 10 a.m. We had three hours to go. At 11:05, I had a good hit, set the hook, and had a sturgeon on. At 12:25, we had the fish boated. Between 12:25 and 1:30 we boated three good stripers — two about 18 pounds and one about eight.

TO THE PARTY we went, arriving at the fish dock with things going in full progress. Naturally, we weighed and measured the sturgeon there; it was exactly six-feet long and weighed about 75 pounds. It was a slim fish, by standards; it should have hit the scales at about 90 pounds. The crowd was duly impressed.

At the party, we had smoked salmon, smoked sturgeon and some good Christmas drinks. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lauchenauer and Mrs. and Mrs. Sam Knoles were there, among others. This was an ideal time for me to approach these ladies for a little news for the column. I had called Locki (as we call him) several times this past week, but he was having some trouble with his throat, so all I got for answers were some croaking sounds. I asked Mrs. Locki about this. Her answer: "Oh, Bob has had the bourbon flu," created an uproar! So if you wondered about Bob's sickness, now you know what he had. It's a holiday season malady. Most fishermen catch it.

AFTER THAT, I talked to Mrs. Knoles for awhile, but she "doesn't know anything bad" about Sam. They've been married over 50 years, too. Boy! Has he got her trained or fooled?

About this time, Keith and I decided to go back to fishing. We headed back to our exact same spot. We had fished the morning incoming now it was the outgoing tide. Well, I caught another bass in jig time, so I had to shake up Keith a little by reminding him that I was now limited on both bass and sturgeon, and that now I was fishing for just founders. This is called, "using the needle." Eventually Keith got a second bass. It was the day's biggest, so we headed for home.

OH, ONE OTHER interesting thing happened on the bay. There was a couple fishing about 50 yards from us. I know they were both bugged, because we were catching fish and they weren't. (There's nothing worse than having this happen to a fisherman.) Finally, the girl got a bass on, which she landed after playing the fish in good style.

When the fish was netted and boated, the couple threw their arms around each other, and a great number of kisses were exchanged. It was a rare sight. Finally, Keith and I could stand it no longer, so we yelled over and asked her if she would like to come aboard our boat to fish for awhile. (After all, we were catching lots of fish!) They looked over, then quickly raised anchor and headed for Richmond. Keith and I howled.

NOW, WASN'T that a day? One sturgeon, five bass and being witnesses to a happy couple catching a much wanted fish. Keith thinks he will start the New Year by taking just girls fishing. (There's more to fishing than meets the eye.)

By Sunday, there were 30 boats anchored at our hot spot. Somebody talked!

A Sports Program For San Quentin

when watching boxing matches with some of the big names." "Names" such as heavyweight contender George Foreman and state champions Henry Clark, heavyweight, and Chuck Hamilton, light heavyweight, have boxed exhibitions at San Quentin in the Memorial Day card May 30.

Besides attracting a fine crowd of boxers and fans, the sports program has drawn financial support from the state. Baker adds: "We get $5,800 (yearly) in equipment" for football, basketball and gym uniforms, tennis shoes, boxing equipment, et al.

Both Thompson and Conley agree that the monetarial support has been gratifying.

"Some of the guys," Baker continues, "can see sports like boxing as a way out, so they work real hard at it."

Other inmates perform strictly for recreational purposes. The program, run by Baker and his assistant, Terry Plant, is low-keyed, functioning around inmates athletic needs. "We try to get as many of the men involved as possible. We also try to fit them into leadership roles through intramurals.

"We see them play in intramurals ... we watch to see who the leaders are and eventually they pick their own teams. From these teams, we get some real spirited play. And they're pretty good, too."

This spirit carries over from the intramurals to the varsity teams where competitiveness is intense. "A lot of guys don't make the (varsity) teams, but they can always go out for the team again."

Though the competition is keen, the athletes find it satisfying. "The population here is stable ... the guys know they're going to be staying around here for a while, so they're indulging in sports."

For facilities, the inmates use the gym plus two fields, one for football, the other for baseball and track.

With such a diversified program available on good facilities, it is no surprise that the San Quentin prison athletic participants believe there is "something here for everybody."

Basketball: Marin 'Cats Get Revenge

Host Marin Catholic High School avenged an earlier two-point loss to St. Patrick's of Vallejo last night by whipping the Bruins, 70-41, to move into the consolation championship at 4:30 p.m., today in the Marin Catholic Freshman Invitational Basketball Tournament.

The Wildcats' opponent will be Cardinal Newman of Santa Rosa, which broke open a close contest late in the game to smother San Rafael, 56-37. The Bulldogs played St. Patrick's today at 3 p.m. for seventh place.

Terra Linda lost in the semi-finals to Moreau of Hayward, 44-34, and will play San Francisco's Sacred Heart, loser to Bishop O'Dowd of Oakland, 36-32, at 6 p.m. for third place. Top seeded O'Dowd plays Moreau at 7:30 for the championship.

Local team high scorers included: Deke Welch, 13 for San Rafael; Greg Bullian, 17, and John Riccardi and Gary Johnson, 15 each for Marin Catholic; and Dan Wood, 12 for Terra Linda.

Seals Host Islanders Tonight

OAKLAND (UPI) —To a man standing on his head, the California Golden Seals and New York Islanders lead their respective divisions in the National Hockey League.

But to the upright set, the Seals and Islanders occupy the basements of both divisions. Tonight the teams meet at the Coliseum-Arena with the Seals seeking vengeance.

It might be strange for California to seek revenge against a team that has won only four games. However, two of those victories were over the Seals last month.

California has five victories and eight ties for 18 points while the Islanders have 12 points built on their four wins and four deadlocks.

The Seals have been playing steady hockey of late and have been getting some fine offensive rushes from their No. 1 line of Walt McKechnie, Craig Patrick and Joey Johnston. In addition, rookie defenseman Ted McAneeley has scored three goals in his last two games.

After tonight, the Seals are idle until Wednesday when they entertain the Vancouver Canucks.

Bulldogs' record dropped to 7-5. Scott Brown and Kevin Gallivan came up with five assists each for the visitors.

Terra Linda's Mark Lowey scored 16 points and Scott Logan 14 as the varsity defeated the alumni, which were led by Eric Borcherding's 15 points.

Redwood (7-6) piled up a 49-33 lead on St. Ignatius and coasted the rest of the way. Mike Connor led the Giants with 19 points and Darrell Elder contributed 14. Redwood shot 48 per cent (23 of 48).

The game was part of a two-night affair called the Bay Area High School Holiday Season Doubleheader, which will be expanded next year to an eight-team tournament. Connor was chosen most valuable player and Elder was named to the five-man all-tournament team.

Warner Award To USC's Rae

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

PALO ALTO — Mike Rae, unsung quarterback of No. 1 ranked Southern California, yesterday was named winner of the Glenn (Pop) Warner Memorial Award, given annually to the most valuable senior college football player on the West Coast.

Rae, a 6-1, 186-pound athlete from Lakewood, Calif., edged out two quarterbacks who were named ahead of him on the All-Coast team, Ty Paine of Washington State and Oregon's Dan Fouts, and receiver Steve Sweeney of California.

In guiding the Trojans to the Rose Bowl, Rae completed 96 of 174 passes for 1,525 yards and rushed for another 276 yards.

DAYTON, Ohio — University of Dayton football player Matt Dahlinghaus, who suffered a broken neck in a game this season and was paralyzed from the neck down, died here yesterday of complications resulting from the injury.

Dahlinghaus, 20, a junior from Dayton, suffered a broken neck in the Flyers' next-to-last game of the season at Bowling Green State University on Nov. 11.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. — A young construction worker says two Miami Dolphin football players beat him up and inflicted wounds requiring 15 stitches in a barroom melee last August and he wants $10,000 in damages.

Harold Schroeder, 22, said in a law suit filed in Circuit Court that linebacker Bob Matheson and defensive tackle Manny Fernandez did the damage while tackles Doug Crusan and Jim Riley and retired running back Terry Cole egged them on.

LOS ANGELES — The Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open, first Professional Golfers Association tour event of the new year, has drawn 56 of the top 60 money winners of 1972, including Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino.

The $135,000 opening 1973 event will be held at the Riviera Country Club Jan. 4-7.

Boxing

INGLEWOOD — Welterweight boxing champion Jose Napoles will defend his title for the 10th time Feb. 28 in a rematch against Ernie (Indian Red) Lopez of Los Angeles at the Forum.

Promoter Don Fraser said yesterday Napoles, 32, of Mexico City had agreed to terms for a second meeting with the 27-year-old Lopez, the No. 2 ranked challenger. In their first meeting Feb. 15, 1970, at the Forum, Napoles kayoed Lopez in the 15th round.

Napoles, who won the crown from Curtis Cokes in 1969, is 68-5-0. Lopez has a 46-7-1 record.

The Pacific Coast Changes Bowl Trend

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — The Pacific Coast, which used to be a doormat for the Big Ten, has reversed that trend and now has one of its own.

When University of Southern California and Ohio State meet in the Rose Bowl Monday, the national champion Trojans will be two-touchdown favorites to give the Pacific-8 its fourth straight win here and sixth in the past eight New Year's Day classics.

The Big Ten still has a big edge since the signing of an exclusive contract in 1946 to play the Pacific Coast in the Rose Bowl.

Since the 1947 game in which Illinois walloped UCLA 45-14, teams from the Midwest have won 17 of the 26 meetings. However, the West Coast has been the dominant conference in the 1960s and 1970s.

Jim Owens' Washington teams won in 1960 (44-8 over Wisconsin) and 1961 (17-7 over Minnesota) and the Big Ten has won only five times since.

The Pac-8's string of five in the last seven Rose Bowls started with UCLA's memorable upset of unbeaten national champion Michigan State (1412), a victory which more than a few Midwesterners painfully admit did more to burst the Big Ten's bubble than any game played previously.

The last Big Ten win was provided by Woody Hayes and Ohio State in 1969. The Buckeyes' national titlist team stopped O.J. Simpson and USC 27-16.

A Rose Bowl victory by USC in 1970 and wins by Stanford the past two years may have prodded the Big Ten to rescind its "no repeat" rule. It now reportedly is considering to remove its self-imposed ban on red shirting.

Although the 1973 game matches the No. 1 and No. 3 (Ohio State) teams with a combined record of 20-1, there is a groundswell to drop the Big Ten.

Tournament of Roses officials deny they have any intention of doing so, though, pointing out that they expect a record crowd of 106,000 Monday although the game is televised locally.

John McKay, USC's wisecracking coach, is looking to reverse a trend against the sometimes-irascible Hayes. Including the 1969 Rose Bowl, Hayes holds a 3-1 edge over McKay.

Hayes' 1960 Ohio State team beat McKay's USC squad 20-0 and in 1964 the Buckeyes prevailed 17-0 against the Trojans. McKay's only victory over Hayes came in 1963 by a score of 32-3.

Steelers Seek Status Of Bradshaw

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, who'll have their hands full taking on the unbeaten Miami Dolphins in the American Football Conference title game Sunday, find out today whether quarterback Terry Bradshaw will be available for duty.

Bradshaw and reserve tight end Larry Brown were hospitalized Thursday afternoon for treatment of a flu infection and the nature of the illness will be determined today.

Should Bradshaw have only a 24-hour infection, he could be available today when the Steelers take the practice field at 1:30 p.m. However, a more severe infection might force Terry Hanratty, the former Notre Dame star, into duty.

Reserve defensive tackle Ernie Holmes also was troubled with the flu Thursday but practiced and defensive end Dwight White, who turned in a standout performance against Oakland last Saturday, practiced for the first time this week despite two bad knees.

White said he should be close to 100 percent for the Sunday game against the Dolhpins, who set a National Football League record by winning all 14 regular season games and defeated Cleveland 20-14 in last Sunday's AFC semifinal game.

"We'll know Friday about Bradshaw," Steeler coach Chuck Noll said. "I really don't think it's that serious. We just want to make sure there's no complications."

The Dolphins arrive tonight and coach Don Shula will hold a 7 p.m. news conference. The Dolphins will workout Saturday at 2 p.m. at Three Rivers Stadium.

COACH OF YEAR

Hard Work Pays Off For Noll

NEW YORK (UPI)—Chuck Noll must have been wondering what he'd gotten himself into late in 1969 as he watched his Pittsburgh Steelers stumble to their 13th straight loss after an opening game victory.

But patience, hard work and dedication paid off for Noll and in just four years, he converted the Steelers from doormats to division champions and today finds himself as United Press International's American Football Conference Coach of the Year.

Noll was named on 20 ballots cast by the 39-member UPI panel of pro football writers, three from each AFC city, and nosed out former boss Don Shula of the Miami Dolphins by just four votes. Nick Skorich of Cleveland was third in the balloting, receiving the three remaining votes.

Noll, who was defensive coach under Shula at Baltimore in 1968 when the Colts obliterated opponents enroute to defensive records, replaced Bill Austin at Pittsburgh in 1969.

His first season was a disaster as the club opened with a victory against Detroit and then didn't win again until the second game of the following season.

Noll cleaned house, went with young players and molded his type of team—ball control offense and bone-jarring defense. The Steelers moved to 5-9 in 1970 and boosted that to 6-8 last season. Pittsburgh capped Noll's rebuilding program this year by winning 11 of 14 games and capturing the Central Division title, the Steelers' first divisional honor since they entered the league in 1933.

Pheasant Hunters Have Poor Season

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Pheasant hunters apparently had a poor season this year compared to last, the California Department of Fish and Game reported Wednesday.

Preliminary reports say hunters took 2,331 cock pheasants from 10 managed acres compared to 4,014 cocks during the 1971 season. The DFG said that weather was poor during the first two weeks of the 23-day season, which ended Dec. 10.

IN WARRIOR WIN

Thurmond Help From 3 Mates

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors today believe the adage "one hand washes the other."

Nate Thurmond got into foul trouble early but Rick Barry, Clyde Lee and George Johnson all pitched in and picked up the slack to enable the Warriors to down the Cleveland Cavaliers 118-105 Thursday night.

Thurmond saw only limited action after picking up his fifth foul in the second quarter. The 6-11 center scored only eight points while playing 20 minutes.

Lee and Johnson then alternated in the pivot for Thurmond. Lee, who also played forward, hit on seven of nine from the floor and finished with 16 points in 46 minutes. Johnson didn't score but played a strong defensive game.

However, the hero was Barry, who topped all scorers with 35 points. He tallied 30 of those in the second and third periods and pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds.

Barry could hardly miss, hitting 13 of 19 field goal attempts and 9 of 11 free throws. His shooting helped the Warriors connect on 53.3 per cent of their shots.

Golden State's hot shooting balanced 29 fouls whistled against them. Officials called 57 fouls.

The Cavaliers, behind guard Len Wilkens, closed to whitin 81-77 late in the third period. Then Barry triggered a 12-7 stretch drive with eight points for a 93-84 advantage entering the final period.

Wilkens' output carried him past Dick Barnett of the New York Knicks as the 15th all-time scorer in the National Basketball Association with 15,236 points. The game was halted and Wilkens was presented the basketball.

Kansas City-Omaha, boasting the National Basketball Association's top scorer in Nate Archibald, invade the Coliseum-Arena Saturday night.

PREP CAGE PROSPECTS

San Rafael Mystery Squad Is Developing

By LEW CODDINGTON

(Last in a series on Marin County Athletic League varsity basketball prospects.)

The mystery guest has already signed in — with a heavy hand.

San Rafael High School, which lost all five starters and the coach off last year's basketball team, still has enough talent to compile a 7-5 record and buoy the optimism of its new mentor.

"In some ways, these kids are growing up," said Bret Tovani, who took over when Mike Diaz decided to devote his full time to being athletic director. "I'm really pleased with the way we've been able to handle pressure."

The Bulldogs have the physical tools to go with the poised attitude they try to attain. San Rafael currently is starting a front line with two 6-foot-7 players — Byron Stewart, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, and Pete Neuwald, replacing the ailing Guy Perry, who has just returned from a bout with pneumonia.

Six-foot-three senior Dan Zitek gets the call at forward and is the best rebounder behind Stewart. In the backcourt are 6-1 junior Steve D'Ambra and 5-5 senior Kevin Gallivan, the smallest player in the Marin County Athletic League.

"We really have nine or 10 guys who can be counted on," said Tovani. "Eric Ellingson has played three positions for us (guard, forward and post). Scott Brown has made the adjustment from a high scorer and played a fine game last week in which he didn't score but got eight assists. There's Mike Ellingson, Eric's younger brother, and Greg Campbell as well. And when Perry returns to form, it'll be a bonus."

Like Diaz, Tovani believes in tight defense, but unlike his predecessor, he prefers man-on-man alignment. "My philosophy is that if you can play man-on-man, you can play any kind of defense," he said. "The kids are beginning to enjoy playing defense and to be as pleased when they do something well on defense as when they do it on offense."

San Rafael plays a disciplined game on offense, and Tovani has made a team slogan of "patience and poise." "We're not going to score 70 or 80 points a game — that's not our plan," he said. "Anytime we hold a team under 50, though, we'll win."

Tovani also places great stock in conditioning. "It's been characteristic of this team to play great fourth quarters," he said. "Twice we have held our opponents under 10 points in the period while getting more than 20 ourselves. I like to think it's conditioning.

"I told the team at the start of the year they would have to do three things to win — be in better shape than the opponent, play as a team, and want it more than anybody else."

Last year, San Rafael finished third in the MCAL at 9-5, numbering among its victories a history-making upset of Redwood, ending the Giants' 41-game league winning streak. The Bulldogs' overall mark was 15-13.

Golfer Botts Leads Pro-Am

MONTEREY, Calif. (UPI) — Rafe Botts rode the tricky winds of the Monterey Peninsula to a two-stroke lead entering today's third round in the $25,000 Laguna Seca-Delmonte Hyatt Pro-Am Invitational.

Botts, one of the few blacks on the pro tour, fired a four-under-par 67 at Laguna Seca Golf Ranch Thursday to go with his opening round 70 at Delmonte for a 36-hole total of 137.

The veteran touring pro from Los Angeles went two strokes up on Mike Reasor of San Diego who shot par 71 to go with a first-round 68.

Dick Lotz, Danville, Calif., the first-round leader, stumbled with a two-over-par 73 to fall into seven-way tie for third at 140.

Others at 140 were Californians Artie McNickle of Sacramento, Bob Eastwood of Lodi, Dick McClean of Carmel and touring pros Pete Brown of Los Angeles, Jim Wiechers of Napa and Forrest Fezler of San Jose. All had rounds of 68-72.

In fourth place with 70-71—141 was Rick Jetter of San Jose. Tied for fifth at 71-71—142 were John Jacobs of San Diego, Ray Leach of Novato, Calif., and Victor Regalado of San Ysidro, Calif.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Inmont Interesting As A Cyclical Issue

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I am 85 and own 900 shares of Inmont (NYSE), which I have held for a long time. Can you advise me whether to hold or sell? — O.S.

A. Reflecting the improved year-to-year earnings comparisons of the past seven quarters, shares have recovered from their earlier low levels. This uphill climb in both profits and share price should continue in line with the current economic recovery. Because Inmont serves a broad spectrum of industries including transportation equipment, packaging, printing, construction, textile and shoe manufacturing, its fortunes are closely tied to economic trends. A pickup in sales to all of the above industries except textiles was apparent in the first nine months, although recently orders from this segment began to increase.

Particularly notable has been the widening profit margins on the higher level of sales. For the September quarter, 2.1 per cent of sales were taken down to earnings versus only 1.5 per cent in the year earlier period. Given a return to earlier price earnings multiples, contingent of course on continued profit recovery, Inmont should be an above-average performer in coming months.

Q. My mother, a citizen of Belgium, recently purchased shares of American Home Products. Will she have to file a U.S. income tax or pay other U.S. taxes? — A.F.

A. Foreign investors who are not "engaged in trade or business" in the U.S. — Class I investors — are generally taxed at a 30 per cent rate on income from investments. However, certain nations have negotiated tax treaties. Belgium, being one of the latter, enjoys a 15 per cent rate. No U.S. income tax return need be filed by your mother, since the tax is deducted at the source.

In order to qualify as a Class I investor she must not perform personal services, sell merchandise in the U.S. or benefit from a trust which is "engaged in trade or business" in this country. Class I foreign investors are not taxed on capital gains unless more than 183 days annually are spent in the U.S.

SPLASH OF COLOR — Heavy-duty trucks are getting as colorful as new cars and smaller trucks these days, as evidenced by this brightly decorated new International heavy construction unit.

Truck Business Outlook Is Bright As New Paint

By CHARLES E. DOLE
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

ANTIOCH — Heavy-duty trucks are getting more arty by the year.

"No longer is color confined to the small truck," says William E. Callahan, executive vice-president of the International Harvester Company.

Even the big trucks are going the color route now. Owner-operators of single trucks specially are opting for color striping more than the fleet buyer.

It's all part of a booming market in big-truck sales, not just the pickups, and the outlook is as bright as the paint on the truck cabs. The heavy and extra-heavy vehicles, in short, are sailing not only along the highways but up the sales charts as well.

Looking ahead, the truckmakers see more and more good news.

It is in this mood of booming sales and brighter-than-ever prospects for the future that truck manufacturers in the United States focus on their new wares for 1973.

Even though the makers of the really big rigs don't tie their new-model announcements to any particular model year the way the car manufacturers and pick-up truckmakers do, many manufacturers are touting big changes in their heavies. Chevrolet, Ford, GMC, Diamond Reo, Dodge, and International all have come up with significant news for the truck industry.

International, for example, has come out with a brand-new supertruck, the 5000 Series Paystar, designed for the heavyweight jobs in the construction industry.

When the company launched its new super-heavy line it predicted major gains in its share of the market, particularly in the construction area.

It makes no secret of its aim to achieve the No. 1 spot in construction trucking, now held by Mack.

The new 5000 Series Paystar comes in five models and is rated for up to 85,000 pounds gross vehicle weight. Only diesel power is available.

"We spent a long time designing and engineering this truck," says Robert L. McCaffrey, truck division marketing manager, "testing every step of the way." The new truck line, he adds, "has the kind of versatility that the industry wants."

International has been No. 1 in heavy-duty trucks for at least the last 10 years with about 30 per cent of line-haul sales — trucks of 26,000 gross vehicle weight and over. "But we have not been as strong on the construction side as we have been on the highway side of the market," explains Callahan.

The construction-equipment industry is enormous and contracts are said to total $45 to $50 billion a year. In the 1970 census, some 1,444,000 trucks reportedly were being used in the construction industry, plus 420,000 by governmental agencies and material producers — about 10 per cent of all trucks on the road at that time.

The construction-equipment industry itself is growing at a compounded rate of about 10 per cent a year. No heavy-truck manufacturer is about to ignore figures such as these.

What's behind this growth in highway trucks? According to Callahan:

A good and rising economy.

Increase in the intercity movement of freight by truck.

Brighter prospects for a Teamsters Union trucker contract next year without a strike.

"The freight movement is moving up in line with the rest of the economy," declares Callahan.

"Too, trucks have been getting an increasing share of the dollar volume of the intercity transportation of goods and supplies to the disadvantage of the railroads." He points to continued suburbanization of the population and the location of more and more plants away from railroad sites.

This growth of the truck industry ought to continue, he goes on, "even if not quite at the same velocity as in 1972."

Peering down the pike, the International executive sees some major challenges shaping up for the heavy-truck industry, especially in the areas of emissions, noise, and braking.

There are more than 100 regulations proposed or on the books in the heavy-truck area alone. Not only are trucks facing about the same kind of controls on safety and emissions as cars, but the curbs on noise pollution are getting tougher and tougher.

Trucks now are required to meet an 88-decibel level in some communities and states but there is not yet a federal anti-noise standard. California has an 86-decibel law for 1973.

"The 1973 law is not the one concerning us," declares Donald E. Peterson, Ford vice-president for truck operations. "It's the 1975 California law which requires an 83-decibel level. This sounds like a 5 per cent drop, but is, in fact, a 44 per cent reduction in noise energy. The U.S. law is likely to follow the California one. That's when the going gets rough."

Tougher, and indeed necessary, federal braking standards are due Sept. 1, 1974, both for air-brake equipped vehicles as well as those with hydraulic brakes. The standards had been intended to take effect next year but were postponed.

As for alternate power plants in the big trucks, the turbine will have a major impact over the next 10 years. It will be produced in some volume by 1975 and will be a major force in long-distance operations by 1980.

Keith Mazurek, president of International Harvester's truck division, says "we're ready to go with the turbine at the proper time." The company had built several turbine engines earlier but the technology already has passed them by. It now is using Ford and General Motors turbines in test vehicles on the road.

Meanwhile, business is tremendous.

Prices Take Big Jump On Market

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices boomed higher in typical year-end fashion today on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was heavy.

Analysts said there was little news in the background to spark the buying. Many corporate executives have issued reports this week predicting a booming economy in 1973, which may have caused some optimism.

Others noted traditionally the market rises in the last two sessions of the year. They said the market had only two previous trading sessions this week, and some investors may have found issues at good prices.

American Telephone & Telegraph warrants were most actively traded and up ⅛ to 9 on volume of 208,600, including a block of 110,000 at 9.

Prices were slightly higher in heavy trading on the American Stock Exchange. Champion Home Builders was the most active Amex issue, up ⅜ at 13 ⅛ on 65,000 shares.

Many electronics, computers and glamors paced the Big Board rise. Texas Instruments gained 3 ⅝, IBM 3, Burroughs 2 ⅛ and General Electric, Westinghouse, Motorola and Honeywell around a point. Westinghouse received low praise from Carolina Power & Light for a gas turbine.

Corning Glass advanced 3 ¾, and Polaroid, Walt Disney, Ara Services, Johnson & Johnson and Black & Decker around a point. Wrigley and Schlumberger were point-sized losers.

Chemicals generally headed higher, paced by Dupont, up 2 ¾.
